FAIR TO REOPEN ON JUNE 1 WITH NEW FEATURES

Shows and Exhibits to Be Increased.

BY EARL MULLIN.

A Century of Progress Exposition will be reopened in 1934, following the same general outline as the current Fair, but with more exhibitors and concessionaires and with a revamped lighting and decorative scheme. Announcement of the reopening was made yesterday by President Rufus C. Dawes, speaking on behalf of the executive committee.

The definite announcement, subject only to the passage of the necessary legislation which has been assured by political leaders, came as the climax of a month of demands by business, industrial and political leaders. Among those requesting the reopening of the Fair were President Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith, Mayor Kelly, Gov. Horner, and scores of prominent Chicagoans, representing almost every type of industry.

Takes Request to Note Holders.

The official statement, giving the first definite indication that the Fair would reopen follows:

"When the mayor of Chicago, recounting the great benefits achieved by the Exposition this summer, demanded that its gates should be opened again in 1934, the managers of this association consulted the men whose liberality and public spirit had made possible the success of A Century of Progress Exposition—namely, the buyers of its gold notes.

"Having done so, we now announce that, subject to the passage of the necessary legislation, we shall continue the Exposition next summer from the first of June. We shall not seek an appropriation from the general assembly, but merely the passage of a law authorizing the south park commission to enter into a contract with us for the use of the Exposition grounds next summer, and from the south park commission an ordinance fixing the conditions of such occupancy.

Aim to Aid National Recovery.

"The encouragement offered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in this effort gives us the satisfaction of believing that we are acting in harmony with his plans for national recovery.

"We have received thousands of letters from all parts of the United States requesting us to make this announcement, resolutions from hundreds of civic bodies in Chicago supporting the demand for the reopening and pledging support, substantial offers of immediate financial support from those who may expect for themselves financial benefit, and promises upon which we are relying for additional aid of this kind.

"Confident of our ability to maintain the high character of this Exposition, and in many important respects to add to its attractive features, we shall undertake the task. Our success depends upon the support of the people of Chicago."

Approved by Executive Board.

Besides Mr. Dawes, the following members of the World's Fair association executive committee voted the resolution: Britton I. Budd, D. H. Burnham, Francis X. Busch, Abel Davis, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Amos C. Miller, F. R. Moulton, Charles S. Peterson, Dr. William Allen Pusey, and George Woodruff.

The action of the executive board followed action of the more than 300 members of the World's Fair association last week in authorizing reopening of the Fair in 1934 if adequate support were assured. That action was taken after numerous civic bodies had voted resolutions of confidence and expressed demands that the Fair be reopened next summer.

Probably the most influential and most encouraging request came from President Roosevelt, who assured the management that if the Fair were reopened in 1934 he would urge congress to make an appropriation for the maintenance of the Federal building and exhibits.

80 Per Cent of Exhibitors Buy Space.

"I have checked with the important exhibitors and concessionaires," Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, said, "and the majority will be back. Speaking roughly, 90 per cent have indicated their desire to participate next summer, and 80 per cent have definitely said they will be represented. Of that number more than 25 per cent have asked for additional space.

"Aside from the great benefit the various exhibitors derived from the participation this year, they were also influenced by the economy of participating next year. Exhibitors can par-

Kentucky 37th State to Vote Repeal.

Late Vote of 6 States

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Returns from Tuesday's repeal elections tonight showed:

Utah	729	798	101,103	63,248

Chicago set out to give prohibition a quick though informal burial yesterday, a full four weeks before the 18th amendment is legally repealed. Highballs, whisky sours and other drinks of the pre-Volstead period flowed openly over bars here and there in the city without interference of federal agents or police, and without disorder.

While national prohibition remains legally in force until the 36th state convention acts for repeal, impatient bartenders and their customers here were unperturbed by legal technicalities. Liquor was available at less than the older speakeasy prices and consumers' demand was not denied.

Dec. 5 Official End of Dry Era.

Prohibition's funeral was definitely set for Dec. 5 when returns came in yesterday from Kentucky, the 37th state to vote for repeal. With Kentucky's convention set for Nov. 27, followed by those of Pennsylvania, Utah, and Ohio on Dec. 5, that day will mark the formal obsequies. Had Kentucky voted dry, the knell of prohibition would have been delayed for one day, until Dec. 6, when the Maine convention meets. Advices from Washington were that when the 36th state convention acts the dry era will end automatically, not waiting for the final formality of the proclamation by the secretary of state.

Final distinctions over the formal burial date attracted no attention in Chicago, however. To the liquor drinking public prohibition was dead, and the occasion demanded free and open drinking. Tavern keepers, who had been sneaking gin and whisky drinks from under counters since beer came back, banged pints of whisky on their bars.

Medicinal Liquor Supply.

There was no mystery over the source of supply. While the liquor stores of the big distilleries were supposed to be held under rigid bond until Dec. 5, the removal of restrictions on medicinal liquors months ago had opened easy flowing channels. Liquor salesmen had been working out of pharmacies, and, while first confining their solicitation to steady patrons, had lately got to calling on the tavern trade.

For the customer it was necessary merely to pay down for a bottle or a case, then sign receipts on the required number of doctors' prescriptions to cover the order. There was no authority to stop it. The police had been rendered powerless by the Illinois repeal convention banishing all state and local liquor laws, while the federal prohibition force was decimated months ago.

At prohibition headquarters yesterday the acting chief, William N. Woodruff, said enforcement would continue right up to the end. United States Attorney Dwight H. Green declared, however, that henceforth until the day of legal repeal no minor violations would be prosecuted. In recent weeks, due apparently to the temper of juries being drawn, the government has dropped prosecution under the Volstead act entirely, relying on the liquor excise act of 1866 to make cases against commercial violators.

Liquor Control Board to Meet.

With practically uncontrolled liquor traffic thus having become an accomplished fact, the pressure for haste toward state liquor legislation became greater. A special session of the state commission considering plans for Illinois liquor control was called yesterday for next Friday in the county building by its chairman, State Senator Harold C. Ward. The purpose of the hearing, it appeared, will be to give Mayor Kelly an opportunity to explain his plan for liquor regulation in Chicago.

The mayor on Sunday announced that he favored a plan calculated to prevent return of the saloon and requiring dispensers of beer, wines, and liquors to procure a single, uniform license.

Several members of the committee

THE OUTLOOK FOR SOME OF THE UNEMPLOYED IS MORE HOPEFUL

4 Million on Relief Rolls to Get Jobs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today announced the immediate expenditure of 400 million dollars of public works money in a new program designed to create jobs this winter for family men now on the relief rolls.

Through a new "civil works administration" under Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, the President announced, the government will provide the financial backing for new federal, state and local projects of a "noncompetitive" nature.

Rush Plans, Governors Asked.

Mr. Hopkins today sent out a call for governors, mayors, county and other local officials to bring their suggestions for projects which might be undertaken under the new plan to Washington next Wednesday.

Announcing the program, President Roosevelt declared "at least two-thirds of the families in the country now receiving relief will be placed on a self-sustaining basis" through the plan.

Some three million families are now being cared for throughout the country under the present system of direct federal relief, the President stated. He estimated that about 2,000,000 adult members of these relief roll families are now receiving so-called "work relief" at wages of less than $20 a month in most cases. These will immediately be given jobs at the prevailing rate of wage, according to the President. And in addition, another two million adults on the relief rolls will be put to work under the new plan as soon as possible, he said.

Won't Interfere with PWA.

The projects to be undertaken by the civil works administration were described by Mr. Roosevelt as generally similar to those on which work relief is now being provided. In addition, he said, "activities bordering on but not covered in the province of the public works administration" will also be included.

At the headquarters of Mr. Hopkins it was explained that the projects might include levees, the landscaping and beautifying of highways, destruction of breeding grounds for germ-carrying insects, sanitation projects and similar "useful" works.

Will Last Throughout Winter.

"Creation of the new agency constitutes a fundamental change in the federal program to deal with unemployment aspects of the depression," said Mr. Roosevelt in announcing the plan. "It will remove from the relief rolls a major portion of those receiving the necessities of life on the basis of public aid and place them on regular employment. It is designed to remove from relief all employable persons. Those hired by the civil works administration will benefit by an immediate increase in income over their former relief allowances."

The President said the program was designed to last throughout the winter, at least through February, until there is a "hoped for normal spring pick-up."

CHEER LEADER FAILS TO OBEY; HE'S SORRY NOW

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Because Billie Brower, Glendale junior college cheer leader, refused to obey a policeman who interfered with a street parade of students celebrating a football victory, he was sentenced by Police Judge F. L. Lowe to:

Turn in his college sweater;

Give up his part in two campus plays;

Give up all collegiate dances, and, worst of all,

Forswear taking his girl to the junior prom.

This sentence was imposed in lieu of a five day jail term, which was suspended when Brower agreed to abide by the court's ruling.

RECOVERS $4,000 GEMS AND PURSE LOST AT THE FAIR

Mrs. Charles Cawley of Manchester, Ia., lost her purse, containing $10 and a pair of earrings valued at $4,000, near the Electrical building at the World's Fair on Tuesday.

She reported the loss to the Fair police and asked that she be notified at 1407 Rascher avenue if the property were recovered. Yesterday she was told to come and get the purse and its contents, which were intact.

The find was made in the morning by Albert Schwerdtfeger, a foreman at the Sears, Roebuck & Co. building, in one of the washrooms in the building.

Heads Bruised as Huey Long Makes Speech

Monroe, La., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long spoke here tonight in the midst of riotous disturbances during which heads were bruised and men were thrown out of the auditorium for heckling the speaker.

Before Senator Long started speaking men began asking him questions from the floor until he shouted to D. M. Doughty, an insurance man, that he would have him thrown out if he didn't keep quiet.

When Doughty failed to keep quiet Joe Messina, the senator's bodyguard, and highway police rushed toward him, but he was rescued by the superintendent of police, who escorted Doughty to the street.

Later the senator was forced to stop his speech when E. M. Steen, a grocer, called the senator a liar and the grocer was rushed by the bodyguard and the highway police and Steen was led from the auditorium by State Senator James Noe of Monroe.

Struck by Senator's Guards.

Both Steen and Doughty said they had been struck by Long's guards. Steen bore cuts and bruises around the left eye.

Other lesser disturbances occurred during the meeting, but Senator Long finished his speech on the redistribution of wealth and proposed new state taxes.

The first disturbance occurred when Senator Long announced there were vacant seats in the front and invited those in the rear to move forward.

"While you are resting," said Mr. Doughty, "I'd like to have you answer some questions. What about that charity hospital for Monroe? If you believe in representative governm nt why don't you hold an election in the Sixth congressional district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Kemp?"

Argument Grows Warm.

During a verbal exchange between Long and Doughty Messina leaped over the footlights and started toward Doughty as highway policemen moved from the rear and sides toward Doughty's seat.

Sympathizers of Doughty started to his aid and a serious situation threatened until the superintendent of police pushed through to Doughty's side.

The injured passenger was Mrs. Minnie Goldstein, 32 years old, 909 Foster street, Evanston, wife of Abraham, a merchant. She was taken to St. Francis hospital suffering from injuries to her head and back. They were not considered serious.

New Revolt Shakes Cuba; Many Slain

BULLETIN.

HAVANA, Nov. 9 (Thursday.)—(AP)—Without firing a shot, loyal forces in the Cuban revolution took over the San Ambrosio fortress and the Dragones barracks, it was reported early today, after the rebels had abandoned those two strongholds and concentrated in their third fortress, Atares.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 8.—President Ramon Grau San Martin fought desperately tonight to retain his post as chief executive of Cuba after weathering bullets and shells during 14 hours of civil war and military rebellion against his government today.

The revolt, in which the presidential palace was subjected to hours of machine gun and shell fire, took a heavy toll of life. Official government reports admitted that 12 soldiers and 2 officers had been killed and 25 wounded. Reports from unofficial sources estimated the dead at from 50 to 70, and the wounded at from 100 to 200. There are known to have been 13 civilians killed and 37 wounded. It was impossible to obtain accurate figures because the rebels were concealing many of their dead and wounded.

Proclaims State of War.

President Grau, who is still in the presidential palace with his cabinet, proclaimed a state of war throughout the island this evening. Although loyal troops under command of Col. Fulgencio Batista, army chief of staff, have recaptured most of the strongholds captured by the rebels during the day, the insurgents still hold three of the strongest fortresses in Havana—San Ambrosio, Dragones, and Atares. The gunboats Cuba and Patria launched an attack on San Ambrosio barracks this evening, but were driven off by shell fire.

The rebels defied a government ultimatum that they surrender, whereupon a three hour armistice, from 8 to 11 p. m., was negotiated to enable Grau to consider his course of action. The rebels threatened to direct their action against Americans, thus forcing intervention.

Grau Refuses to Quit.

The revolt against the Grau régime, which began at 2:30 o'clock this morning, started an hour after President Grau announced that he would not consider the demands of the opposition factions that he resign. Instead he issued a decree endowing himself with autocratic powers similar to those which made possible former President Machado's suppression of all opposition during his eight years' régime before he was sent into exile last August. The Grau decree was entitled: "The Law of National Defense of the Government."

It was not long before the signal for the army revolt was given by five planes which roared over the palace. The planes circled the city twice before the sentinels at the palace were aware of the danger.

Then the planes out loose with a barrage of machine gun fire, peppering the magnificent dome of the presidential home. The fire was returned from two anti-aircraft guns and four machine guns, but with little result. The planes continued their attack for almost three hours. Apparently the flyers had no bombs.

Rebels Led by ex-Officer.

The rebels are commanded by Capt. Guillermo Martull, former army officer under Machado. Capt. Martull escaped recently from a local hospital, where he was being treated for caped recently from a local hospital.

The aim of the insurgents is to reinstate Carlos Manuel de Cespedes as president. De Cespedes succeeded Machado as chief executive on Aug 12, only to be ousted in September by a radical junta of five. The junta shortly afterward resigned to make

NINE ABDUCTION CASES SOLVED; DOZEN ARE HELD

Writ Plea Discloses Secret Roundup.

Indict 7 in Factor Plot

More than a dozen members of a band of kidnapers who are said to have collected nearly $400,000 from their victims in the last three years are under arrest in Chicago. Confessions have been obtained from several of them and at least nine abduction cases are being cleared up, it was reported last night.

The disclosure that Patrick Roche, private detective, and police from the state's attorney's office have held some of the kidnapers for more than a week in secret places while they were being questioned came yesterday as the aftermath of the filing of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan of the Criminal court.

Court Action Reveals Roundup.

Attorneys James [illegible] and George Crane, who filed the petition, asked that the state's attorney's office, or any other governmental agency having possession of Frank Souder, gambling house keeper at Benton, Ill., be compelled to give him up. Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for State's Attorney Courtney, replied that he could not produce Souder at once, but that formal charges in connection with kidnaping would be placed against him by 10 a. m. today.

Thereafter the disclosures were rapid. Detective Roche, who is credited with having worked up most of the evidence, calling on the state's attorney's men for assistance in the roundup that began last Friday, refused to talk.

Souder Called One of Leaders.

Some of the assistants, however, were not so chary of information.

Souder, they said, was one of the leaders of the kidnaping gang. Another, they added, was Julian Jones of St. Charles. Jones has made the most nearly complete confession and is still adding to the evidence against his confederates.

Others named as participants in the long series of kidnaping plots are Dean Swolley of Peoria; Jack Klutes, described as a criminal who has been sought by the federal government for seven years; Edward La Rue, Edward Wagner, and six or seven others.

Alleged Victims Are Listed.

In the list of the gang's victims, it was asserted, were the following:

James Hackett, Blue Island gambling chief; taken prisoner by the gang twice and compelled to pay a total of $150,000, or $75,000 for each release.

William Urban, gambling boss of Peoria, whose ransom was $100,000.

John J. Lynch, head of a company furnishing wire service to bookmakers, from whom $50,000 was extorted after his captors tortured him by breaking his ribs.

Three Aurora gamblers, who were compelled to pay $10,000 each.

Two Iowa men; let go after they had paid a total of $16,000.

The peak period of the profits of the abductors was in 1930 and 1931. They have not been active this year in the Chicago area, and apparently have had no relations of any kind with the gangs responsible for recent kidnapings here. They were almost in the position of retired kidnapers, it was said, each having won a comfortable fortune in his working years.

Work with Good Information.

One of the unusual features developed by the investigation was the authentic sources of information the gang had of the financial status of the victims. Particularly was this true of Hackett.

In May, 1931, the kidnapers' underground sources let them know that the Blue Island gambler had been summoned to appear before federal officials and show cause why he should not pay a large sum as back income tax. It was reasoned that if Hackett had the money to pay the government he also had money to pay kidnapers.

So he was kidnaped. He paid $75,000 and was allowed to go. Next the kidnapers learned that the amount the government wanted from him was $354,000. This made the ransom look rather insignificant and the sharp business men among the gangsters decided to take him again. They did, and got the additional $75,000.

Because of this unlooked for depletion of his reserves, it was impossible for Hackett to pay off Uncle Sam, investigators said. It was reported that the government, in view of this, took about $15,000 in a compromise settlement. If this were true, the kidnapers were indirectly collecting $135,000 of the ransom from the country's public revenues.

Jones, the confessed kidnaper, was said to be bitter toward Hackett, who has been active in trying to run down his abductors.

"The second time they took Hackett, and we had the money in hand, some of the gang wanted to kill him," Jones was quoted as saying. "What was the use, they asked, of letting him live when we had got all he had. But I talked them out of it. Now he's putting the finger on me."

Faces Never Seen by Lynch.

Lynch, who is now in the south, would be unable to recognize any of his kidnapers, it was said, because he never saw their faces. Hackett, on the other hand, is reported to be able to identify several of them.

Detective Roche, at the time of the Hackett kidnaping, was chief investigator of the state's attorney's staff. When he left the state's attorney's office to establish his own agency he continued to work on the case and brought it to a period of fruition several weeks ago.

Most of the principals in the kidnaping plot were arrested on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Swolley was seized in his restaurant in Peoria and Souder in his home at Benton. Jones was found at St. Charles. Since the seizures their families have not heard from them.

This was quite natural, as the arresting policemen did not take the prisoners to the state's attorney's office, the detective bureau, or any police station here. Instead the prisoners were concealed in Chicago apartment hotels and the homes of policemen. At intervals they have been taken out in automobiles to verify physical facts about the crimes alleged against them.

Souder Sought by Wife.

Souder's wife came to Chicago yesterday after learning that her husband's captors were Chicago policemen. She first went to Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the federal bureau of investigation. Learning that Souder was not in his custody she enlisted the assistance of Attorneys Burke and Crane. They in turn drew their application for the writ of habeas corpus so that it included the state's attorney and the city police as well as the government men. Any agency which held Souder would thus have had to answer.

Hackett, who has been fearless in his campaign against the gang, was reported in danger last night.

"There are still two of the kidnapers at large," said one of the policemen engaged in the case. "If they can they will kill Hackett."

E. C. KOHLSAAT, ATTORNEY, GETS LICENSE TO WED

A marriage license was issued at Tucson, Ariz., yesterday to Edward C. Kohlsaat, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Miner, both of Chicago. His age was given at 54. Hers was not indicated.

Kohlsaat is an attorney, a son of the late Federal Judge C. C. Kohlsaat and a grandson of H. H. Kohlsaat, Chicago publisher. On May 24 this year, Attorney Kohlsaat was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Mabel Kohlsaat, 777 Bryant avenue, Winnetka, on a charge of desertion. They had been married nearly 27 years and have a son and two daughters.

Relatives of Mr. Kohlsaat could not be reached last night, but friends said they believed the bride is Mrs. Marvin E. Miner Jr., formerly of the Ambassador hotel. In 1929 she was president of the Drama league.

Bandits Overpower Coal Man in Fight; Get $380

Benjamin Lautenslager, 6070 Forest Glen avenue, used his fists in vain against three gunmen last night. He had just left his coal office at 5838 North Crawford avenue when the robbers, one of them a Negro, stopped him. All carried guns. Disregarding the weapons, Lautenslager swung at them. A rough and tumble battle followed, in which he was overpowered and robbed of $380.

INDICT 7 TOUHY GANG LEADERS IN FACTOR PLOT

Predict Dozen Others Will Be Involved.

Seven members of the Touhy gang were indicted yesterday for the kidnaping of John [Jake the Barber] Factory, wealthy stock operator. Four of those indicted will go on trial today in St. Paul for the abduction of William Hamm Jr., two are fugitives, and one is in custody here.

Officials said that a dozen other men would be involved in the Factor plot before the case is cleaned up. State's Attorney Courtney acted at this time to prevent defendants in the Hamm case from being released should they win acquittal in St. Paul.

Four in St. Paul.

The indictments were returned before Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan of the Criminal court shortly after the true bills were voted by the grand jury. Kidnaping is punishable by death under the Illinois law.

The defendants held in St. Paul are: Roger Touhy, leader of the gang; Edward [Father Tom] McFadden; Gustave [Gloomy Gus] Schaefer, and Willie Sharkey, alias William Boyle.

The fugitives indicted are Charles [Ice Wagon] Conners, alias Eugene Crotty, and Hugh Basil Banghart, alias Larry Green, a pal of the notorious Gerald Chapman. Banghart, with Chapman, escaped from the Atlanta penitentiary and later shot his way out of custody at Terre Haute. Chapman has since been hanged for a murder in the east. The defendant held at the county jail is Albert J. Kator, alias Louis La Mar.

The indictment specifies that the defendants are not to be released on bond. It charges that the original ransom demand was $500,000.

Factor Weeps Before Jury.

Factor wept before the grand jury in describing the tortures he was subjected to by the gang which took him from his car as he was returning from the Dells roadhouse in Morton Grove on July 1. He disclosed that there were ten men in the gang at the time, riding in three cars.

There were other belated revelations. Factor told how his family physician, by prearrangement with the gang, delivered the $70,000 ransom near Forest Park. He told how he had dickered with his captors to reduce their original demand of $500,000. They lowered the figure to $200,000, he said, and later reduced it to $70,000 when they were convinced that was all that Factor's wife, the former Rella Cohen, could raise.

A witness who has given authorities much of the information necessary to solve the crime was revealed in the indictment as "John Doe," reliably reported to be a former member of the Touhy gang.

It was reported that authorities have in custody a woman who cooked meals for the gang and their prisoner on the first night of Factor's captivity in a cottage at Glenview. Later Factor was held outside Cook county in the home of a well known hoodlum, it was said.

Escape with Dummy Package.

McFadden is charged with renting the Glenview cottage. Connors and Banghart were identified as the men who picked up a package supposed to contain $50,000, the final ransom payment promised by Factor after his release. The package was a decoy containing $500 in cash and some newspapers. After a pursuit in which 250 policemen and federal agents took part, Connors and Banghart escaped from the trap laid near La Grange.

The other defendants are charged with being members of the group which did the actual kidnaping.

STEALS TO BUY OVERCOAT.

TOUHY AND 3 AIDS FACE KIDNAPING TRIAL IN ST. PAUL

Case Is Scheduled to Begin Today.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Possibility of life imprisonment in Minnesota or death in Illinois confronted four members of the Touhy mob of Chicago tonight.

As they waited in prison cells here for the start tomorrow of their federal court trial in connection with the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., millionaire St. Paul brewer, a Cook county grand jury at Chicago indicted the four on accusations of having abducted John [Jake the Barber] Factor.

Conviction of the Hamm abduction under the so-called Lindbergh law would result in life sentences. If the four stood trial on the Chicago charge and were convicted they would be liable to execution.

Indicted on Two Counts.

The four, Roger Touhy, Chicago gang chieftain, and his three henchmen, Gustav [Gloomy Gus] Schaefer, Eddie [Father] McFadden, and Willie Sharkey, have been indicted on two counts here, transportation in interstate commerce of a kidnaped person held for ransom, and conspiracy to transport.

The big three of the government's side in the Hamm trial, Joseph B. Keenan, George Sullivan, district attorney, and George Heisey, assistant district attorney, was filled out today with arrival of Keenan, chief prosecutor of the government's criminal division at Washington.

"Good Case," Keenan Says.

Asserting the government has "a good case," Keenan observed that "it looks favorable. We are ready to go ahead."

Federal Judge M. M. Joyce, who will conduct the Touhy trial, ordered 14 jurors selected instead of the usual twelve. The extra two will sit with the twelve, ready to act should sickness incapacitate any one.

Armed guards will patrol corridors outside the courtroom to thwart any attempt to free the four, who will be escorted to the courthouse from the county jail through a tunnel, obviating the danger of rescue attempts if the men were taken through streets to the courthouse.

TURNS TABLES ON BRIDGE PLAYER; HE GETS DIVORCE

Conrad Bringman, a barber, 244½ Chicago avenue, Oak Park, told Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday how completely his home life had been changed since his wife, Rubye, learned to play bridge.

Last summer Mrs. Bringman filed suit for divorce claiming that her husband was such an expert bridge player she was unable to play cards with him without inciting his wrath and being struck. But they were reconciled in September, he told the court, after she was presented to him by the hostess of a card party as the best bridge player in the city.

Now the tables have been completely turned, Bringman lamented. She is not only the better bridge player, but she has adopted his habit of punctuating her criticism of his bridge errors by slaps and blows. The barber was granted a divorce.

5 Children Are Burned to Death; Home Lost

Youngstown, O., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Five children were burned to death and their parents and another child were injured when a house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Pete, just outside McDonald, in Trumbull county, burned to the ground early today.

ROSIE BOBCAT TIRES OF UNIVERSITY LIFE; SPURNS SCIENCE, TOO

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Rosie, a California bobcat, born in a trap and educated at the University of California, has become too mean to merit further higher education. She has been sent back to the woods.

Rosie has been nurtured for the five months of her life in the home of Eustace L. Sumner, biologist at the university, and has mixed on terms of equality with Sumner's house cats.

Rosie tired of long naps on Mrs. Sumner's lap, tired of deep dishes of cream and even grew bored with the society of the feline menage that inhabits the Sumner home.

She grew surly and disdained trips in the Sumner car, especially screened for Rosie's comfort and safety.

The last straw was when it became necessary for Sumner to wear thick gloves and padded clothing whenever he wanted to play with his sharp clawed pet. Sumner says mountain lion cubs remain tame longer.

VERNE MILLER'S GIRL CHAUFFEUR IS U. S. PRISONER

Miss "Bobbie" Moore, the girl who aided Verne Miller, western desperado, to escape from a trap set by division of investigation agents on Sheridan road a week ago, is now in custody, it was learned yesterday at the United States courthouse. She was arrested when she appeared at the United State's marshal's office to inquire after Mrs. Vivian Matthews, who was arrested in Miller's room.

Miller has been sought by the government agents for aiding George [Machine Gun] Kelly and Harvey Bailey, Oklahoma bad men, in the Urschel kidnaping and in the Union plaza machine gun massacre in Kansas City.

Although reported to have been shot when a federal agent fired a machine gun into the rear of the car in which she was driving Miller, it was said she had only a slight wound on one leg which might have been a scratch from falling glass. She is being held with Mrs. Matthews.

ARREST COUPLE IN THEFT, FORGING OF $3,200 CHECKS

Mrs. Grace Allison Baumgarth, 28 years old, 602 Arlington place, former secretary-treasurer of the Viking Automatic Sprinkler company, 320 North Elizabeth street, and her husband, Irvin Baumgarth, 32, of 4176 Clarendon avenue, were being held at the detective bureau on charges of forgery last night.

It is charged that Mrs. Baumgarth, while an official of the company, manipulated checks into her husband's hands and that he eventually cashed them by means of forged signatures. The amount involved is $2,274. Mrs. Baumgarth denied the thefts. Her husband remained silent.

Detective Edward Allman, who worked on the case, said that Mrs. Baumgarth tells an unusual story of her part in the defalcations and that she insists that her part was forced upon her by her husband, from whom she was separated.

Complaints against the Baumgarths charging forgery were made last night. That against Mrs. Baumgarth was made by James W. Bradford and that aginst Baumgarth by Earl L. Thompson.

LITVINOV, HULL CONFER; RUSSIAN SEES ROOSEVELT

Pact on Recognition May Be Signed Soon.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Pictures on Back Page.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Excellent progress was reported today in the preliminary conversations between representatives of the United States and of soviet Russia on recognition of the soviet government by America and the settlement of the outstanding questions between the two countries.

At the end of the day both Foreign Commissar Maxim Maximovitch Litvinov and Secretary of State Hull were visibly pleased. Litvinov's smile was even more expansive than usual, and tonight it was learned that tentative plans are being made for sailing homeward on the Majestic from New York next Wednesday morning. In fact, there is tonight in Russian circles in Washington a strong feeling that an agreement for recognition may be signed tomorrow in time for its announcement before the dinner and reception which is being given tomorrow night for Litvinov by the Turkish ambassador.

Conferences Last All Day.

The conversations began at 10:30 this morning in the secretary of state's office. Litvinov was accompanied by Ivan Divilkowski, chief of the Russian foreign office secretariat, and the secretary of state had with him Undersecretary William Phillips, Assistant Secretary Walton Moore, and Special Assistant William Bullitt. Henry Morgenthau Jr. was also called in for consultation. This meeting lasted until nearly 1 o'clock, and it was learned that the whole ground of the questions at issue between the two countries was traversed. Each side had come with a brief consisting of between three and four hundred typewritten pages, and these books were exchanged for mutual study.

The atmosphere was extremely cordial throughout and when the meeting adjourned Mr. Hull introduced Litvinov to the newspaper correspondents. The Russian commissar made a polite little speech, saying how glad he was to be in the friendly atmosphere and quiet surroundings which were so necessary to the success of his visit.

Drove to White House.

Litvinov and Mr. Hull then drove to the White House, where Litvinov was the guest at an official luncheon and later he and the President had an hour's private talk together. At four o'clock the conference at the state department was resumed and continued until six o'clock, when it was adjourned until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

The hope of a settlement by tomorrow refers, of course, only to an agreement on diplomatic recognition and the exchange of ambassadors. Questions such as debts, American private claims, Russian trading conditions and credits must be referred to the new ambassadors and their expert staffs for discussion. It is posible, however, that the President and Litvinov may arrive at an agreement that certain questions are excluded from discussion on points of principle while others are capable of adjustment. Czarist debts, for instance, the Russians maintain, never will be recognized by them, but private claims are capable of adjustment.

MAJ. SHEPARD, TRIED AS SLAYER OF WIFE, MARRIES THIRD TIME

Denver, Colo., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Disclosure of his elopement and secret wedding in Russell Springs, Kas., last July 4 to Mrs. Alice J. Watt, Denver widow, was made today by Maj. Charles A. Shepard, who was granted a retrial this week by the United States Supreme court of his conviction and life sentence as the slayer of his second wife, Mrs. Zenana Shepard.

The army surgeon and his bride were married by Winnie Sietz, woman probate judge.

The Shepards said today they had kept the marriage secret at the request of Charles L. Kagey, Shepard's attorney, who was preparing to argue the new trial petition before the Supreme court.

The marriage is Mrs. Shepard's second. Her first husband was the late Albert J. Watt, who died in June, 1929.

During his trial in Kansas City, Kas., and subsequently, Mrs. Watt aided Shepard in his fight. She was reported to have helped to get bail for the officer at the time of his trial.

5 MEN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF 14 YEAR OLD GIRL

Five men were arrested yesterday by the South State street police after Vercella Schmader, 14 years old, 6345 South Oakley avenue, accused them of attacking her and holding her prisoner for two days and nights in a bunkhouse in the rear of a trucking company's yards at 53 East 16th street.

They are: George Scanlon, 25 years old, a teamster; Edward Hoover, 19 years old, and Claude Fitzsimmons, who live in the bunkhouse; Joseph Silver, 22 years old, 12 West 18th street, and John Cassella, 50 years old. They will be arraigned today in the Domestic Relations court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The girl told police that as she was running away from home on the evening of Oct. 31 after becoming angered at her parents over a trivial matter, she was offered a ride by Scanlon, who was driving by in his automobile. He drove her to the bunkhouse. Her parents obtained the warrants for the men's arrest.

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO DRAFT RULES ON LIQUOR SALE

His Reaction to Election Results Mixed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today surveyed the results of the elections yesterday with mixed emotions.

He viewed with profound satisfaction the repeal of national prohibition, the first definite realization of one of the major policies on which he sought election to the presidency. Of the overthrow of Tammany Hall in the New York City election he learned with no less satisfaction, tempered, however, by consideration of the political significance of the reverse suffered by the administration in Postmaster General Farley's attempt to elect Joseph V. McKee mayor.

First Political Setback.

Mr. Farley's misadventure represents the first political setback for the administration, which has been enjoying a political honeymoon of unparalleled duration. The question is whether the failure of New York Democrats to follow the desires of the administration in the mayoralty election signalizes the end of the honeymoon and presages Democratic schism in the next session of congress and Democratic reverses in the 1934 congressional election.

Although Mr. Roosevelt proclaimed himself neutral in the election he allowed his postmaster general to put McKee into the race and his New York customs collector to manage the McKee candidacy. Mr. Farley was clearly aiming to capture control of the New York City Democratic organization in preparation for support of Mr. Roosevelt for renomination in 1936 and of himself for governor of New York. The election of La Guardia instead of the Democrat, McKee, enables Tammany to preserve and strengthen its organization for the next battle with the administration.

Plan Smuggled Booze Sale.

To eke out the existing supply the department of justice is considering the sale of 40,000 to 50,000 cases of smuggled booze which it has seized and holds in New York. In addition, recent seizures of bootleg stocks have been saved, and that which tests show to be of good grade will be sold by the government.

Expecting to make a million dollars on the sale of smuggled liquor alone, the government is planning to accept bids only from those persons who have licenses as liquor dealers or producers.

By Jan. 1 whisky production in this country is expected to be stepped up to more than 125 million gallons a year. In addition to the 10 distilleries already showing capacity production five more are known to be under construction. Licenses are being issued to all plants properly equipped and without the taint of bootleg production on their records. Distilleries now running are mashing about 50,000 bushels of grain a day, making both rye and bourbon. The average daily output, on the basis of these figures, is about 250,000 gallons.

On neither prohibition repeal nor the New York election, however, would the President comment for publication. At his conference with the press he good-naturedly waved aside such questions.

Calls Meeting for Tomorrow.

Acting upon the vote of the thirty-sixth state for repeal of prohibition, Mr. Roosevelt took steps to adopt a program for dealing with the liquor traffic in permanent legislation and during the interregnum which will exist until congress acts. He called a meeting for Friday in his office of the inter-departmental board which has surveyed the problem and evolved numerous recommendations. On this board the state, commerce, justice, treasury, and agriculture departments are represented.

The program under consideration covers three periods: The month elapsing between the election yesterday and the action of the thirty-six prohibition repeal convention on Dec. 5 or 6; the period between formal repeal in December and enactment of legislation by congress, which will reassemble on Jan. 3.

The question pertaining to the first period is that of enforcing a law which is doomed to expire the first week in December. The law still prohibits the liquor traffic, and law officers are obligated to enforce it.

Regarded as Dead Letter.

But it has already been discovered that juries almost everywhere are unwilling to convict and grand juries even to indict offenders against the moribund law. The fact is that the law is now a dead letter and that the department of justice and the courts are only half-heartedly going through the motions of enforcing it. In this connection it is learned that there is to be no general amnesty liberating incarcerated prohibition law offenders. The attorney general has ruled that the circumstances in individual cases should determine whether offenders are to be released, indicating thereby that the racketeering gentry are to be kept under key full time. About 9,000 offenders altogether are now serving time.

The lid will be off the first week in December, when the liquor traffic will become subject to state regulation and such federal regulation as existed prior to national prohibition. In 19 states it will be lawful to manufacture and sell intoxicating beverages and seven others are to provide for such traffic by Jan. 1.

Until congress passes new legislation, the federal tax on spirits will be $1.10 a gallon, the pre-war rate. When it comes to permanent legislation, the President wants a tax high enough to bring in a large amount of revenue and yet low enough to discourage bootlegging. Discussion now revolves around a rate of $3 a gallon. On this basis, it is estimated that taxes on all liquor, including beer and wine, would yield upwards of 400 million dollars.

Repeal popped the lid off liquor production in this country before the 36th state clinched the outcome yesterday. Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, has allowed distilleries to step their output up to capacity. In the past month production jumped from the rate of 17 million gallons annually to more than 75 million gallons.

Wineries, in addition, are at work turning out what experts predict will amount to 25 or 30 million gallons of wines with high alcoholic content. Twenty brandy distilleries in the country are running full blast.

Government officials were busy today checking over the country's available liquor stocks, finding the supply of aged beverages at drought levels. Blending, however, is expected to prevent a hard liquor famine.

KING OF AFGHANS MURDERED; SON TAKES THRONE

Nation Quiet, Message to Bombay Consulate Says.

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The assassination of the king of Afghanistan by a traitor was disclosed in a telegram received today at the Afghan consulate.

"His majesty Nadir Shah Ghazi was made a martyr by assassination at the hands of a traitor this afternoon," the message said. "The whole nation was plunged into mourning for the beloved king and unanimously declared allegiance to a new monarch, Mohammed Zahir Shah, son of the slain ruler. Afghanistan is quiet internally."

Nadir Shah was 53 years old. His son, who was born in 1914, married his cousin, the daughter of Sarsar Ahmad Shah Khan, two years ago.

HERO OF FREEDOM WAR.

Nadir Shah became the ruler of Afghanistan on Oct. 16, 1929, after a successful campaign against the bandit son of a water carrier who chanced to be ruling at the time. The bandit chieftain, Bacho Sachao, had assumed power earlier in the year by chasing King Amanullah out of the country.

Nadir was the hero of the "war of independence" in 1919 which led to Afghanistan's recognition by Great Britain as an independent state in 1921.

Forced Out by Revolt.

Amanullah took the throne and attempted to Europeanize the tribal Asiatic nation almost over night. A revolt led by Bacho Sachao, the bandit chieftain, caught up with him early in 1929 and he found it convenient to depart. His departure was hurried by his wife, Queen Souriya, whose refusal to veil her face made her unpopular with the nation's Moslems.

Bacho Sachao ruled the country until the following October, when he was forced to bow to Nadir, who was Amanullah's nephew and also commander in chief of Amanullah's army.

Because of Nadir's close connections with Amanullah it was believed that the next step would be to bring the latter back. King Nadir got along so well, however, that he decided to keep the crown for himself.

Still in Exile.

Although recurring reports have had Amanullah plotting to return to get back his throne for several years he is still in exile and was last heard from at Rome. Afghanistan's position as a buffer state between British India and soviet Russia has made it liable to intrigue and at one time an alliance between Russia, Turkey, and Persia to help Amanullah return was reported.

King Nadir had always been pro-British and was known to have had Britain's support in retaining his power.

Afghanistan is a constitutional monarchy with a national council and a cabinet presided over by a prime minister. A Great Assembly, purporting to represent the Afghan people, is summoned at intervals of about four years to consider major questions of policy referred to it by the king.

JAPAN ABANDONS ARMY REDUCTION IN MANCHUKUO

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 8.—Alarm over the strained Japanese-Russian relations grew today with the announcement that plans to reduce the Japanese army in Manchukuo to a peace time basis had been abandoned.

The reduction was originally scheduled for last month. Under those plans two divisions of Japanese troops were to be transferred to guard the South Manchuria railway.

Now, under the new plan, the Japanese will recruit 10,000 men in Japan for railway guard service and the regular Japanese army here will not be reduced.

RELIEVES BABY OF 'PNEUMONIA'; IT WAS A PEANUT

Physicians and nurses had given up hope of saving the life of Dorothy Manning, 2 years old, 3719 Pine Grove avenue, who was brought to the Children's Memorial hospital on Nov. 3. The diagnosis showed that the baby was suffering from lobar pneumonia.

Yesterday Dr. Sigurd Kraft, staff physician, examined the little girl. After listening to her breathing through a stethescope he came to the conclusion that a foreign body was lodged in her bronchial tubes just above the lungs. Such a substance, he decided, would set up irritation and create a condition similar to that caused by pneumonia.

Within an hour he had performed a bronchoscopy—an operation in which a delicate instrument is inserted into the bronchial tubes and manipulated so that it will carry with it when it is removed any foreign substance found there. A piece of peanut was dislodged and the doctor announced that the baby would recover. Her mother, Mrs. Vivian Manning, recalled then that the child had been eating peanuts the day before she fell ill.

FAIR TO REOPEN ON JUNE 1 FOR ANOTHER SEASON

Provides More Exhibits and Concessions.

ticipate, with the same space they had this year, during next summer at about one-third of the expense they carried this year. New space will be let under the same terms that will be given a new exhibitor. In general, space will rent for about the same price it did this year."

Hundreds of New Exhibits.

In addition to the exhibitors who are represented this year, hundreds of requests have come to the Fair from other large concerns who wish to be represented in the coming Exposition. Practically all of the concessions, excluding only a few of the smaller ones, have requested space for next year.

Although in general the Fair will present much the same appearance it will be changed in many ways. The lighting effect will be altogether different. Just how different will be decided this winter.

The Fair grounds will extend to Pershing road next summer as they did during this summer. However, the army camp will occupy the extreme south portion next year and exhibits and concessions will be much more compact. The lagoon, while accommodating a water transit corporation as it did this summer, will have a vast lighting system, using under water islands, and will also accommodate cafés, dance pavilions, and other structures in the middle.

Stricter Control Over Shows.

One of the greatest objections met this year will be done away with next summer. That is the pay toilet. All comfort facilities next year will be free. In addition, stricter control will be kept over the shows and concessions, with contractual clauses. All exhibitions which met with widespread objection this year will be eliminated, it was announced. Another feature will be more restaurants of the economical type.

The gates will be closed at midnight Sunday and then will be barred to the general public until the reopening next summer. The Fair during the winter will merely lie dormant with active work starting in the spring. A skeleton staff will be maintained, representing all branches, and offering fire and police protection to exhibitors who keep their exhibits on the grounds.

Exhibitors may either keep their exhibits in their own buildings or store them in warehouses outside the grounds.

13 Million Visitors Will Pay Notes.

While making no estimates of what the paid attendance might be next year, Maj. Lohr said that, to pay expenses, it would not have to be so large as during the last summer. An attendance of five millions would pay all running expenses and 13 million would see all the gold notes paid off.

Of the original $10,000,000 gold note issue, $5,000,000 was paid off this year with an attendance of 23,000,000. The other $5,000,000, due to lowered overhead and additional revenue to be derived from concessionaires, will need a little more than half as large an attendance. This year approximately $1,000,000 will remain in the working cash fund at the conclusion of the Fair, and this amount, plus money from the new contracts, will pay all opening expenses. Not a cent will be asked of the public, Maj. Lohr said.

However, heavy subsidies, in the form of advance ticket purchases, will be demanded of the business and transportation interests. Some $500,000 has already been guaranteed from these sources.

HERE'S AMENDMENT THAT ENDS YEARS OF U. S. PROHIBITION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The following is the text of the Twenty-First amendment to the constitution, which voters have decreed should replace the Eighteenth amendment:

"JOINT RESOLUTION.

"Proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States.

"Resolved, By the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled [two-thirds of each house concurring therein],

"That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the constitution when ratified by conventions in three-fourths of the several states:

"Section 1. The Eighteenth article of amendment to the constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

"Section 2. The transportation or importation into any state, territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

"Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by convention in the several states, as provided in the constitution, within seven years from the date of submission hereof to the states by the congress."

50,000 AT THE FAIR DRINK FREE BEER TO GREET REPEAL

Brew and Sandwiches Swell Attendance.

Beer was flowing freely yesterday, as about fifty thousand people observed Personal Liberty day at the World's Fair. One thousand barrels of free beer and almost two hundred thousand free sandwiches, donated by brewers, bakers and the packing interests, were the highlights of the day's festivities.

Long before dawn yesterday the large trucks, carrying the needed equipment and the beer and food, began rolling into the grounds. To dispense the beer and food there were twenty bars, 320 beer taps, 100 tubs for ice, eight slicing machines, and scores of bar attendants.

Despite the cold and snow flurries, the 500 early barrels were dry by 1:30 p. m.

Additional loads of barrels were hauled in later. Though small quantities of beer apparently remained at some of the stands, the bartenders stopped serving the brew at 10:15 last night. Sandwiches were in greater demand. Some stands had no food left as early as 5 o'clock, and the supplies remaining elsewhere were exhausted soon thereafter.

Some sixty persons who became too hilarious were removed from the grounds by guides and Fair policemen. It was said, however, that most of these carried hip liquor.

Mayor Kelly Surveys Crowd.

Ald. John Coughlin [1st] was on hand as the chairman of the mayor's commission to supervise the details during the day. At 2 p. m. Mayor Kelly, the father of the idea for a day celebrating the repeal of prohibition, arrived and made a survey of the scene after a visit to the Administration building.

The free beer was apparently a large drawing card, for the crowds of yesterday were almost double those of the day before. At 11:30 p. m. the paid admissions totaled 49,038, as compared with 20,625 at the same hour on Tuesday.

One of the features of the day was contests among waiters and waitresses employed at cafés and restaurants on the grounds.

are known to be opposed to the single plan—notably John P. Harding, Chicago restaurant owner, who maintains that there is no reason for compelling a restaurant to procure a license covering liquor if beer only will be sold. For his part, the mayor maintains that unless the license covers all types of alcoholic beverages chiselers will procure a beer license only and sell stronger drinks on the sly.

Tentative Control Plans.

The commission is already committed to a number of broad principles concerning control. Among them are home rule in large municipalities, local option in small communities, separate licenses for beer and liquors, and specific definition of such terms as restaurant, tavern, roadhouse, and saloon for every type of license issued. Gov. Horner is on record against state liquor stores, as provided in the Quebec plan, and he, as well as Mayor Kelly, opposes the old fashioned standup bar.

Since its appointment by the governor several months ago the commission has held 15 hearings, of which eleven were in Chicago and four at Springfield. More than 130 witnesses, representing nearly 100 organizations, were heard, and out of the hearings came almost as many suggestions as there were witnesses.

Favor the Open Saloon.

Favoring the open saloon, with curtains and swinging doors prohibited, were the Tavern and Café Owners Association of Illinois, the Association Against Prohibition, the Illinois Retail Beverage Dealers association, and a group of Chicago aldermen including John Toman, Thomas J. Daly, John E. Egan, George D. Kells, James P. Quinn, John F. Clark, John Coughlin, and Henry J. Wieland. Joining this group were Congressman A. J. Sabath, Mayor John W. Kapp of Springfield, and Edward McGinnis, head of the Cook county council of the American Legion.

Among those opposing the saloon were Dr. George B. Safford, head of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league, and Col. Ira L. Reeves, head of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization. Dr. Safford was for local option for the protection of dry communities, while Col. Reeves advocated adoption either of the Quebec plan or a modification such as the Connecticut plan, where the state does not own liquor stores but licenses and supervises them, taking 4 per cent of the gross income for a license fee.

Varying Views on Control.

Various spokesmen for grocers and druggists, wholesale and retail, advocated package sale of strong spirits. A spokesman for the Chicago Medical society urged a tax low enough to permit patients to get medicinal spirits at reasonable cost. An attorney for Kentucky distilleries demanded a wide open saloon with a steep tax. Most of the brewers were for high taxes on liquors and low taxes on brews, with unrestricted sale of their products and restrictions on distilled goods.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—New Yorkers listened today to the death knell of prohibition without missing a swallow. News of the deciding vote for repeal caused no halt in speakeasy drinking, nor did it evoke any celebration.

Mid-town, downtown, and uptown proprietors of the new open-face model speakeasies took the news in their stride, along with their customers. Most of them have been running fairly wide open since the federal government hinted that it would not prosecute liquor law violators.

There were still of course, a number of places that retained the mysterious atmosphere of the speakeasy of the earliest days of the prohibition era. The peephole, the card, and the whispering of the name—but more for effect than out of a sense of caution. This was especially true of the more pretentious places that catered to women who would miss the thrill in walking into a wide open place.

Down in Greenwich Village, one of the larger restaurants that caters to the late crowds and which had abided strictly by the law within the restaurant rooms, ordered carpenters to cut through the wall separating the dining room from the speakeasy operated by the same owners around the corner.

A large sign "Bar" was hung over the new door between the restaurant and the former speakeasy to let the customers know that they would no longer have to suffer the inconvenience of leaving their tables between courses to walk around the corner for a drink.

It was reported that a number of the middle class hotels had let down the bars and were selling drinks to steady customers. This began late this afternoon. The prices for drinks were at about speakeasy level—50 cents for most whisky cocktails and about 35 cents for straight whisky. The middle class speakeasies are getting as low as 25 cents for old fashioned Martinis, 25 cents for applejack and 35 cents for milk punches and "Jack Roses." The better places were charging from 15 to 20 cents more per drink.

Repeal Leading by 4 to 3 in Kentucky; Wet Victory Ends Prohibition on Dec. 5

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Heavy votes in municipalities tabulated tonight swept Kentucky steadily toward ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment.

Reports from 784 of Kentucky's 4,204 precincts gave repeal 64,121 votes to 47,055 against, a majority of 17,066. Jefferson county [Louisville], with 60 of its 636 precincts tabulated, gave repeal 8,818, with only 561 against.

Smaller towns in the state averaged 3 to 1 for repeal, while rural counties voted almost even on the question.

Kentucky Decides Date.

Since Kentucky's repeal convention is scheduled for Nov. 27 and Maine's for Dec. 6, the result in Kentucky determines the date upon which repeal becomes legal. With Kentucky ratifying, the ratification of Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Utah on Dec. 5 completes the necessary thirty-six states. Otherwise the ratification by Maine on Dec. 6 would have been needed. Maine voted to ratify Sept. 11.

Returns on repeal were coming in slowly. With the eighteenth amendment assured of repeal by action of other states, many counties started tabulating their local races first. Likelihood that the final result would not be known until some time next week was seen as a result of a ruling by Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton that no tabulation could be done on Saturday, Armistice day, or on Sunday.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon predicted today repeal would be carried in Kentucky about two to one, but William D. Upshaw, 1932, Prohibition party presidential candidate, who campaigned in Kentucky for the drys, said he still hoped the rural counties might swing the election for his cause.

State Dry Two Years More.

Kentucky, which decides that the eighteenth amendment will be repealed Dec. 5, itself will be legally dry for at least two years. Meanwhile the state will be busily engaged in manufacturing its well known "bottled in bond" product for wet states.

The state's own "bone dry" constitutional amendment cannot be voted on until November, 1935. The August special session of the general assembly authorized manufacture of whisky for medicinal purposes, provided the eighteenth amendment is repealed. Once the whisky is shipped outside the state Kentucky no longer can control its use. No limit was set upon the amount to be made.

Kentucky law provides that a state constitutional amendment can be voted upon only at an election for state legislative offices held after a regular session of the general assembly has authorized the referendum, which would make it November, 1935, in case the 1934 legislature provided for the vote.

Utah Margin 40,000.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 8.—(AP)—With only a few districts unreported, Utah's repeal majority held near 40,000 tonight.

The vote, on the basis of returns from yesterday's election in 729 of 798 districts, stood at 101,103 for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and 63,248 against.

The repeal votes were almost exactly divided between Salt Lake City and county and other counties of the state, with 50,547 cast in this county and 50,556 outside. The negative vote of Salt Lake county was 18,250 and in the other counties 44,498.

Of the state's 29 counties, 17 returned anti-repeal majorities.

On repeal of the state prohibition amendment the vote was 99,539 in favor and 57,380 against. This legalizes a law recently passed permitting 3.2 beer, but state repeal will not be effective until January, 1935, unless the governor calls a special session of the legislature to take action earlier.

Ohio Majority 853,510.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The margin of Ohio's repealist victory reached a final total of 853,210 today as the Buckeye state concluded the story of her protest against prohibition.

The complete unofficial totals for the state's 8,585 precincts showed for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, 1,428,255; against, 576,942.

This majority for national repeal compared with a 671,445 repealist victory on state constitutional prohibition. The vote on this issue was: Yes, 1,245,186; no, 573,741.

The rapidly mounting repeal vote found Ohio's "dry" leaders preparing to launch a new war against hard liquor.

One of the few remaining stalwarts of the one time active Prohibition party of Ohio, Prescott Gilllian, state chairman, announced that the party would attempt to place candiates on all county, congressional, and state ballots next year.

4 to 1 in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's majority for prohibition repeal passed the million mark tonight as late returns from yesterday's election brought the total votes to 1,461,910 for repeal to 458,135 opposed.

Those were the figures with 6,349 of the state's 7,925 districts reported, and apparently showed that prohibition's enemies would carry the commonwealth almost four to one.

Philadelphia favored repeal eight to one, casting 421,321 votes for the fifteen wet delegates to a state ratification convention on Dec. 5. The dry candidates received 53,004.

South Carolina Drys Gain.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Any hidden hopes repealists held for overturning the slim majority gained by prohibitionists in first returns from South Carolina's referendum on repeal faded today as straggling reports from the hill coves and swamp country settlements boosted the dry lead.

With 1,028 precincts of 1,220 reported and 90 per cent or more of the vote cast by an apparently apathetic electorate listed, the count stood: For repeal, 33,317; against, 36,576.

Most of the unreported precincts were small boxes in isolated sections, and it appeared unlikely their total vote would be much larger than the prohibitionists' majority.

When national prohibition is repealed South Carolina will revert to its quart a month law, which permits importation of a quart of whisky a month for medicinal purposes by male residents over 21 years of age and by women who are heads of families.

N. C. Drys Fight Beer.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Jubilant over their smashing anti-repeal victory, North Carolina drys today moved to keep their organization intact and to carry on their prohibition fight which they hope ultimately will result in repeal of the state's 3.2 per cent beer and wine law.

Meanwhile, the vote that recorded North Carolina as the first state against repeal of the 18th amendment was steadily mounting in favor of the drys who had a lead of approximately 150,000 with most of the state heard from.

With 1,488 of the state's 1,831 precincts reported, the vote was: For repeal, 109,668; against, 259,019.

DRUGGISTS PUT WHISKY, WINES OUT ON COUNTER

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—With unofficial end of prohibition today many Detroit druggists brought whiskies, gins and wines out of their prescription rooms and placed them in full view of their counters.

Some of the stores displayed bottles of a new blended Kentucky bourbon whisky at $3.50 a quart, gin at $2.25 a quart and domestic wines at $1.35 a quart and offered to furnish free the necessary prescription required under the federal medicinal liquor laws if the customer lacked one. Others were charging 25 to 50 cents for furnishing the prescription.

The price of unblended whisky remained the same, $6 a quart.

FAMOUS DRINKS OVER OPEN BARS IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Ramos gin fizz [gold or silver], the Sazerac cocktail and all the other drinks that once made New Orleans famous, today flowed openly again across the counters of a score of wide open bars as the city toasted the states which clinched prohibition repeal yesterday.

Overnight the shades of speakeasies shook off their shrouds to blossom int lively and wide open barrcoms.

It was all quite frank and aboveboard. Afternoon editions of local newspapers carried pictures, snapped during the morning, of crowds at the downtown bars and bartenders, anonymous yesterday, shaking up the fancy drinks with which the city celebrated.

COSTS 16 LIVES TO HOLD ELECTION IN KENTUCKY

Others Hurt in Battles at the Polls.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Kentucky took its election in earnest yesterday. Men were elected and issues were decided. In the decision 16 men died. The victims were:

Harlan county—Z. B. Blanton, 56; John Blanton, 24; Jesse Blanton, 26; H. H. Hensley, 57, and Zach Hensley, 25, fatally shot in an election row in the Layman district; and G. L. Smoot, 25, Negro, killed in an election argument at Black mountain.

Knott county—Ballard and Orville Hall and a man named Mullins, shot fatally in dispute blamed on election; details of the triple slaying in a sparsely populated section were not available.

Negro Killed.

Floyd county—Arthur Thompson killed and two other men wounded in fight not believed connected with election; Dennis Spears, 18, shot to death and another man stabbed in nonelection quarrel; another man was wounded critically in a third Floyd county disturbance.

Butler county—Hobart Burden, 28, shot to death at Oak Ridge precinct.

Quiet in Some Quarters.

Elsewhere throughout the state the election passed off quietly, except for several instances of reported intimidation of voters and the usual fist fights. In Lewis county, at Charters, Oscar Ginn, 25, was stabbed seriously in the abdomen.

At Hopkinsville the start of the count was delayed when the election commissioners debated whether or not to permit a newspaper representative to watch the tabulation. The commission finally decided to allow one newspaper man to come inside the counting room to get information

Miller Leads for Mayor.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—With returns from 58 of the city's 568 precincts tabulated tonight, Neville Miller, Democrat, was leading Col. Dan M. Carrell, Republican, 6,080 to 4,895 in the race for mayor of Louisville.

Dry Official Convicted of Drunken Driving

Escanaba, Mich., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Oscar Rummler of Marquette, Mich., in charge of prohibition enforcement in upper Michigan, today was found guilty of drunken driving in Justice A. D. Alguire's court in Gladstone, and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs or spend 30 days in jail. His driver's license was ordered revoked. Rummler immediately filed a notice of appeal to the Circuit court and posted bond of $500.

WOMEN ANTI-DRYS WILL DISBAND, SAYS MRS. CHARLES SABIN

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles H. Sabin said today that the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, of which she is chairman, will be dissolved upon ratification of repeal by the thirty-sixth state Dec. 5.

Outlining the principles upon which the organization was founded, Mrs. Sabin said all of them had been attained.

"I know that I am speaking for all of our members when I state that as good citizens we will continue as individuals to encourage and support only such measures for the control of liquor in our respective states as will promote temperance, law and order," she said.

CANADA VISIONS REPEAL AS LOSS OF TOURIST CASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 8.—Arrival of a wet era in the United States imparted the final blow to Canada's hopes of a restoration of the former years of boom tourist travel, when millions of Americans crossed the border for a drink and spent many millions of dollars here each year.

There was also the fear that high liquor prices that have prevailed in Canada may now be forced lower by prospective cheaper prices in the United States.

The only bright spot was the opening of a market for large quantities of distilled liquors held in bond here.

PROHIBITION IS NOT REPEALED FOR THE NAVY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Although an effort will be made to legalize the sale and consumption of light wines and beers on the vessels of the United States navy, the opinion is general in naval circles that the famous Josephus Daniels order of June 1, 1914, which made the American sea service the only "bone dry navy" in the world, will continue the law of the navy.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson was asked today what would be the effect of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment on the navy and his answer was that he did not think it would have any effect.

Under the rigid Daniels order, which is famous in the navy as "general order 99," the use or introduction "for drinking purposes" of alcoholic liquors on board any naval vessel, or within any navy yard or station, is strictly prohibited. Commanders are held "directly responsible" for the enforcement of the order.

WETS FORESEE SOBER U. S.; DRYS A TRAGIC ERA

Predict Revival of Old Prohibition Party.

With the eighteenth amendment voted out, both wet and dry leaders yesterday addressed themselves to the future, prophesying good or evil and planning courses of action. The drys called repeal a "tragic error" and predicted a "tragic era," while the wets foresaw a serene and sober nation, united in the cause of temperance.

Edward J. Blake, chairman of the national prohibition committee, said the drys had been thrown out of both major political parties and were flocking back to the old Prohibition party.

"That's where they belong," said Col. Ira L. Reeves, who recently resigned as regional director of the militantly wet Crusaders after their objective had been achieved.

Drunkenness or Temperance.

A "tragic era" of drunkenness, automobile wrecks, unemployment and deaths from alcoholism was predicted by the Woman's Christian Temperance union. But Ralph M. Shaw, Illinois chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said the trend from now on would be toward temperance.

"The drys recognize that in order to continue the fight for national prohibition they must unite in a party of their own," said Chairman Blake of the prohibition committee. "This exodus of the drys from the major parties is now in progress. They are getting together in their own party, the Prohibition party, which is being made to function in an effective manner. Nonpartisan methods having failed, the drys will now adopt partisan methods and keep the liquor question in politics until it is settled right."

Discuss Future Plans Today.

The future plans of the W. C. T. U. will be discussed in Evanston today, when the six national officers hold their fiscal year meeting. A dinner for Mrs. Ida B. Smith, new national president, will follow. An official statement called upon the "moral forces of the country to mobilize in a campaign of education."

"In our opinion," the statement continued, "there is no doubt about the saloon coming back. It is here now. After repeal there will be more liquor consumed, more drunkenness, more deaths from automobile accidents and more deaths from alcoholism. More men will be unemployed because they will be unemployable through drink. More money will be taken from the family housekeeping budgets and spent on liquor. Good sportsmanship demanded a continuance of prohibition. Its repeal was a surrender to wet propaganda."

Col. Reeves said the fight in the future would be along educational lines.

JAPAN WARNS U. S. OF 'WILD ACCUSATIONS' BY SOVIET MINISTER

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman expressed the opinion today that "Americans are too wise to be influenced" in the present Russo-American negotiations at Washington "by such wild and baseless accusations" as those voiced by Vyacheslaff Molotov, president of the soviet council of foreign commissars.

Speaking in Moscow at a meeting celebrating the sixteenth anniversary of the soviet union, Molotov asserted "events in Manchuria show that treaties and contracts between the U. S. S. R. and Manchuria and Japan have not been kept.

"Further, the Japanese press becomes increasingly more insolent in publishing plans for the annexation of Siberia," he said. "While we are striving to keep friendly relations everywhere, we shall continue as in the last year to strengthen the Red army in the far east."

TAMMANY VENTS WRATH OF LOSER ON FARLEY GROUP

Turns Guns on Roosevelt and Farley.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—While the Republicans were rejoicing over their capture of the mayoralty and control of the board of estimate in yesterday's avalanche of votes, Tammany hall took the offensive tonight in an internecine "war to the knife" with the Roosevelt-Democratic faction headed by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Without waiting for an expected demand that he relinquish the leadership of Tammany, Boss John F. Curry rushed forth with a counter demand that Farley be replaced as Democratic state chairman. Curry accused Farley of "disrupting the Democratic party in this city" by supporting Joseph V. McKee and making possible the election of Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican, by a plurality of 262,431 over McKee and of 272,451 over Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate.

Imperils Lehman Next Year.

Curry maintained that Tammany, with its salvage of some county offices, will be able to carry on, but he warned that Gov. Herbert Lehman may face defeat next year unless Farley "and those in concert with him" step out of the picture. Farley's chief "concerter," besides Mr. McKee himself, was Edward J. Flynn, secretary of state and Bronx Democratic leader, who broke a ten year alliance with Tammany to help Farley try to put over McKee.

Curry had nothing to say directly about former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who refused to speak for O'Brien, but there were some who thought that Curry's shaft at Farley and Flynn and McKee was broad enough to embrace Smith.

In any event the Republicans were not only in the position of election conquerors tonight, but they were chuckling over the schism in the Democratic party, which may result in giving them the governorship and may have wide influence upon the presidential race in 1936. Certainly La Guardia's smashing victory, capture of control of the board of estimate, and the increasing of Republican control of the state assembly, gave the Republicans ample reason for their greatest jubilation in 20 years.

Fortifies G. O. P. in State.

For in their victories, the Republicans had not only defeated both Tammany hall and the Roosevelt-Farley forces in New York City, but they had won their battle to prevent the legislature from passing into the hands of the New Deal. Farley's tour of the state and pleas for a Democratic legislature to support Gov. Lehman and President Roosevelt, had gone for naught.

The state situation, as well as the routing of Tammany in New York City, fanned the fires of warfare between Boss Curry and Chairman Farley. Curry blamed Farley for the split which he said enabled the Republicans to gain eleven assembly seats from New York City and thus offset an upstate loss of four seats, leaving them with 84 Republican assemblymen against 66 Democrats. And Farley blamed Curry's leadership, declaring that a New Deal was required in the city. Farley returned to Washington tonight without making any further comment, or answering Curry's jibes.

The Curry statement was plain and to the point. "The election shows clearly that New York remains a Democratic city," the statement said. "It took the efforts of the chairmen of the national and state committees to disrupt Democracy, not only by causing the loss of the city-wide ticket but by turning the control of the assembly over to the Republicans.

"For that action he and those who acted with him can not remain in office if the party is to look for victory in the state and congressional elections next fall. The Democracy of New York county remains in control of the Democrats who were true to the ideals of the party and best interests of the city. It has watched every Fusion group come and go, and I predict that this one will follow the same path.

"In the meantime, the Democrats in office will serve as the balance wheel against the excesses of those who, through a pronounced minority among the voters, came into power by yesterday's election. In any project that will make for the public good, the newly elected city officials will have the support of the Democrats of New York county. We shall, with unity and courage, go forward to victory next year."

Schism May Continue.

Observers were predicting tonight that Farley will not be able to oust Curry as Tammany chief and Curry will fail to oust Farley as state chairman. Farley is expected to have the support of most of the sub-leaders in Brooklyn, although John H. McCooey may remain in power. And Tammany is not at all popular upstate, where Farley can claim a gain of four seats in the legislature. On the other hand, Curry elected most of his county ticket, and retained the Manhattan borough presidency and district attorneyship. Curry will have only two of 16 votes in the board of estimate, but the Farley-McKee-Flynn forces will have only one vote—that of the Bronx borough president.

While the conflict between Curry and Farley was raging, Mayor-elect La Guardia announced that when he takes office on Jan. 1 he will set about to give the city an economical administration. Among his first tasks will be charter revision, financial rehabilitation of the almost bankrupt city, and an effort to reopen the 1934 budget, in order to trim it down. During the day he conferred with William D. Chadbourne, his campaign manager, and Samuel Seabury, his fusionist backer.

A sudden series of post-election gambling raids in the Broadway district tumbled 62 prisoners into police headquarters today and tonight. Police, as a coincidence, showed new found enthusiasm the day after Tammany was beaten.

INDIANA BEER, WINE ARE SCHEDULED TO CARRY MORE ALCOHOL

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Immediate effect in Indiana of repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be the stepping up of alcoholic content of beers and wines and freer sale of whiskies and other hard liquors.

Alcoholic contents of beer will be around 4 to 4½ per cent, and heavier malt beverages such as ale, porter, and stout will be on the market, with alcoholic contents ranging up to 7 and 8 per cent.

Whisky and other spiritous liquors such as gin, brandy, and rum no longer will be medicines and the thirsty need not buy prescriptions to obtain hard liquors. Little 3.2 wine has been sold in Indiana. But druggists have sold some high powered liquor via prescription.

Distribution of alcoholic beverages will undergo little change in the state, according to present indications. Beer will continue to be sold through the state licensed system of breweries, importers, wholesalers, and retailers as it has since spring.

The method of selling hard liquor appears to be the only question in doubt. Gov. Paul V. McNutt has announced that he will appoint a nonpartisan commission to advise with the state excise director, Paul Fry, in working out a plan of hard liquor distribution.

CAROLINAS DRY BECAUSE WETS DID NOT WORK

Anti-Repealists Labored in Advance of Election.

BY TALBOT PATRICK.

Goldsboro, N. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—North Carolinians today were beginning to explain how their state denied repeal by a two to one vote, a result that flabbergasted dry as well as wet leaders.

From the sister state to the south, where the dry cause won by a much narrower margin, results were ascribed to the same causes.

The drys worked. The wets did not.

For months dry leaders have worked on a double front so that North Carolina might break the parade of states voting for repeal. They organized by religious groups and they organized by precincts along the usual lines of political organizations.

And on the 7th Day They Preached.

They held meetings six days a week and on the seventh day the preachers preached. They canvassed weeks in advance of the election day. They were obtaining signatures to written pledges to vote dry. They sent out letters. They flooded newspapers with prohibition letters for publication in their open forums and they brought in reports of their meetings in search of publicity in the news columns. In some localities, the aid of school teachers was enlisted.

Meanwhile the wets sat around in comfort and talked about how big a majority they would have. Their figures were based on the defeat of the dry Senator Cameron Morrison by the wet young present senator, Robert Reynolds, in the Democratic primary a year and a half ago. Apparently they did not remember that the Morrison support of Hoovercrat Frank McNinch for appointment on the U. S. power commission and other actions had antagonized a people quick to take offense.

Register All the Women.

And the dry forces registered women who had never voted before, older women and good church women. They talked of the saloon which North Carolina has not seen since it went dry in 1908. They denied the existence of corn likker drinking among the young people who were born about the time those saloons were closed.

Wet leaders failed to take the alarm until a couple of weeks before the election. Then it was too late. They held a few meetings. Postmaster General Jim Farley came to the state capital, delivered an appeal for support of Roosevelt's repeal plank, shook a lot of hands, but did not make the impression he would have made if the people of the state had felt themselves heading for a neck and neck election.

On election day, scarcely a dry vote but what was cast and counted.

"It looked as if all the women were voting," said a man whose place of business is next to a polling place.

"The typical voter was a plump woman in a black coat," said a politician, who was watching the polls because he wants to be reëlected to the office he now holds.

CALLS ON PRESIDENT TO GIVE PARDONS TO DRY LAW VIOLATORS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—In a letter addressed to President Roosevelt Representative O'Malley [Dem., Wis.] today suggested commutation of the sentences of all first offense prisoners convicted since Nov. 8, 1932, of violation of the prohibition laws.

O'Malley said he made the suggestion, in the light of yesterday's vote on repeal, as a means of saving the nation thousands of dollars in prison maintenance expense. He estimated at $5 a day the cost of keeping each prisoner.

"In Milwaukee county, Wis., alone the federal government has been paying around $700 a week for the maintenance of federal prisoners in county institutions," O'Malley said.

HOPES FOR DEATH PENALTY.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The state was seeking a jury qualified to inflict the death penalty today for the trial of Frank Barris, restaurant cook, accused of murdering Mrs. Anna Trenary last June. Barris told authorities he had carried on an illicit romance with Mrs. Trenary.

VIEWS ON REPEAL OF 3 WICKERSHAM COMMISSIONERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—A call for temperance after repeal and for barred doors against the old saloon comes from members of the once mighty Wickersham commission.

Three members were unanimous today in writing to the Associated Press that plucking the 18th amendment from the constitution offered fresh opportunity to solve the liquor problem.

Low liquor taxes to drive out bootleggers, local option, government manufacture of liquor and control of sales were recommended.

Out of the experience garnered during its most extensive study and tempered by events since the commission's split report, here are some of the commission opinions:

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, said: "Combat evils which flow from intoxicating liquor through education and character building."

Frank J. Loesch said: "Give the public a legal right to purchase what they wish to consume."

Henry W. Anderson said: "It is necessary that certain aspects of the problems of state regulations be controlled by the federal government, leaving to the states discretion within their borders."

I lost 36 lbs.—gained pep

Mrs. Kathryn Bargeon

New Battle Creek Reducing Treatment

"My friend, Mrs. Edwards of Flint, Michigan, lost 57 pounds taking BonKora. So I tried it, too. I lost 36 pounds in 8 weeks. BonKora also gave me splendid health. I got rid of that tired feeling."—Mrs. Kathryn Bargeon, 17275 Trinity Street, Detroit, Michigan.

Now here also is a letter from Mrs. Edwards:

"I have lost 57 pounds, thanks to BonKora. I wear dresses 6 sizes smaller. Dizzy spells have ended too, and I feel always full of pep. I have recommended BonKora to all stout friends."—Mrs. Mary Edwards, 519 E. Russell Ave., Flint, Michigan.

That's how the news about BonKora spreads. One woman uses it. Loses her fat; gains new health; looks years younger. Her fat friends become envious and take BonKora, too. One woman writes that 10 friends took BonKora after seeing how it reduced her.

Lose fat. Get rid of tired feeling. Take BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment.

Eat Big Meals, See Fat Go Quick—Or Pay Nothing

Don't be fat any longer. Take BonKora, the new, safe Battle Creek Reducing Treatment.

People write that other methods failed to reduce them. Then BonKora took off their fat quickly. Some lost 15 to 30 pounds in 3 to 5 weeks. Others who were very stout lost 50 to 70 pounds. They gained new health, too. Got rid of tired feeling.

Why You Lose Fat Quick

BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment, takes off fat new "3-stage" way. Triple action, triple speed. That is also why it has reduced fat even when other methods failed.

Lose fat all over if you wish. Or if you are just fat in certain parts, shoulders, bust or hips, the heaviest parts reduce fastest. Then you can stop if you don't want to reduce elsewhere.

Don't starve. Just take BonKora and EAT BIG MEALS of non-fattening foods you like as explained in BonKora package.

No dangerous drugs in BonKora. In fact, the treatment builds health while reducing fat the quickest way. Many say they look years younger since they lost their fat this healthful way.

WOMAN POINTS OUT KILLERS AT SLAYING TRIAL

Describes the Murder of Policeman.

Two alleged police killers were identified yesterday before Judge Charles P. Molthrop in the Criminal court by a woman owner of a delicatessen shop who described the slaying of Policeman William D. Lundy.

Mrs. Vera Walush, owner of the shop at 4312 South Ashland avenue, testified that Policeman Lundy came into the store Dec. 9, 1932. It was a cold day and he stood near the stove to warm his hands, she said. Then he went into the rear room and was playing with Mrs. Walush's baby when two bandits entered the shop.

Mrs. Walush pointed out the defendants, Joseph Majczek, 24 years old, and Theodore Marcinkiewicz, 26 years old, as the two bandits. They shouted, "This is a stickup," three times before she understood them, Mrs. Walush said.

Rush Into Kitchen.

"Then they pushed their way into the kitchen," the witness continued. "When they went through the door, Majczek saw the policeman and hollered, 'Hey, cop,' and went over to him. They told the policeman to 'stick 'em up,' but the policeman grabbed Majczek with one hand and with the other reached for his gun.

"Both the bandits then drew their guns and fired. The policeman fell to the floor and the robbers ran out."

Mrs. Walush insisted she could not be mistaken in her identification. She said she had known Marcinkiewicz for a month and had seen him three or four times in that period. Defense Attorney James M. Burke attempted to shake her identification by suggesting that she had confused Marcinkiewicz with some other person.

The state's next witness, Mrs. Bessie Barron, 1825 West 45th street, testified that Marcinkiewicz had come to her store a month before the slaying and told her he knew Mrs. Walush had $1,500 in her place. "I'm going to make that joint within a month," she quoted him as telling her.

John Zagata, 4316 South Marshfield avenue, a witness for the state, who failed to appear at the opening of the trial Tuesday, yesterday came in with the explanation that he had not known when his services would be needed. Zatata, a coal truck driver, testified that he had been talking to Policeman Lundy just before the murder.

"It was getting pretty dark outside," he testified, "so I can't be sure that these are the two men who did the shooting."

Butcher Is Convicted.

Before a jury in Judge Benjamin Epstein's court yesterday Bernard Ledeaux, 27 years old, who for three years has served customers in his meat market at 4822½ Armitage avenue, was convicted of robbery. Posing as a respectable merchant during the day, Ledeaux at night associated with a gang which obtained $3,000 loot in 22 holdups within six weeks.

Eight prison sentences yesterday brought to 549 the number of criminals sentenced since the beginning of the campaign against crime. Those sentenced were:

HARRY ALLEN, 24 year old, colored, sentenced by Judge Epstein to life imprisonment for the murder on March 8 of Joseph Martin, 29 years old, 4724 Prairie avenue, also colored.

CLEMENT LANGFORD, 23 years old, sentenced to serve one to twenty years by Judge Donald S. McKinlay for the theft of an automobile Sept. 20.

CASIMIR LIPMAN, 20 years old, sentenced to serve from one year to life for the burglary of a delicatessen store owned by John Zarkanskas at 1957 West 23d street on July 13, following a bench trial before Judge McKinlay.

EDWARD MORRIS, 24 years old, colored, sentenced by Judge McKinlay to serve from one to fourteen years for manslaughter in connection with the death of Pompie Jackson, colored, on Oct. 30, 1932.

PRESTON BALLARD, 25 years old, sentenced by Judge Joseph B. David to serve from one to ten years on a charge of robbing Nitora Aso, 27 East Harrison street, of $40 on July 13.

LEO WINCHELL, 32 years old, sentenced to serve from one to ten years, by Judge Michael Feinberg on a charge of passing worthless checks for $400 on George Betinis, 2131 South 48th avenue, Cicero, on July 3.

CHARLES PRICE, 18 years old, sentenced to serve from one to twenty years by Judge James F. Fardy on a charge of robbing Olive Paine, 6445 South Parkway, of her automobile on Sept. 6.

MICHAEL NUDO, 32 years old, sentenced by Judge Fardy to serve from one year to life for robbing Mrs. Sarah Shields, 2436 East 77th place, of $38, on June 8.

A jury in Judge Francis B. Allegretti's court last evening freed George Soder after a policeman and his wife had identified the defendant as the robber, who, with several other men, held up the Realty Management company offices at 3314 Milwaukee avenue last March 1. The witnesses, Policeman Thomas C. Gainer, 4728 Addison street, and his wife, Martha, were in the real estate office at the time of the holdup.

INDIANA HOLDS "FUR" SAMMONS AS BANK ROBBER

Refuses to Give Him Up to Illinois.

James [Fur] Sammons, who has enjoyed comparative immunity from Illinois justice, will taste the rigors of Indiana's courts, according to a decision yesterday by Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Ind. The Hoosier state will not release the gangster for trial in other states, the state's attorney announced.

Three states, in addition to Indiana, want the man who is known as a machine gun executioner for the Capone gang. Maryland and Wisconsin asked for him on charges of robbery and murder and Illinois put in a claim based on his complicity in the International Harvester robbery of 1926.

Will Balk Extradition.

"I think Sammons has played a part in the 38 bank robberies in Indiana in the last year," said Prosecutor Estill.

All pleas for extradition of Sammons to other states will be denied the state's attorney declared, until the Indiana charges against him are fully investigated. Maryland will be given a preference for the custody of Sammons if Indiana decides not to prosecute him, Mr. Estill said. Sammons is wanted in Maryland on a robbery charge.

"Witnesses will be brought to Crown Point to look at Sammons and if he is identified as a bank robber, he will certainly be held in this state for trial," said State's Attorney Estill. "Chicago has not a chance of getting the man, at least not on the showing it has made to date. It has had him up there for a long time and has never done much to him. It let him go on bond a few months ago after getting him from Kansas City and it is possible that he would be set free again if sent back to Illinois for trial."

Suspected in Prison Escape.

Prosecutor Estill said he believed Sammons assisted in the escape of ten convicts from the state prison at Michigan City.

The state's attorney said that representatives of a number of insurance companies which have been hit by the epidemic of bank holdups in Indiana would view Sammons in the showups. Even if the gangster is not linked with any of these robberies, he will be tried upon the seven charges placed against him when he was arrested on Monday night. These charges include assault with a deadly weapon, carrying concealed weapons, receiving stolen goods, and attempted bribery.

Trophy Recovered

Loyola university freshmen yesterday defeated their traditional enemies—the sophomores—in the school's annual push ball contest by a score of 2 to 0. It was the second time the frosh had won the class rush in the last six years. The sophomores sought revenge by stealing the trophy of the contest—a small, maroon colored beer keg—but the freshmen soon recovered it after a hand to hand encounter on the roof of an apartment building adjacent to the campus at Sheridan road and Loyola avenue. In celebration of the victory Dan Ronan, president of the freshman class, was wheeled about the campus and out into Sheridan road in a wheelbarrow by Bill Spoerl, sophomore president.

Detective's Shot Grazes Policeman in Squad Car

Sergt. John Hanrahan was grazed by a bullet yesterday when the brand new unmarked squad car in which he was pursuing a hoodlum car was fired on by two plain-clothes policemen at Lincoln street and Chicago avenue. Detectives Barth Walsh and James O'Connell of the Racine avenue station were standing at the corner when they saw the two cars flash past. Walsh supposed both to be driven by fugitives and fired at the second one. The bullet lodged in the shoulder of Hanrahan's overcoat. The hoodlums escaped.

57TH WEDDING DAY.

Geneseo, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hoover will celebrate their 57th wedding anniversary in their home tomorrow. Mr. Hoover was in the dairy business in Geneseo many years before he retired a few years ago.

GETS 30 DAYS FOR THREATENING TRIAL WITNESS

Robert J. Mautner, 34 years old, a ticket broker under indictment on the charge of embezzlement, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail for contempt of court in threatening a witness against him yesterday afternoon. The sentence was imposed by Judge Joseph B. David, before whom Mautner was to appear for trial.

Mautner is charged with withholding $340 from the sale of tickets for a Windy City Motorcycle club meet at Cary last summer. Ernest Schmidt, secretary-treasurer of the club and a complaining witness, told the judge he had been threatened by Mautner in an elevator on his way to the courtroom.

The judge summoned Frank Serior, operator of the elevator, who testified that Mautner said to Schmidt, "If you go in and testify against me I'll kill you and that goes for the rest of the witnesses, too." Mautner offered no defense and Judge David imposed sentence immediately, sending the embezzlement case to the chief justice for reassignment.

Woman Adviser to U. S. Attorney Here Retires

Miss Mary C. Whelan yesterday announced her retirement as a special assistant United States attorney general advising the district attorney's office here regarding narcotic cases. Miss Whelan, who was the only woman legal adviser in the country, will take up the private practice of law in her home town, Beloit, Wis., beginning Dec. 1. She had been in the government service since 1921.

BEHAVIORISM AND SCIENCE IS THEME OF DR. HERRICK

Dr. C. Judson Herrick, professor of neurology at the University of Chicago, discussed the position of modern science in respect to behaviorism, determinism and free will in a lecture at Thorne hall on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university last night. The lecture was the fifth in a series on contemporary thought.

Next week Dr. C. H. Behre, head of the geology department, and Dr. A. J. Todd, head of the sociology department of Northwestern university, will engage in a dialogue on natural law and human society. Dr. Earl Dean Howard, deputy administrator of the NRA, may arrive in the city to participate in the discussion.

Other lectures to follow will be given by Col. R. R. McCormick, Philip F. La Follette, Ald. John Massen, Norman Thomas, Dean Ralph E. Heilman, and Donald R. Richberg.

34 COMPANIES TO BE HONORED FOR SAFETY RECORD

Thirty-four Chicago companies which have made an especially good showing in preventing accidents among their employes during the last year will receive recognition at the annual fall dinner of the Chicago Safety council in the Hotel La Salle tonight.

To the fourteen concerns standing first in their respective groups in the interplant accident prevention contest the council will award plaques. S. M. Havens will make the presentations. To the twenty concerns first in their groups in the interfleet drivers' safety contest other plaques will be presented by Joseph X. Galvin.

Judge Lee E. Skeel of the Common Pleas court at Cleveland will speak on "The Social Consequences of Accidents." A musical program will be given at the dinner by the Chicago and North Western Railroad Choral club.

CUBA IS SHAKEN BY NEW REVOLT; MANY ARE SLAIN

Day Long Battle Rages; Rebels Take 3 Forts.

Camp Columbia, headquarters for the air forces and also for Col. Batista, revolted with the opening of the air attack on the palace. When THE TRIBUNE correspondent arrived at the scene at 5 o'clock the 440 acre camp already resembled a battlefield. Batista's men were lined up on one side, separated from the rebel forces by some 600 yards of "no man's land." There they battled for seven solid hours without a truce even to rescue wounded and dying.

Eye Witness Description.

Machine guns, rifles and 75 millimeter guns roared. The ground trembled and the air was full of bursting shells and whistling bullets. Men shouted and cursed as they advanced or retreated. They cried in agony when struck by bullets, with no chance of rescue.

Both sides took positions behind barracks which were built by Gen. Fitzhugh Lee during the first American intervention under Gen. Leonard Wood in 1899-02. At 10 a. m. Col. Batista and his men had been forced to retreat outside the limits of the camp.

The rebels lost two planes which were brought down in flames by anti-aircraft guns. Some 900 cavalrymen, fully equipped, came up from Matanzas province, to the east of Havana, to reinforce Batista's men. At 11 o'clock he had girded his thinned flanks and began a terrific counter attack, which recovered the lost ground and finally forced the rebels to surrender shortly after noon.

Other Garrisons Join Move.

During the day the garrisons at San Ambrosio, where the general army administration is located, and at Cuartel Dragones [Dragoons' barracks], in the heart of Havana, together with Atares fortress revolted.

Thus the rebels commanded all quarters of the city at one time. This gave them an opportunity to seize the police headquarters, a block and a half from the palace, and five police stations throughout the city, including that commanding the entrance from the west near Almendares bridge separating Havana from the suburb of Marianao and Camp Columbia.

At 1 p. m. Col. Batista, after recapturing Camp Columbia, started what he announced by radio as his "triumphal march to Havana to reconquer the positions still in rebel hands." He plowed his way under vicious sniping to the capital and first captured the police station commanding Almendares bridge head after a battle lasting half an hour. The station was virtually demolished.

BATTLES REBELS

Meantime Col. Juan Blas Hernandez, one of the guerrilla chiefs, led a terrific cannon and machine gun fire on the palace from the police headquarters.

Batista Saves the Day.

Col. Batista arrived just in time to save Grau from capitulating. Batista with two armored tanks led a successful attack on the police headquarters, his 75 millimeter guns spattering the façade of the building until it was unrecognizable.

Col. Batista then marched his men down the Prado to the San Ambrosio and Dragones barracks.

Batista's men after five attempts failed to take the fortresses, where a total of 1,500 soldiers and ABC partisans, most of them between 16 and 20 years old, remained barricaded and armed to the teeth.

Col. Batista's ultimatum to the rebels to surrender at 7 o'clock was flatly rejected.

Realizing the gravity of the situation, Batista ordered fire to cease, but entrenched positions surrounding the rebels were maintained. He then negotiated the armistice, affording the government an opportunity to consider the rebel threats and take the necessary precautions before deciding whether hostilities were to be resumed with the expiration of the armistice.

Before the armistice was agreed upon the 6-inch gun battery of Atares fortress had fired fifteen broadsides on the gunboats Cuba and Patria, silencing their fire.

Large dents were visible in the ships' sides and the decks were seriously damaged. The casualties aboard the warships were not learned.

ILLINOIS RELIEF BILLS READY FOR HORNER TO SIGN

Senate Acts on House Changes; Delays End.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Legislative enactment of the administration's 30 million dollar winter charity plan was completed today by the state senate. By a two-thirds vote it concurred in amendments attached to the program by the house of representatives. The six Graham bills now are ready for Gov. Horner's signature.

The senate's final task was made possible by the frequently criticised practice of "ghost voting." The affirmative votes of four absent senators, at their requests, were recorded by unanimous consent. Members of the minority waived their rights to object and prevent such voting.

Would Close Session.

Their explanations were that the refusal of unanimous consent merely would prolong the special session, that either tomorrow or next week the presence of 34 votes could be obtained for the amendments, that further opposition would mean only the waste of time and money.

This vote wound up the work of the special session, except for some minor bills to be considered by the senate tomorrow morning. One of these is a house bill authorizing certain downstate sanitary districts to make temporary conveyances of property to the federal government in exchange for loans from the public works administration.

This action will take only a few minutes. The special session, having struggled through six weeks over the relief problem, will adjourn sine die.

Horner's call for a second special session primarily to enact liquor legislation is expected in a few days.

The four senators whose votes were cast upon their telegraphic requests to Lieut. Gov. Donovan as president of the senate were the following: Richard J. Barr, Republican, Joliet; Harry C. Boeke, Democrat, Freeport; Wallace Karraker, Democrat, Jonesboro; Roy C. Woods, Republican, Chicago.

The roll call, however, showed that these votes were not necessary. The official vote, including this quartet, was 38 to 5. If the four "ghosts" had not been recorded, the majority still would have had the two-thirds of 34. Since the bills were passed by the senate on Oct. 18, four senators had swung over. They were the following: Carl Behrman, Democrat, Peoria; Wilber H. Hickman, Democrat, Paris; Martin B. Lohmann, Democrat, Pekin; James C. Mayor, Democrat, La Harpe.

The argument that prevailed with the hostile minority was that there was no use delaying an unavoidable outcome.

ANOTHER SENTENCED TO A CELL IN DRIVE ON RELIEF CHEATING

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission's drive against relief cheaters yesterday resulted in a sentence of six months in the Bridewell and a $25 fine for John Histen, 33 years old, 6250 Harper avenue. Histen is owner of the Curd Nube Machine company with offices at 117 West Lake street. Testimony showed that he had a bank account of $990 on the day after he asked for aid.

Histen was sentenced by Judge Leon Edelman and ordered to return the $27.39 worth of relief orders he got through misrepresentation. Judge Edelman denied the plea of Histen's attorney, Frank M. Moore, for probation.

"This man came to the county asking to be cared for," Judge Edelman said. "Well, we'll care for him. We'll lock him up for six months."

Histen's landlady, Mrs. Josephine McCarthy, testified that he showed her large sums of money and paid his monthly rent of $37.50 the first of every month. Henry J. Reichman, cashier of the Merchants' Bank and Trust company in the Merchandise Mart, testified that Histen opened an account with deposits of $990 last June 17. When Histen applied for relief last June 16 he said he had lost all his money in the closing of the Washington Park National bank.

The prosecution was handled by James A. Peterson, attorney in charge of fraud investigations for the relief commission.

2 CUBAN REBEL FLYERS SAVED IN CRASH AT SEA

Boca Grande, Fla., Nov. 8.—(AP)—A story of a thwarted attempt of airmen to aid in the revolt against the government of President Grau San Martin of Cuba was told here tonight by two Cuban aviators who were landed by the steamer Western Sword after being picked up at sea when their plane was forced down out of fuel.

The flyers, Lieut. Aristides Aguero and his mechanic, Ramon Hernandez, said three Cuban planes took off early this morning from the Columbia aviation field, all heavily armed. Their own plane, they said, carried three machine guns, 1,400 rounds of ammunition, and ten 30 pound bombs. It is at the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico.

The flyers said they left the airport between 2:30 and 3 o'clock this morning. After they had taken off loyal soldiers of the government surrounded the field so the airplanes could not land. They decided then to attempt to fly to the United States. As they came off the Florida Keys in the early dawn their fuel ran out just as they sighted the Western Sword. The plane circled the ship several times, signaling it wanted to land. The Western Sword put out a boat and the plane landed on the water, the aviators jumping out just before the impact.

Lieut. Aguero said the three planes became separated and he had not learned the fate of the other two.

QUICK-FIRE!

For Action... FAST ACTION from cold motors

STANDARD RED CROWN QUICK-FIRE SUPERFUEL

THE NEW COLD WEATHER GASOLINE

Illustration above is from actual war photograph —37 mm. gun in action during advance—1918

You need a special gasoline—a snappier, livelier-starting gasoline—if you're going to get quick response from your motor now that cold weather's on tap. And here it is, the fastest starting gasoline ever offered by Standard. In "Quick-Fire" Superfuel the amount of highly volatile, quick-firing units has been greatly increased. This increase averages more than 50%. That gives you summer performance even in mid-winter driving. Yet it still sells at the price of regular.

Try it—fill your tank at the Standard Red Crown pump now. Then, on the next snappy morning, see how it does warm up a cold motor.

STILL THE COMPLETE SUPERFUEL

Some "regular" gasolines may equal Standard Red Crown "Quick-Fire" Superfuel in one or two qualities—none surpasses it. And we believe that not one equals it in all the essentials of good gasoline.

1. Unsurpassed in starting—quick warm-up. 2. 70 Octane—top anti-knock in its price class. 3. Free from harmful sulphur and gum. 4. Accurately adjusted for seasonal variations. 5. Always uniform everywhere. 6. Fresher because of Standard's popularity. 7. Sells at the price of regular.

LINCOLN PARK PAYS $500,000 TO EMPLOYES

Salaries Brought to Oct. 15; Horner Lauds Board

The employés of Lincoln park yesterday received a total of $500,000 in pay checks, representing four and one-half months and bringing them up to Oct. 15. Announcement of the pay day was made at a meeting of the board of commissioners by President A. D. Plamondon.

In Springfield Gov. Horner issued a statement congratulating the Lincoln park board for its efficient management and the economy measures that made possible the payment of back salaries.

Most of 1932 Bills Paid.

"When the board assumed office," said the governor, "salaries had not been paid for five months and there was an accumulation of unpaid bills. Since February the board has paid off bills held over from 1931 and has paid most of the 1932 bills.

"Real progress is being made in placing the park district in a good financial position and by the end of the year it undoubtedly will be one of the few taxing bodies in Cook county that will not have issued notes in anticipation of the collection of 1933 taxes."

Reduce Injured Policemen's Pay.

The board yesterday instructed its counsel, Attorney James Slattery, to prepare a resolution limiting the compensation to be paid to policemen injured on duty to the amount of their present salary. Under the present regulations the policemen receive 75 per cent of their 1931 salary ($200 a month) from the park policemen's benefit fund and 25 per cent from the park board plus $10 a month for each child. It was pointed out at the meeting that under this arrangement it is possible for an injured policeman to draw $250 a month, assuming he has five children, while the present salary is only $180.

GET MORE BIDS ON STATE ROADS WITH U. S. HELP

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Bids on twenty PWA projects, to be constructed by this state with federal funds, were received today by the state highway department.

This is the third set of bids on United States public works administration projects held by the state. A total of $17,700,000 has been granted to Illinois.

Including the cost of cement, today's projects would involve the expenditure of $904,837.41. They call for the construction of 6.94 miles paving, 2.53 miles bituminous retread surface highways, 28.44 miles of gravel highway, and two bridge sections.

The probable low bidders, the nature and extent of the work follow:

ROUTE 1—0.97 mile of paving on Vincennes avenue from South State street to west 75th street, Chicago; Arcole Construction company, Niles Center ,$125,455.86.

ROUTE 1—0.79 mile of paving on Vincennes avenue from West 75th street to west 81st street, Chicago; Arcole Construction company of Niles Center, $94,699.66.

ROUTE 1—0.84 mile of paving on Vincennes avenue from West 81st street to South Halsted street, Chicago; Arcole Construction company, Niles Center, $98,855.01.

ROUTE 1—1.16 miles of paving on South State street from 60th to 68th streets and on 60th street from State street to Michigan avenue, Chicago; Arcole Construction company, Niles Center, $132,400.

ROUTE 42 A—1.46 miles paving on Harlem avenue from Foster avenue to Irving Park boulevard, west of Chicago; Universal Paving company of Oak Park, $87,857.10.

ROUTE 57—0.55 mile of paving on Cicero avenue, from Elston avenue to Wilson avenue, in Chicago; Arcole Construction company, Niles Center, $35,721.70.

Considerable winter work will be provided by the projects.

Cobbler Dies in Chair for Killing State Official

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Andreacy R. Kurachinsky, 52, a cobbler, was put to death in the electric chair at the New Jersey state prison here tonight for the murder of Recorder James D. Mackay of Lambertville. The recorder was shot to death last July while questioning Kurachinsky about an alleged attack upon a 9 year old girl in his shoe repair shop.

HORNER RETAINS TWO G. O. P. MEN IN STATE JOBS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Some surprise was expressed by members of the state senate today when Gov. Henry Horner, without giving out any advance information, submitted for confirmation a list of appointments including the naming of two Emmerson Republicans to important posts.

Archie L. Bowen, superintendent of charities under the last Republican administration and acting director of public welfare since the resignation of Rodney H. Brandon, now on the state welfare board, was appointed to the directorship. Charles Herrick Hammond, state architect under Emmerson, whose position was shifted to the department of public works and buildings when the department of purchases and construction was abolished, was given full title to his office by regular appointment as architect under the new arrangement.

Gov. Horner, when told that some members of his party were surprised by the Bowen and Hammond appointments, said they were both "temporary" until he can "find their successors."

The confirmations included the following from Chicago and vicinity: [Some of these involved reconfirmation, because of reorganized departments.] James D. Marnane, Illinois Commerce commission; William J. Walsh, superintendent of the budget; Emil T. Rank, River Forest, superintendent of printing; Horace I. Lepman, supervisor of foods and dairies; Timothy J. Kiley, chief grain inspector; Martin P. Durkin, director of labor; John C. Weigel, fiscal supervisor department of public welfare; Courtney Scobell, supervisor of lodging house inspectors; Ernest Palmer, Evanston, director department of insurance.

The following Chicagoans were named on state boards: Welfare—W. G. Walling, Chicago; Alfred C. Meyer, Highland Park; Agnes Van Driel. Health—Herman N. Bundesen and Walter W. Hamburger.

ILLINOIS AGAIN IGNORED BY ICKES ON EASY MONEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes today doled out almost seven million dollars of easy money to cities and states throughout the country without giving a nickel to Illinois.

Two other Chicagoland states, however, were awarded a total of $261,600 for five projects. Of this total $19,700 went to the state of Indiana for road work.

Although Illinois was ignored today Ickes had several projects from the state awaiting his action. Several Illinois cities have water works and sewerage applications pending and have seen allotments go elsewhere.

At least two huge Chicago projects are awaiting Ickes' decision. One is the fast fading application for 112 millions with which to finish the Chicago sanitary district construction. The other is for funds to complete the outer drive bridge.

BOARD TO SEEK LIQUOR REVENUE TO AID SCHOOLS

Excise Tax on Tobacco Is Suggested.

The school board yesterday adopted a resolution petitioning the legislature to give liquor revenue to the school systems of the state.

The resolution, introduced by Trustee Charles Fry and amended by Trustee Joseph P. Savage, also suggested an excise tax on tobacco to go into school coffers, and the diversion of other tax and license fees to the school funds, to make up the loss of general property taxes due to falling real estate values.

Introducing his resolution, Trustee Fry pointed out that the 25 per cent reduction in 1932 real estate assessments has reduced sharply the amount of revenue which the board will be able to appropriate for 1934.

"We should ask the legislature for revenue from license taxes, gasoline taxes, race tracks, or any other source," he said. "Unless we get four or five millions more than we can get from the general property tax for 1934 we will be obliged to do something in our budget which every one in town will be sorry for."

Source of Revenue Limited.

"I believe," said Trustee Savage, "that we have reached the point in our educational activities where further reductions will handicap the children attending our schools. But we receive only so much money. The board of education is the only government which has no substantial source of revenue except the general property taxes.

"It is our duty to point out now that we won't receive sufficient money for the schools to function next year. The legislature is the only body which can help us and it should receive this information while it is in session. This situation does not apply only in Chicago. Every school system in the state is short of revenue this year.

Tobacco Tax Suggested.

"Some people may throw up their hands at mention of liquor in connection with children, but why not use revenue from this source to maintain the schools. We might also get a tax on tobacco. With liquor and tobacco revenue combined I believe we might get along without a general property tax.

"It was for revenue to balance the national and local budgets that prohibition was repealed. We have as much right to make a claim to that revenue as anybody. And if we don't ask for it nobody is going to give it to us."

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan cast the only vote against the motion, saying, "No whisky."

Mrs. Hefferan presented a motion instructing the board's attorneys to take action to collect from the county treasurer that share of the penalties on delinquent taxes which were paid on levies of the school board. Tax penalties have always been considered exclusive revenue of the county government, but the school board's attorneys recently gave an opinion that they should be pro-rated among all taxing bodies.

At the suggestion of Trustee Savage, Mrs. Hefferan agreed to defer action on her motion until the next meeting, to give County Treasurer McDonough's attorney time to answer the demand of the school board for the penalty revenue.

Trustee Ernst Buehler presented a resolution of confidence on President James B. McCahey of the school board, branding as "deliberate misrepresentations" stories "which have appeared in the public prints to the effect that the members of the board of education are dissatisfied with the manner in which the president has administered the duties of his office."

The motion was adopted unanimously, receiving, among others, the vote of Mrs. Hefferan, who has been at odds with the remainder of the board over the school economy program since it was started. Later Mrs. Hefferan explained:

"I voted aye because I thought the resolution had nothing to do with me. I express my opinions on the floor of the board and I am not always in harmony with the president and the other members, but I am delighted at the expression of their harmony."

COUNTY MAY APPEAL FOR TAX RATE BOOST TO BALANCE BUDGET

President Emmett Whealan of the county board indicated yesterday that it may be necessary to ask the legislature to authorize an increase in Cook county's tax rate to balance the 1934 budget. The county needs $18,606,667 for its corporate fund, but it is faced with a deficit of $4,916,156 because of the 25 per cent decrease in 1932 real estate assessments promised by County Assesor J. L. Jacobs.

President Whealan agreed with the statement made previously by Commissioner Peter M. Kelly to the effect that it would be impossible to make up the deficit by cutting the salaries of county employés.

"Employés' salaries are as low now as they can be for a living wage," President Whealan said, "and we shall have to call on public efficiency committees to show us where we can reduce expenditures. If they can't help us, our only recourse is a request to the legislature to raise our tax rate."

The county tax rate for 1934 is 32 cents for every $100 of assessed valuation. The rate is 4 cents higher in even years because of elections occurring in these years.

START MAYOR'S TEACHER RELIEF PLAN NEXT WEEK

Aid to Be Given in Form of Orders.

Mayor Kelly's plan to provide relief for public school teachers whose salaries are in arrears will be placed in effect next week, Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, announced yesterday.

Under the plan teachers will receive, in the form of orders on the relief commission, advances of food, clothing, coal, and rent against assignments of tax warrants at par or future salary payments.

Mayor Kelly made a plea for the teachers, many of whom are virtually destitute, at a meeting of the relief commission attended by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, a week ago.

Since the mayor took office last April the teachers and other school employés have received back pay for five months, $16,500,000 of which was in cash and $4,000,000 in tax warrants. Arrangements are being completed to give them another $4,000,000 of tax warrants as pay for a sixth month—last March.

Mr. Dunham announced that the relief commission would give relief to the teachers directly and not through the Cook county bureau of public welfare, which provides all relief to the idle. A special office to take all teacher applications will be set up in the board of education.

This office will be staffed with former social workers for the school board, who were discharged in the economy program, and by a few employés of the relief commission who are acquainted with its budgetary plan of extending relief. Only orders for relief will be given and no cash will be advanced.

CATCHES RABBIT FEVER.

Litchfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A case of rabbit fever is being treated at the local hospital, Mrs. Teresa Weeks, 48, of Staunton being the victim. She is seriously ill as the result of the infection received a week ago while skinning a rabbit.

FIRE DESTROYS HUNTERS' HOTEL AT INDIAN POINT

The Otis hotel, located at Indian Point, six miles southwest of Antioch, in the western part of Lake county, was burned to the ground early today. A dozen hunters who were staying there and a number of employés were driven out. The Antioch fire department sent equipment to the scene, but was handicapped by lack of water.

Sheriff Lester Tiffany ordered an investigation of the fire. Two weeks ago he said, he investigated an attempt to burn the place. The hotel, owned by Edward Sabarbo, was a landmark and a popular stopping place for summer vacationists and autumn hunters.

Millions are in the same lamentable plight today . . . and not one in ten can guess the cause. That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes . . . be ready and eager for any task . . . experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit sluggish—you say that you're regular as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days!

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Take as directed—one-fifth glass

In four-fifths glass of hot water

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days. Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. Then you will understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

Two sizes—25c and 45c—sealed as at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana.

PLUTO WATER

America's Laxative Mineral Water

Now in Two Forms—PLUTO WATER and FRENCH LICK SALTS

The same essential minerals contained in the famous Pluto Water have now been concentrated into pleasant-tasting, effervescent laxative crystals known as FRENCH LICK SALTS. Effectively clears the system, gives the same healthful benefits as Pluto Water. Try it. At all stores—50c the bottle.

His Stomach Trouble Healed Says Chicago Man

After suffering for four years with stomach troubles which X-Ray pictures showed to be gastric disorders, Andrew Balean, 1619 N. Wood St., Chicago, Ill., reports he was completely healed by a simple home treatment. He says he was one of the worst cases ever and sincerely believes the treatment saved his life. He wants all other sufferers to know about it. Mr. Balean advises all sufferers from gas pains, excess acid, belching, pains after eating, constipation, sour stomach, poor digestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach disorders due to hyperacidity or faulty diet, to try Udga at once. Now we offer the same treatment which produced such splendid results for Mr. Balean to all stomach sufferers on 15 days' trial, with money back if not satisfied. Also testimonials, a sworn affidavit of genuineness and a free book explaining the cause and treatment of various stomach disorders, including stomach ulcers. If you suffer, ask for the $1 no trial treatment today. If it fails to help you we'll give you your dollar back.

WALGREEN DRUG STORES

Rheumatic Happy; Conquers Torture

Specialist's Prescription Stops Pain at Once

So many thousands have found quick relief from the torturing pain of neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago and rheumatism through Nurito that it is now eagerly sought by sufferers everywhere. It was discovered by a famous Specialist noted for the real speed at which his own prescription banishes pains and aches. He has finally been persuaded to place it at the disposal of the general public through Walgreen drug stores everywhere. Nurito contains no opiates or narcotics and is absolutely harmless. If the very first three doses of Nurito do not stop the most intense pain even of many years' standing—your money will be instantly refunded. If you want to feel again the joy of living, banish needless worry that prevents sound sleep, go to Walgreen's now and ask for Nurito, under this money-back guarantee.

SENATE TO PROBE LOAN MADE TO AL SMITH GROUP

Syndicate Borrowing List Given Committee.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Alfred E. Smith, John J. Raskob, and other participants in a syndicate account obtained a loan of $336,000, subsequently enlarged, from the Chase National bank shortly after the stock market crash of 1929, according to information submitted by the bank to the senate banking and currency committee.

The other participants, it was stated, included Arthur Lehman, brother of Gov. Lehman of New York, and William F. Kenny. The syndicate was organized in November, 1929, and managed by William H. English and John J. Raskob. According to the information submitted by the bank the account is still open and a balance of over $600,000 was outstanding last August.

Syndicate Loans Listed.

Details of transactions by the syndicate, and the identity of the stocks in which the syndicate operated, were not given by the bank, but are expected to be developed in subsequent testimony. The information relative to the Smith-Raskob syndicate loan was contained in a list of all syndicate loans that were approved by the board of directors of the Chase National between Jan. 4, 1928, and Aug. 17, 1933. This was furnished by the Chase National at the request of Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel. The list has not yet been made public by the senate committee, but was introduced by Mr. Pecora on Oct. 31.

The list of syndicate loans also showed that Norman H. Davis, ambassador-at-large, figured in a syndicate account which dealt in Seaboard Air-line Railway securities in the fall of 1929. Mr. Davis, however, was not a participant in this account, but acted as a nominee for another participant.

Won't Renew Dawes Bank Quiz.

Proposals that the senate committee inquire into Reconstruction Finance corporation loans to banks, including the loan of $90,000,000 to the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company, Chicago, of which Gen. Charles G. Dawes was head, are under consideration. Senator Fletcher, chairman, said that the Dawes bank loan was canvassed by a senate committee last year and will not be reexamined unless there is a general inquiry.

The senate committee may inquire into RFC loans to mortgage companies set up by banks. Fletcher said communications had been received that some banks, fearful of the effect of the publicity clause in the RFC act, had formed mortgage companies in order to handle transactions with the federal organization.

Smith Issues Statement.

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—In a statement issued tonight Alfred E. Smith declared that only directors of the County Trust company, of which he is chairman of the board, composed a syndicate in 1929 that borrowed money solely "to buy the stock of our own trust company."

Mr. Smith denied what he considered an intimation "that we had borrowed money to gamble in the stock market." This, he said, "is absolutely false. I still have the stock I bought and I believe that the rest of the members of the syndicate are in the same position."

The syndicate was formed, Mr. Smith said, after the death of James J. Riordan, president of the County Trust company [who shot himself Nov. 8, 1929] with a view to having directors of the bank purchase stock to allay any apprehensions that the bank was not in A-1 condition.

The stock purchased, Mr. Smith said, eventually, was issued "in the names of the various members of the syndicate and the loan paid in full with interest at 6 per cent."

CIGARET SALES AT LESS THAN PACKAGE O. K.'D

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Uncle Sam today took pity on the depression ridden cigaret smoker who doesn't like to lay out a whole dime or 15 cents for a pack of fags.

In a ruling handed down today the bureau of internal revenue gave cigaret companies the right to subdivide the standard package of 20 into cellophane or foil wrapped parcels of five, so that the smoker with a thin pocketbook can buy a quarter of a pack for a few cents.

In rural areas, where the depression has struck with a vengeance, retailers already have started breaking packages and selling a few loose cigarets to hard up customers, officials of the bureau said today.

Cigaret companies still must pack the statutory sized bundle, usually 20, and sell the cigarets to retailers in this form. This regulation is being continued so that the system of internal revenue stamps for cigarets will not have to be revised.

AID CHARITY FUND IN OWN INTEREST, STRAWN PLEADS

Silas H. Strawn described the community fund as a business proposition in a talk at the luncheon of campaign workers yesterday in the Chicago club. A total of $1,273,000 in 778 pledges from the larger annual contributors was reported. The public campaign opens next Monday in an effort to complete $4,000,000 needed for 101 private welfare agencies in Chicago.

"If private citizens won't take care of those who are unfortunate through no fault of their own," Mr. Strawn said, "we are going to see the state and the government take over the work at the expense of these very men who won't do their share."

A BIG SURPRISE FOR YOU

HAVE you seen the new Famous Reading Anthracite—the super-cleaned Pennsylvania HARD coal? Have you tried the radiant healthy heat, and economy of this famous fuel?

If you formerly used hard coal, you'll enjoy the amazingly high quality of today's Reading HARD coal, now selling here at the lowest November price in years, because of new freight rates and mine prices.

If you have never used hard coal, you'll have a happy surprise when you use Famous Reading Anthracite, clean, evenly sized HARD coal.

HERE IS WHY

The United States Public Health Service says, in Public Health Broadcast No. 309: "It has been found that the most comfortable temperature, as well as the most healthful one, is between 68° and 70°." You may prefer a warmer home.

But no matter what temperature you desire you can keep your home steadily heated just as you wish with Reading Anthracite because its hardness and purity give it unique burning qualities.

BECAUSE IT IS HARD AND PURE

Reading HARD coal burns evenly over its surfaces. It does not flare up suddenly and die out quickly. It does not make soot or smoke, never deteriorates in your bin, is clean to handle and keeps your house cleaner. It is safe—no explosions to fill your house with greasy soot or, perhaps, set fire to it—no overheating that sets your house on fire. It is so thoroughly cleaned that every piece is practically pure carbon, preventing clinkers and leaving very few ashes. It is so HARD and compressed that you can put approximately twice as much heating value into your furnace at each firing than you can with other solid fuels. That means fewer furnace "fixings" each day—an easier life for you.

FEDERAL COUPONS GIVEN

NRA AND AAA LIKE 'SIAMESE TWINS,' JOHNSON CLAIMS

Defends Recovery Plan in Omaha Speech.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Facing his second farm belt audience in seven hours, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national NRA administrator, tonight described the NRA and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as "Siamese legislative twins which cannot live apart."

As he had done earlier in the day at Des Moines, Gen. Johnson counselled a sensible patience throughout the middlewest, a sensible realization of what President Roosevelt has already done for relief of agriculture and a sensible coöperation toward the fulfillment of the whole national recovery program.

Replies To Critics.

Johnson related how in seven months the administration already has undone much of the disaster brought on by 12 years of what he described as ignoring the welfare of the farmer, and urged his hearers to study the record and see for themselves what had been done.

He also struck at critics of the administration "who can offer no other course than that which led to the depression in which agriculture finds itself."

He warned against "the same old voices." "In view of what they have done to his country," he said, "this is the most impudent and audacious chorus ever chanted."

Outlining briefly the opposition to the Blue Eagle that has sprung up in the financial east, the agricultural west, in "certain industrial areas, and in a few sections of the press," Johnson asked:

"How can memories be so short, and faith so fickle, and wise men so everlasting dumb?

"Seven months from disaster in one direction and nobody knows how easily we could lapse tomorrow into another. Seven months from the complete collapse of a 12 year ruin—yet a few of those who had no thought of self-help when the thunder roared are now jostling the pilot's arm!

On Freedom of Press.

"Some papers which have just commenced to know what it feels like to have circulation and advertising increases are attacking the whole program on the fantastic argument that it threatens the freedom of the press.

"The few sniping newspapers don't want to see four million reëmployed workers back on the streets again and increasing gains erased, but they would sooner see the recovery program abandoned than accord the few sacrifices necessary for the program's success.

"The striking farmer in Wisconsin is playing squarely into the hand of the Wall street types so recently exposed by the senate committee. Of course, these farmers do not want to return to the twelve year policy of 'let agriculture seek its level' or the leadership of the men who think that way—but that is the way they are headed just the same."

Borah for a Free Press.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] declared tonight he was certain the administration had not sought to secure a "managed press."

Speaking at a "press appreciation" banquet tendered by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Boise for newspaper men of the city, Senator Borah said: "Freedom of the press is one of the most precious gifts" surviving from the formation of the republic.

"If the newspapers carry the news and carry it honestly," he said, "no public man has a right to complain of the opinions of him the newspaper carries on its editorial page. The newspaper has the same right to express its own opinion on its editorial page that I have on the floor of the senate."

He said American newspapers carried the news fairly, and that he had "never had any cause to complain of the news columns of any paper."

Unconstitutional powers are being assumed by the administration, he said, commenting that for that reason he had opposed some of the bills granting them, but he expressed assurance the ones now assuming such authority would be most eager to surrender it "when the emergency is passed."

SANITARY BOARD MAY SIGN LOAN CONTRACT TODAY

U. S. Cash Will Give Jobs to 4,500.

Sanitary district trustees expressed the belief yesterday that the government's contract, under which $8,000,000 in federal easy money will be turned over immediately for sewer construction in Chicago, will be formally accepted at their regular meeting today. If the contract is ready and is signed today 4,500 men can be put to work within seven days.

There was a possibility, officials said, that Lloyd H. Landau, solicitor general for the federal PWA, and Charles E. Anthony, counsel for the sanitary district, might not have the contract in complete form for today's meeting. In that case, said Thomas J. Bowler, president of the district, a special meeting will be called as soon as the contract is prepared. He predicted that it would be signed before the week is ended.

Settle on Loan Terms.

The terms for the loan have been arranged in a series of daily meetings at the office of Attorney Frederick Z. Marx, counsel for the PWA in Illinois, at 120 South La Salle street. They were being put into definite form by the lawyers yesterday.

Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the sanitary district's finance committee, explained that the $8,000,000 loan will not reduce the bonding power of the district because no new bonds need to be issued to cover the loan. The PWA, he said, has stated its willingness to take as collateral bonds which were issued by the district some time ago but never sold.

The PWA, however, has refused to lend the whole $120,000,000 sought by the district to complete its sewage plant construction program. Under mandate of the United States Supreme court this program must be completed by the end of 1938.

One Reason for Refusal.

In refusing the $120,000,000 loan PWA officials gave as one reason that all loans must be secured by collateral in the form of bonds. They said that the bonding limit of the sanitary district—under the 25 per cent cut in assessed valuation of property for 1932 tax purposes—has been reduced to 151 million dollars. Bonds to an aggregate of 143 million dollars already have been issued by the district.

Trustee Woodhull said that the loan for which the contract now is being drawn will be spent in completing work begun more than two years ago on contracts already let by the district. Work on these contracts was halted early in February, 1932, when funds of the district ran low.

SENATOR LEWIS DISCUSSES NRA AND FREE PRESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator Lewis [D., Ill.] said in a speech tonight that if publishers had been omitted from NRA codes "all America would have accused the President of giving an exemption to the business of newspapers to seduce editorial praise and influence political support of the administration."

Adopting the slogan "NRA—No Retreat America," Lewis said he had noted opposition from William Randolph Hearst of the Hearst papers and Col. Robert R. McCormick of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and asked, "What hath misled these worthy masters?"

"The constitution of the United States," he added, "proclaims the privilege of the press and the freedom of speech—neither to be abridged. What purpose to the nation or to the people could the President have in destroying institutions wherein he destroys himself?"

Lewis inquired if there had not been a "false fear excited in the minds of the publishers by those who have an insidious object which favors corrupt finance and polluted politics, through which these hope the whole plan of the new restoration could be defeated." agreements.

NRA PUNISHES BROKER SELLING SHOW TICKETS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—NRA tonight dealt out its first substantial discipline for violation of fair practice provisions under a code. It handed a virtual one week suspension to a New York theater ticket broker charged with selling a $10 pair of seats for $30. A department of justice agent testified to the over charge.

ALL THESE ADVANCED FEATURES IN THE BIG NEW DODGE FOR

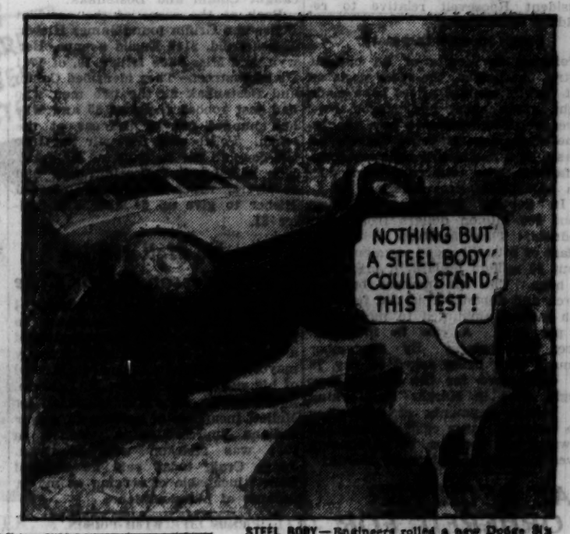
"SHOW-DOWN" PLAN PROVES NO OTHER NEW CAR GIVES YOU ALL THESE SAFETY, MONEY-SAVING AND LONG-LIFE FEATURES ... BUY AT TODAY'S LOW PRICES



STEEL BODY—Engineers rolled a new Dodge Six down a steep hill. Over and over it went, crashing against rocks and bumps, whirling swiftly to the bottom. Then—it drove off under its own power! Only a steel body could have stood this test!

LOW CENTER OF GRAVITY—Dodge has a double-drop frame that brings the car close to the ground. Not being top-heavy (like this hansom cab) it won't tip over, even when tilted to an abnormal degree. You can take sharp turns with safety. The Dodge frame is ten times more rigid than ordinary frame construction!

AUTOMATIC CLUTCH—This optional feature of the new Dodge Six takes most of the effort out of driving. You never need to touch the clutch pedal; never need to use your left foot. Start, stop, shift, reverse—and never touch the clutch. Dodge has Free Wheeling, too.

Of course you want these advanced engineering features in your new car! But remember ... you get them only in the new Dodge Six at this low price, just a few dollars more than the lowest priced cars!

Not only does Dodge give you the features pictured here, but in addition you get "Oilite" squeak-proof springs ... gears that are quiet in all speeds ... valve seat inserts that postpone valve grinding for thousands of miles ... Centrifuse brake drums, prolonging life of brake linings ... Airwheel Tires ... oil filter ... altogether more than 21 advanced engineering advantages that even many high-priced cars do not offer!

Get the Facts!

You don't have to take our word for it! Simply ask any Dodge Dealer about the "Show-Down" Plan. It's the new, easy way to compare automobiles. Gives you facts, not claims. Lets you be your own judge. It shows you, in plain non-technical language, exactly what Dodge gives you in direct comparison with the other cars.

Thousands and thousands of buyers have used the "Show-Down" Plan this year! That's why Dodge has broken all sales records ... why Dodge is the fastest selling car in its field ... ahead of every other make except the three lowest priced cars!

Learn about this "Show-Down" Plan now—while your present car has a higher trade-in value than it will ever have again. Today it will probably make the full down-payment on your new Dodge Six!

FIGURES CITED TO SHOW AAA AIDED CORN BELT

Claim Tangible Results from Relief Actions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Despite the complaining midwestern farm belt the agricultural adjustment administration today publicly claimed tangible results for the farm relief measures it has already taken. Benefit payments of many millions of dollars now pouring into the hands of farmers, the administration declared in a résumé of its activities, will boost the total farm income 20 per cent above last year by December.

The figures were issued without comment and called to the specific attention of the striking farmers. The statement was generally regarded as an indirect attempt by Secretary William Wallace and Farm Administrator George N. Peek to quell a measure of the agrarian unrest.

The administration officials remained calm in the face of the corn belt criticism of the new farm deal and demand for new action for farm relief. They reiterated a determination not to advance any new relief programs.

Announce Corn Loans.

But at the same time plans to broaden the prospective corn loan program were being speeded. The revised corn loan plan will contemplate loans of about 50 cents on all corn held on the farm instead of on a marketing point basis in a restricted number of states.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, declared, following a conference with President Roosevelt today, that the Farm Bureau is backing the administration program.

"When that program has succeeded more than it has had time to do to date," said Mr. O'Neal, "all of us will be much better off than today. To try at this time such methods as farm strikes disarranges the policy of President Roosevelt relative to rebuilding agriculture."

Farm Income Increased.

Pointing to results of its current control campaigns, the AAA declared that "while general prices have made slight gains since last March over prices of things farmers buy, the income of farmers is being sharply increased as a result of benefit payments to farmers who take part in production adjustment programs."

"In September farmers received about 400 million dollars from their products. They received 51 million dollars of cotton benefit payments and about 30 million dollars in premiums on hogs. The net increase between March and September in the farmers' cash income amounted to more than 50 per cent. A rise in industrial prices took place. By September farmers were being asked to pay 16 per cent more for the things they bought than in March. But taking the benefit payments of September into account, farm cash income has shown a net increase in purchasing power in every month since March.

TAX RECEIVER ORDERED FOR 23 PROPERTIES

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $323,163, making a total of $85,436,673 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Nov. 8	$ 19,389	$ 43,682
Uncollected	16,617,127	44,384,962
	1930.	1931.
Nov. 8	$ 76,961	$ 183,731
Uncollected	70,265,812	71,966,769

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $823.

Twenty-three income bearing properties were ordered into tax receivership under the Kerner-Skarda act yesterday by County Judge Jareckl. County Treasurer McDonough was appointed receiver for the properties to collect delinquent taxes totaling $97,000. Payments aggregating $40,000 were made by other property owners in court to avoid receiverships.

The treasurer continued his campaign against tax delinquent properties by filing 20 receivership petitions in the County court. The properties named owe $73,386. One of the properties sued is a building at 3165-79 West Madison street, on which $35,813 in taxes is owed.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

No Cooking! No Work! Real Saving!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

MILK DECISION FOR CHICAGO DAIRIES NEAR

Wallace May Get Report Saturday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Final recommendations for punitive action or dismissal of the charges against three independent Chicago dairies, accused of violating the federal milk code for Chicago, will be made to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace probably before the end of this week.

Supplementary briefs in behalf of the Edgewater, the Lake View, and the Wagner Dairy companies have been filed by their attorneys with Elmer D. Hays, AAA legal expert, who presided at the recent "trial" of the three independents and who must make recommendations for action to the secretary.

Meanwhile, Farm Administrator George N. Peek continued to delay the fixing of a definite date for opening of the projected federal investigation into the entire Chicago milk situation.

Two other AAA marketing pacts of peculiar interest to Chicago will be the subject of public hearings to be held in Washington shortly, it was announced today. One is the code for the meat packing industry, the other the code for the nation's grain exchanges, most important of which is the Chicago Board of Trade.

POLICEMAN SEES CAR CRASH; TWO HELD AS BANDITS

Because Policeman Patrick Griffin of the West North avenue station took his dog out for an airing at just the right time two alleged robbers were in jail last night. The pair are Edward Colum, 23 years old, 1077 North Marshfield avenue, and Walter Bostenkak, 22, of 927 North Lincoln street.

Griffin, off duty, was walking with his dog near his home at 2030 Walton street when he saw a car crack up against a pole at Augusta boulevard and Hoyne avenue and two men jump out and run. Griffin chased them and caught Colum and Bostenkak.

Back at the scene of the accident Policeman Griffin found James Hieber, 28 years old, 2116 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, and Miss Jane Miller, 19, of 1721 Division street. They identified Colum and Bostenkak as the two men who had just robbed them of $5 and who had jumped out of the car at the crash. Police said the pair got into the couple's car in front of Miss Miller's home and, indicating they had revolvers, which they didn't, forced Hieber to give up $4 and Miss Miller $1.

Overrules Mellett Plea in Anderson Mayor Case

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Judge John Craig of Greensburg, in Madison Circuit court today overruled a motion by J. H. Mellett, formerly mayor of Anderson, for a third trial of his suit to oust Harry R. Baldwin, mayor since January. Counsel for Mellett incapable of serving as mayor Indiana Supreme court. Mellett in 1931 was stricken with paralysis. Judge Craig today said he believed Bellett incapable of serving as mayor because of his condition.

People can't be too careful about exposure

when their resistance is low

Common winter ills often start as a result of being caught in bad weather. No one can afford to risk exposure.

But what many people fail to realize is that valuable as outward precautions are, another safeguard is also necessary. They must build up their resistance as well!

The old idea used to be to wait until people took sick to do something about their physical condition. It has given way to the newer view that resistance should be built in advance. There should be a reserve to carry people through the times of year that tax their vitality.

These are the factors which give health-protecting value to halibut and cod-liver oils with Viosterol. And there's a way to obtain them without taking the oils. With Squibb Adex Tablets.

BUY NOW TO KEEP HUSBAND ON JOB, WOMEN URGED

Feminine NRA Chief Here to Organize City.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Miss Mary E. Hughes, the head of the women's division of the NRA, arrived yesterday from Washington to enlist the confidence of Chicago women in the NRA program. Her three day visit here, which she termed "a personal call on Chicago women," is part of a nationwide mobilization of women to spend their money and spend it now with the firm flying the NRA banner. The campaign opened in October and will continue until Jan. 1.

Miss Hughes addressed two meetings in the Woman's City club at 6 North Michigan avenue. One was attended by members of the foods and marketing committee of the Woman's City club, and the other by the executive committee of the Chicago Consumers' council, a delegate body from twenty clubs.

Told to Expect Rising Prices.

Miss Hughes in her addresses outlined her plan for Chicago mobilization to spread the word into every home in the city that the public must buy immediately. She warned the women that they must prepare for rising prices gladly, as this would help to provide a living wage for every man and woman.

"The response throughout the country has been overwhelming in the war against human suffering," Miss Hughes told the Woman's City club group. "There are no neutrals and pacifists this time, but all are joining in a concerted effort to drive out the depression. It is the duty of you women to get Chicago women to support the NRA consumers' statement, to get women to spend more with the people who are supporting the NRA. You must educate the consumers to buy wisely and to protect themselves with the consumer's guide. We want to teach you women that while we don't want profiteering or undue inflation, you must be prepared for justifiable rises in prices, because child labor has been abolished and replaced by adults at increased wages, and because we must abolish the sweat shop.

Asks Discrimination in Bargains.

"You incorrigible bargain hunters, as we women all are, will need to distinguish between the sweatshop and the real bargain. Women must have consciences when it comes to buying a garment that has been made by a worker who draws only 60 cents a week. We want every man and woman to receive a living wage, and therefore you will need to pay higher prices for your articles, and pay them gladly.

"I urge you all to talk up and not talk down the NRA, to be patient and have faith. It was through human greed that we got into it and we will have to get out of it by that principle of Christianity, 'Do unto others as you would be done by.' Let's be loyal and good American citizens."

Before the consumers' group, Miss Hughes declared that in the mobilization program, if house to house canvas is used, the workers should urge families, including those who have recently obtained jobs, to spend their entire income rather than to save for a rainy day. "You must tell the housewife," she added, "that if she saves for a rainy day she is helping her husband lose his job. You must teach the housewife also how to get the most for her money when she spends."

Asks Aid of All Groups.

Miss Hughes urged that every type of group be mobilized in Chicago, the churches, ladies' aids, clubs, and Parent-Teacher associations, so that every neighborhood will be visited by the women.

"You know," she added confidentially, "how women do love to be colonels and majors and captains. Well, give them a chance to be in your organization work. I hope during the meetings of the next two days that we may work out some good plan for putting the mobilization across."

Miss Hughes, before she assumed her present job last August, was a chautauqua manager and publicity representative for the United States Marine band. She told reporters frankly that she knew nothing of economics and was "what you might call an organizer."

Organization Already Set Up.

"Why, I've got in my file cabinet right at my finger tips the names of state chairmen in every state for the women's division of the NRA and the county chairmen, too. Pretty soon we will be getting some returns as to the number of women who have pledged their support. The Wisconsin chairman has already sent me the names of 5,000 women."

Apparently in her late 30s, Miss Hughes wore a deep rose woolen frock with matching enameled finger nails. A brown suede beret sat at a perilous angle on her dark hair, worn in a long bob. The high collar of her frock was held together with a monogram pin three inches wide with the letters "NRA" traced in gold.

This noon Miss Hughes will address the Chicago Woman's Aid at 185 North Michigan avenue. Tomorrow she will meet during the morning with committees of the Cook County League of Women Voters and the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's clubs. At noon the big event of her visit will be a luncheon at the Morrison hotel sponsored by the state women's division of the NRA, the Chicago Consumers' council, and the Men's City club.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item on Nov. 4 stated that Harry A. Hand, 1950 North Lincoln avenue, killed himself on the beach near 59th street after leaving a note to his widow. Blanche Hand, a sister, says she received the note, that Hand was not married, and that he was drowned in Lake Michigan.

SKINNY! ADD 5 LBS. OF ALLURING CURVES!

New Natural Mineral Concentrate from the Sea, Free from Drugs, Fills Out Ugly Hollows with Firm Flesh—Adds 5 Pounds in 12 DAYS OR NO COST

3 TO 8 POUNDS in 12 days! 5 to 12 pounds in a few short weeks. Think of it! Yet these results are not unusual. Hundreds of skinny, scrawny, run-down people are amazed at this astounding new natural way to win back health and weight.

Doctors know how vitally necessary are natural food minerals, often so woefully lacking in even the most carefully devised fresh vegetable diets. Unless your system gets the proper amount of these minerals, many of them needed in only the tiniest quantities, even the best food fails to nourish you, fails to build rich, red blood, firm flesh and sturdy muscles. This lack of mineralization results in the failure to digest starches and fats in the normal diet. It makes no difference whether your appetite is good or bad, your food is converted into poisonous wastes instead of firm flesh and tireless energy.

Provides Needed Vegetable Minerals

Scientists, however, have only recently discovered a marvelous source of practically every single mineral essential to body needs. It is called Kelp-a-Malt, a pleasant, easy-to-take vegetable concentrate made from a luxuriant sea plant from the Pacific Ocean. It provides iron, sodium, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and other essential minerals in easily assimilable form, and also provides the effect of Vitamins A, B, D, E and G.

Try Kelp-a-Malt for a single week. Watch your appetite improve, firm flesh appear in place of scrawny hollows. Feel the tireless vigor and vitality that Kelp-a-Malt provides through its easily assimilable iron and copper. Its calcium and phosphorus build strong teeth and bones. Its sulphur and phosphorus assure proper elimination. 6 tablets provide more iodine than 486 pounds of spinach—assures protection against goitre.

Limited Offer

Prove the worth of this amazing weight-builder today. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time you will gain at least 5 pounds, you will look better, feel better and have more endurance than ever before, or the trial is free.

Don't wait any longer. Regain alluring curves and youthful energy this easy, scientific way. 100 Jumbo size Kelp-a-Malt tablets—up to 5 times the size of ordinary tablets—cost but little. Get them today at any Walgreen Drug Store.

Comparison of Minerals in Kelp-a-Malt and Vegetables

3 Kelp-a-Malt Tablets Contain

1. More Iron and Copper than 1 pound of spinach or 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes or 3 pounds of asparagus, for rich blood strength, energy
2. More Phosphorus than ½ pound of carrots, for sturdy bones, strong white teeth.
3. More Calcium than 1 pound of cabbage, for resistance to disease, warding off colds, etc.
4. More Iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 30 pounds of fish, 600 pounds of beef, for preventing goitre, glandular disturbances and improving reproductivity.
5. More Sulphur than 2 pounds of potatoes for prompt elimination
6. More Sodium than 3 pounds of turnips, for correcting stomach gas and acidity.
7. More Potassium than 6 pounds of beans, for improving heart and liver action.
8. More Magnesium than 1 pound of celery, for clear skin and pure blood.

Will the United States Recognize RUSSIA?

A TWO-PAGE PICTORIAL NEWS-REVIEW WITH 31 PHOTOGRAPHS IN THE GRAPHIC WITH NEXT SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE

AT THE invitation of President Roosevelt, the Russian Government has sent a representative to a conference in Washington looking to possible recognition by the United States of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. Maxim Litvinov, foreign commissar of Russia, has arrived to confer with the President. What will be the result?

Will Russia pay for the hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of American property it seized? Will the $187,000,000 debt of the Kerensky government be paid? Will trade between the United States and Russia be resumed?

An interesting account of Russia from its early days to present times, showing the changes made in Russia, will be published in a Two-Page Pictorial News-Review in The GRAPHIC—the feature magazine included with next Sunday's Tribune. Illustrated with 31 unusual photographs!

To be properly informed on the Russian situation don't miss this pictorial review! It's one of a number of unusual features in The GRAPHIC.

U. S. PROCESS TAX HITS HUNDREDS OF FOOD ITEMS

Federal Clerks Wonder in Maze of Figures.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Uncle Sam, who has assumed the duty of decreasing the acreage in farm crops to do away with surpluses, now has found himself faced with the task of imposing taxes on hundreds of items of foodstuffs processed from the basic farm commodities which congress named in the agricultural adjustment act.

Scores of employés added to the pay roll of the internal revenue office are lost in the maze of intricacies as they find that a simple tax of 50 cents a hundredweight on hogs must be translated into terms of ham, shoulders, spare ribs, and sausage. There are 175 separate pork products, each of which must carry a tax varying from a tenth of 1 per cent to as high as 1¾ cents a pound.

The tax on these commodities became payable as of last Saturday night, upon the official orders of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. At the same time he ordered the imposition of a tax of 5 cents a bushel on corn entering into commercial channels, this tax to be raised to 20 cents a bushel on Dec. 5.

Tax Averages 15 Cents Per Cwt.

The revenue bureau has listed 35 articles processed from field corn on which it is placing a tax which averages 15 cents a hundred pounds. This will be quadrupled in December, meaning that for every 10 pounds of corn meal housewives buy there will be a tax of 7 cents.

The common variety of corn flakes for breakfast will bear a tax of seven-tenths of a cent a pound after the December increase. Table hominy will carry the same tax rate, while table sugar and corn starch will be taxed approximately ½ cent a pound.

Piled on top of other taxes to which liquor and beer will be subjected after repeal are process taxes of one-half cent per pound on brewers' corn flakes and ½ cent on ten pounds of corn products used in making distilled spirits.

Ham is headed for the luxury class with a tax of 1½ cents a pound in December. Pork loin will be taxed to the extent of 1½ cents a pound, and boneless butt will have a tax of 1.21 cents a pound.

Relief Supplies Exempted.

One of the provisions of the law under which these taxes are being collected stipulates that any taxes paid on products consumed by people on public relief rolls shall be refunded. This week the Illinois Emergency Relief commission is concerned with the problem of whether it shall pay the processing tax on foods it purchases with an expectation that it will be refunded later or whether it shall buy the foods and deduct the tax in purchasing.

Those who drafted the farm act were careful to see that no one might evade payment of these taxes by purchasing substitute foods. They have empowered the secretary of agriculture to place a compensatory tax on any food found to be in competition with those on which the processing tax is paid. With the adding of a tax of one-half cent a pound on corn sugar the department of agriculture is faced, therefore, with the task of placing a compensatory tax on cane and beet sugars.

May Tax Other Meats.

The internal revenue bureau also anticipates that it will be called upon to collect taxes on beef and other meats which compete with pork products now subject to tax. The bureau is making plans for collecting a tax on all dairy products as well as those foods which compete with dairy products, probably early in December.

Among the products to be taxed are cheese, butter, milk and cream, canned milk, buttermilk and oleomargarine.

ARREST WOMAN ON CHARGE OF SHOOTING MATE

Mrs. Isabelle Ryley, 32 years old, 3119 Merrill avenue, was arrested yesterday and booked on a charge of assault with intent to murder her estranged husband, Allan, who is critically ill with a bullet wound in his head at the Dorian hotel, 4545 Woodlawn avenue. Mrs. Ryley was released on $3,500 bond last night, the surety being put up by relatives. She will be arraigned in Felony court today.

The charge was made despite the assertion of the wounded man that the shooting was accidental.

"Isabelle and I were alone in the room," Ryley told police when confronted with his wife. "I didn't see her shoot me but I felt something strike me in the back of my head. If she did shoot me, it was entirely accidental. I have no intention of signing a complaint against her."

The Ryleys had separated and she was suing him for divorce on grounds of cruelty. She had been seeing him recently in an attempt to get him to pay back alimony.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands of pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick, safe and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are filled with stagnant blood, weak and flabby. To get rid of Pile misery an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and strengthen the weakened parts.

Dr. I. S. Leonhardt after years of study found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and after prescribing it for his patients with a most remarkable record of success, decided every Pile sufferer might get his prescription at their druggist with a money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's remedy is such an effective one that it should help you to quickly trade misery for blessed relief. So why doubt or delay when Walgreen's says "Get a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets today; take them as directed, then if you are not free from all Pile misery, get your money back."

DENIES THEFT

Charles B. Munday, who served a year in Joliet penitentiary in connection with the crash of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank some 18 years ago, testified in his own defense yesterday before Judge Thomas J. Lynch in the Criminal court. Munday is charged with embezzlement and the case is expected to go to the jury after closing arguments today.

Munday denied the allegations of O. L. Spencer of Grand Forks, N. D., general manager of the State Mill and Elevator of North Dakota, that he had admitted embezzling $23,000 of the organization's funds when he was the Chicago agent of the company in 1931. Munday is specifically charged with embezzling $1,100.

"I never did any such thing in my life," said Munday, a portly, florid man. "The truth is that the company owed me a large sum—I've forgotten exactly how much—in commissions."

Munday denied Spencer's story that he offered a "handful of life insurance policies" and volunteered to jump out of a twenty-third story window to furnish cash to make up the alleged shortage. "I don't come from a family of jumpers," Munday said.

HORNER ORDERS PLANS MADE FOR ELEVATED ROADS

Cites Relief Value of Chicago System.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner this afternoon ordered Director Kingery of the department of public works and State Highway Engineer Lieberman to proceed with full speed in the preparation of designs and specifications for the construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago.

The governor issued his orders after an interview with Lester J. Norris of St. Charles, president of the Fox River Valley federation, E. A. Keplar, secretary of the federation, and George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club. The chief executive listened to a full explanation of the construction program proposed in a Chicago traffic survey prepared by Dr. Miller McClintock of the Harvard University traffic research bureau for the city council traffic committee headed by Ald. John A. Massen [48th].

Praised as Idle Relief.

"This is the type of relief for the idle that the government is interested in," the governor said in response to a suggestion that a federal loan should be sought for the project. "It might be well to acquaint Secretary of Interior Ickes with the program pending the formal application for the loan."

Director Kingery estimated that it will require at least thirty days to prepare the detailed specifications for the structures. It has been his experience that Washington insists upon receiving working plans with itemized estimates before passing upon an application for a loan.

"It is apparent," said the governor perusing the printed report of Chicago traffic survey, "that a comprehensive study was made before the decision to recommend the elevated highway system. However, it is also apparent that these recommendations in their present form are general and not specific. There is still an engineering job that must be done."

Fox River Valley Benefited.

"What is the interest of the Fox river valley in this project?" he asked turning to Mr. Norris.

"All northern Illinois will benefit from a reduction in the hazards and delays of motor communication with Chicago," Mr. Norris replied. "It is true that the main benefit from the relief feature will be enjoyed by Chicago, but even this will be shared by the farms and smaller cities that look to Chicago as their main market."

Mr. Barton cited an estimate that 20,000 men could be employed directly and indirectly in the construction.

U. S. DELEGATION BALKS PROPOSED CURB ON PRESS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Nov. 8.—Russian Delegate Rosenberg added a touch of humor today to the second international press conference meeting here under the auspices of the league of nations when he proposed that the correspondents of any newspapers or news services receiving money from armaments firms be refused the right to operate in foreign countries.

There seemed no good reason for the motion to be opposed, but for some reason it aroused excited opposition among French and other delegates.

Fight Press Restrictions.

The American delegates, led by Robert Pell, press officer of the American disarmament delegation at Geneva, forced the fight today on all manner of attempts to restrict the activities of correspondents in foreign lands and put them at the mercy of government press bureaus and allied organizations.

Webb Miller, vice president of the United Press, flatly told the committee discussing this question that under no conditions would correspondents be submitted to a journalistic code of honor or be forced to get credentials from the International Association of Journalists, as the French delegation, backed by the Poles, proposed.

This, it was felt, would put correspondents in foreign lands at the mercy of the foreign offices of the country in which they happened to be and make possible "permanent elimination of correspondents who would not submit to dictation."

Pell Balks Curbs.

Mr. Miller supported the American view that the press is free and correspondents must not be restricted by direct or indirect threats. It is hoped the suggestion will now be killed in committee.

Mr. Pell appeared successful in combating a host of measures of a restrictive character with reference to the sending of false news which could also have been used as a club. It appeared tonight that the resolution which will finally be accepted will favor the elimination of false news by preventative rather than oppressive measures.

It was pointed out that a newspaper financially independent of the dictates of any group and dedicated to the obtaining of uncolored and accurate information can do much to eliminate false news.

KERNER RULES PAPERS LIABLE TO SALES TAX

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner today held that newspapers are tangible personal property and ruled that sales tax must be paid in transactions in which the newspapers are sold direct to the ultimate reader by a news dealer or in which they are mailed or otherwise delivered by the publisher to the subscriber.

The opinion was given at the request of Joseph Rice, state director of finance, whose office had previously held that newspapers must pay sales tax on circulation.

LIGHT SENTENCE ON JAPANESE WHO KILLED PREMIER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 9 [Thursday].—Unexpectedly light sentences were pronounced by Judge Captain Shiro Takasu on the ten naval officers who were tried by court martial for complicity in the assassination May 15, 1932, of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai.

Of the six who were present at the assassination Lieut. Kiyoshi Koga and Lieut. Taku Mikami were sentenced to fifteen years, Sub-Lieutenant Isami Kuroi thirteen years, and three others ten years each. The prosecutor had asked death for the first three and life imprisonment for the others. Kuroi was charged with having fired at Inukai. The four others implicated in the plot were given suspended sentences of one and two years, which means that they will be free as long as their behavior is good.

The leniency of the court was expected to put a damper on the political effects of naval and military reactionary agitation which rallied to the support of the accused during the trial. The total of petitions urging leniency had grown to more than a million, of which more than a thousand were written in blood. The defense pleaded that the officers were acting from patriotic motives. It was charged that Inukai was too lenient in foreign policy and allowed other nations to take advantage of Japan in matters of naval and military supremacy.

Business Men to Consult Allman on Hijacking Curb

Police Commissioner Allman, George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and members of the association's cartage theft committee will participate today in a discussion of plans to further curb the activities of hijackers of merchandise trucks. The meeting will be held in Mayor Kelly's office. There are now only two men on the cartage theft detail of the police department.

"WHY IS STERLING BEER SO GOOD?" THOUSANDS ARE ASKING

Model Brewery Spends Million Dollars to Make Sterling America's Finest Beer . . . "Last Word" Equipment Gives Slowly Fermented Flavor, Controlled Alcoholic Content . . . A Beer Filtered 53 Times

IN STERLING BEER you enjoy a flavor, slowly fermented to perfection—delicious as in a fine melon, slowly ripened on the vine. And the alcoholic strength is controlled, too, within a variation of two-tenths of one per cent. Thus you have a beverage truly worlds beyond any ordinary beer. The best-tasting. Always invigorating. Always the same. America's finest beer!

How is such a beer possible? Here's how! The famous old Sterling Brewers had the "perfect" beer as their goal. Invested a million dollars in new equipment. Developed an exclusive "controlled process" in brewing beer. Now they can offer you a beer that carries a slowly fermented flavor and a uniform alcoholic lift in every batch. Sterling is leisurely aged, too—made pure and wholesome by filtering 53 times.

Surely such a beer should register with beer lovers everywhere. And Sterling Beer is doing just that. Millions are turning to it. Thousands who are dissatisfied with ordinary beers—thousands more who never cared for beer—are finding in Sterling a wonderfully satisfying beverage they never before thought possible.

Make the "Two Bottle" Test

Wouldn't you like to discover what the finest beer really means? Then just drink two bottles of Sterling Beer—or a few glasses on draught. Before you taste it, note the rich, creamy "collar"—the clear, sparkling color. Lift a glass to your lips. Now enjoy a truly mellow, full-bodied flavor and an immediate refreshing effect. What a difference from all other beers! But don't wait for an experience you'll never forget. Try a stein or two of draught or order a case of Sterling from your dealer TODAY.

GREAT ADVANCE IN BREWING ASTOUNDS EXPERTS. Experts who "know all about brewing" are frankly baffled as to how Sterling gets such unvarying results. An alcoholic content that never varies more than two-tenths of one per cent in an average batch! Ordinary brewing methods—old-fashioned methods—couldn't do it. Sterling makes it possible with a unique "controlled process"—and at the same time develops a slowly fermented flavor that always "hits the spot."

TRY STERLING AND PROVE THE DIFFERENCE. Match it, you old-timers, against any beer you ever drank. Compare it, you moderns, with any of the other beers on the market. Did you ever before taste such a tangy, full-bodied beer? A flawless, slowly fermented flavor—a glorious liveliness that never varies. "Perfect!" you'll say.

EVERYWHERE A BIG DEMAND FOR STERLING. People are asking for it—insisting on it—in clubs, taverns—everywhere. Naturally demand is rapidly skyrocketing. Orders are pouring in to dealers. Terre Haute, Chicago, Indianapolis—they're all wiring for more and more carloads. Rarely does a beer make such a sensational sales record so quickly—against all other beers. But the reason is simple: People PREFER this slowly fermented beer with unvarying alcoholic content.

THE BEER MEN PREFER, A HIT WITH WOMEN, TOO. You can't fool women! They can't stand beer that tastes crude or yeasty. And to satisfy them beer just must have the sparkle and zest they expect. That's why Sterling Beer is becoming "the beer of the hour." Women and men both find that Sterling completely meets expectations every time. Slowly fermented and tasty—with the right exhilaration—because Sterling's "controlled process" governs the brewing with a hitherto impossible exactness.

WHERE BEER IS FILTERED 53 TIMES AND LEISURELY AGED THE STERLING WAY. Not just "another" beer, but America's finest—that's Sterling Beer! Here's part of the secret of this uniformly perfect beer that never disappoints. Ordinary standards are not good enough. Sterling is filtered 53 times for extra purity—leisurely aged for added smoothness and flavor. It cost a million dollars for new equipment and new processes to make this delightful beer possible. Now everybody's saying: "We want Sterling!"

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A REPUBLICAN RADICAL WINS NEW YORK.

Maj. La Guardia is mayor elect of New York. Postmaster General Farley, the political voice of the Roosevelt administration and the organizer of the Democratic national party, backed Mr. McKee, with authority. Mr. McKee was the Recovery candidate. The administration thus submitted itself to the touch. One opponent was the scandalous Tammany, ripe for one of its infrequent defeats because of the Seabury investigation. The other was a radical Republican half smothered by the compliments and support of old line New York Republicans, such as Mr. Mills, the Hoover secretary of the treasury; Kingsland Macy, state chairman; Charles Tuttle, etc.

When Mr. Mills can fuse with Maj. La Guardia bygones, indeed, have been told to be bygones. Two sides of the street have become one side. Mr. Mills, Mr. Hoover's chief of campaign, is the major's heavyweight orthodox Republican friend. Mr. Mills was the most persuasive voice of the Hoover campaign. In the New York election he plays the radical's game and the two of them win. They beat Mr. McKee and Mr. Farley. Mr. Farley is almost daily fresh from Washington. Mr. McKee carries the standard of the administration. A vote for McKee is a vote for McKee and also a vote of confidence in the national recovery program.

Mr. Farley may have made a mistake. It's probable that La Guardia was his man. Fusion would have covered enough of party regularity. La Guardia would have covered everything else. He was the new deal when it was the old deal in the Democratic party. He was the best bet in New York and Mr. Farley allowed Mr. Mills to steal the bet. He allowed the Hoover Republicans to announce their faith in forward looking men and measures. A year ago they were downed as standpatters. They were even accused of being indifferent to misery. It was charged against them not only that they were not bright enough to meet great emergencies but that they didn't care whether things were bettered or not.

In answer to this the old line Republicans take their position with one of the greatest radicals in congress. They take him away from Mr. Farley, who permits them to run off with the big show, and they are with it when the popular uprising in New York not only defeats Tammany but defeats the national administration recovery candidate in the first big encounter since the washout of a year ago. The Democrats will have to make the best as the Republicans will make the worst of it.

MISLEADING THE FARMERS.

The state of Wisconsin promises an investigation to determine whether it was a deadly weapon or only a toy pistol which Attorney General James E. Finnegan displayed to cow a crowd of farm strikers who forced his car to stop on a state highway near Madison.

Another striker hurried to the authorities for a warrant to punish a farm wife who, with pointed pistol, prevented a group of invaders in her dooryard from dumping a truckload of milk.

In Milwaukee, in a previous strike, twoscore pickets hastened to Mayor Hoan to complain of the brutality imposed on them by two policemen who tumbled out of a squad car as the crowd opened its doors expecting to find nothing more alarming than a couple of cans of milk.

These pickets, who three times within a year have terrorized Wisconsin traffic, intimidated motorists, inflicted injuries, and imposed expense on many of them are peculiarly sensitive to infractions of the code by any or all others.

They are the first to seek the protection of the very law they flout.

Security on the public highway is a principle which goes far back into common law, a principle which nearly everywhere has been written into the statutes. It has become a right the interference with which, even when lawful, is instinctively resented.

There is a natural impulse to defend one's self when a car or a person is forcibly brought to a halt on a public road. The driver cannot always be sure that the crowd which stops him is only a parcel of fun loving farm boys out to paw over his luggage in the expectation that thereby they will mysteriously raise the price of milk or cabbage.

The strikers have been and are inviting reprisals when they go upon the highways in crowds, armed or unarmed, and with spiked planks and similar barriers to enforce their orders to halt. It is a type of terrorism with which the people of Wisconsin have been unusually patient.

The farmers themselves have not contributed so much of the attempted intimidation as their leaders, who for a year have continually voiced threats of violences to come.

The good nature of the public and its almost universal sympathy for the farmer and the difficulties he is undergoing in common with the rest of the world has thus far kept these farm strikes clear of a major tragedy, although one Wisconsin farm owner of the finest type was killed near Madison in a clash with a traveler who was too quick with the trigger when the crowd ordered him to halt his car.

Whatever disposition the law may make of the man who fired the fatal shot, share in the responsibility for this man's death cannot be evaded by the farm leaders whose misguided enthusiasm for a meaningless strike sent their patron out on the road to his death.

It is a tragedy for the nation that farmers, who have always been the most stable element of society, should be so misled by agitators of the type who now seem to be directing them.

FREEDOM OF OPINION.

Gen. Johnson and other NRA administrators who oppose a restatement of the freedom of the press in the newspaper code frequently say that it is an unnecessary statement for two reasons: One, that the administrators would not be so lost to common sense as to try censorship or suppression of criticism and opinion, and, second, because the constitution does not need a restatement in the code to be effective.

As to the second argument, it may be true that the constitution cannot be violated and also true that it has been. Are not the citizens often reminded that the constitution cannot stand in the way of emergency remedies? Federal District courts have agreed to that already in their decisions. As to the first argument, some evidence can be taken. The most recently offered is that of a Massachusetts firm whose advertisement under the Blue Eagle contained some comment on the NRA which did not meet the approval of the local compliance board. On complaint of the local board to the New England board, and by the New England board to Washington, the firm lost its Blue Eagle and NRA insignia for "a flagrant attempt to frustrate the spirit and intent of the President's reemployment program."

It does not appear that there were any violations of the agreement nor is it alleged that the firm had failed to comply with the conditions of employment or marketing. The offense was an expression of opinion that the NRA was not doing the good it proposed to do. That in an advertisement resulted in an official attempt to injure the firm's business, if not to stop it.

No one need be astonished when administrators resent criticism and opinion as being obstructive of their efforts in the common good. If they are sincere, they naturally believe that the welfare and safety of the country depend upon the uncritical acceptance of their acts. A critic is an enemy. Expression of opinion contrary to their approval becomes an act against public welfare. They can see it as nothing else. The offense may be to their own pride, but they make it a crime against the nation. Their immediate instinct is to suppress the critic and to call upon all good citizens to support them in the common good.

Gen. Johnson, in meeting criticism, which he says he has expected from the beginning, does not conceal his feeling that the opposing opinion is unworthy. That feeling is natural but cannot be admitted to prevail. Some of the most confident administrators of the new government plan concede that a revolution has taken place in the United States. That is a serious word descriptive of a serious condition.

A revolution cannot take place in this country without there being words about it, and if there are hard words on one side there can be hard words on the other. Many patriotic citizens cannot agree that the government is right and they are not to be shut up by being held up to reproach or by calling down odium upon them.

The American government is one by parties. One party is in administration, the other is in opposition. Criticism is protected. It is one of the checks. Freedom of opinion is part of the citizen's birthright. He is not seditious in using it. The tone he uses is his own business. He may say what he pleases. It is not even his neighbor's business and certainly not his government's.

Gen. Johnson in his Chicago speech discussed the issue of the free press and said it was a synthetic dead cat thrown at the NRA. He said he was as devoted to the principles of the free press as any of his critics could be and that "nothing will ever be done in or by the NRA to impair it." He said the newspapers could not be licensed and would not be and that the requirements of the newspaper code had all to be read with reference to constitutional provisions.

The newspapers of the country have asked Gen. Johnson to incorporate these sentiments in a provision in the code. They ask him to go into the record with what he says. If in his public statements he is telling the truth he will accept the stipulation. If he will not accept the stipulation what is he telling?

Editorial of the Day

CENTURY OF PROGRESS TO RUN UNTIL NOV. 12.

(Vicksburg, Miss., Post-Herald.)

The news that it has been decided to keep A Century of Progress open until Nov. 12 will bring much pleasure to the twenty millions or more who during the last summer visited the Fair and were thrilled by the truly marvelous exhibition of the progress of the human race during the last century.

It was at first planned to close the Fair on Nov. 1 and wreck the buildings according to the contract with the south park board, which has jurisdiction over the strip of land filled in on the shore of Lake Michigan. There was a demand, however, to continue the great exhibition and the directors of the Fair are meeting this demand.

Millions of people also will be interested to know that there is a movement on foot to open the Fair next summer for 100 days, and they will hope for its success. In the lifetime of many people there never has been and most likely never will again be such an opportunity to acquire culture, vision and the many things which make life worth living; to obtain the things which distinguish the educated from the noneducated by the simple process of absorption, and this while enjoying the glorious sunshine and invigorating breezes which blow away from Lake Michigan.

The twenty millions who saw A Century of Progress are each and every one a walking advertisement of the Fair. There are still some one hundred million who did not go for many reasons, some financial, some discouraging reports at first, but in the end there is all over America a deep feeling that A Century of Progress should, like the New Orleans Cotton Centennial of 1883, be held over during next summer for the purpose of giving the many who did not have the opportunity this last summer for various reasons a chance to acquire the forward looking vision, the enthusiasm, the uplifting of the spirit which all those who saw with open eyes the beauty of the buildings, the charm of their coloring, the brilliance of the lighting and the sum of human endeavor to date.

By all means keep the Fair open for another hundred days and let the railroads do their part by making the rates so low that all can afford to go.

Incidentally, Chicago will benefit, but any city that has the nerve to stage such a show in a year of such depression deserves to have large benefits. Keep the Fair open. America needs its stimulus and generations yet to come in towns and hamlets off the beaten track will reecho to the beauty so freely displayed.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

NEW RULES FOR THE HOSTESS.

As many changes will be brought about in social procedure by the ending of the prohibition era it is well for the thoughtful hostess to brush up on the proper serving of wines and other alcoholic beverages and various changes in social forms and customs.

RULE I.—Hostesses must no longer burst out into tears in front of the company and say: "That dambootlegger has got his fool self into jail again and there's no gin for the cocktails." In the future the bootlegger-in-jail excuse will not be a sufficient alibi and something else must be thought up, such as "The butler went and drunk up all the booze," or something like that.

RULE II.—Serve white wine with the fish course and red wine, such as sparkling Burgundy, with the meat course. Your guests won't like it, because the taste for wine has been seriously dislocated by the prohibition area, and they will probably put down their glass of the most delicious French or German wine and say: "What's the big idea? A joke or something? This stuff tastes like hair tonic. Hain't you got any gin?" The perfect hostess will remain calm and unperturbed and simply say smilingly: "Listen, dope! That is Sauterne (or whatever kind of wine it is) and, while it may taste queer to you now, you will get used to it in time."

RULE III.—Try to direct the conversation to high and noble things, such as the NRA, the new styles and the latest gadgets on next year's automobiles. People have grown so accustomed to talking about nothing at dinner parties except their bootleggers that it will be hard to turn them into new channels of thought, but it can be done.

RULE IV.—Gin should be used only in cocktails and not served with every course as formerly. When the coffee is served provide the guests with a "liqueur" (pronounced "le-kyur"), no matter how loudly they insist on gin. A "liqueur" is a sweet, thickish drink and much preferable at the end of a dinner to gin, but after so many years of prohibition it will take some time to bring about the innovation.

RULE V.—It will not be necessary in the future to carry your own gin in your reticule when making calls, and you should sew up your husband's (if any) hip pockets. We are all creatures of habit, and your husband is quite liable unless interfered with to haul a pint flask out of his pocket at even the most fashionable dinners and shout: "Hey, there's kerosene in this stuff or somethin'! Here, have mine; it's the real prewar thing! I'm tellin' yuh!"

RULE VI.—Do not serve beer with the salad. In former days beer was considered somewhat vulgar, or at least common, and the careful hostess will frown upon it. However, your guests will probably call for it, but when it is served you should at least request them not to blow the foam across the table or at each other, as some people dislike getting it in their eyes.

In a future article this department will discuss highballs, toddies, horses' necks, mint juleps, stingarees, and other drinks of that kind. But the making of them has become a lost art and it will do no good to revive them until the taste for such things slowly returns.

NOVEMBER NIGHTFALL.

CHICAGO, 1933.

Starbeams augmented at this hour
Of twilight, fire each topless tower.
The airplane headlights travel by,
The shuttle-cars weave through the sky,
While lights and banners everywhere
Proclaim man's evanescent ware.

All things are colorful and strange.
A harnessed rainbow in its range
Tries to outvie the Hunter's moon
Shining above the still lagoon,
And searchlights call the setting sun
To witness what proud man has done.

The moon above shines coldly on
As once it looked on Babylon.
The sun swings dark. Unvexed by fear
Arcturus streams from year to year.
Unchanged in the Eternal plan
Are stars—and the sad heart of Man.

ANCHUSA.

IF THAT young Cuban wiped his hands on the Stars and Stripes something ought to be done about it; land the marines, send down a battleship, call out the guard, or have a poet write a patriotic poem starting off with:

He wiped his hands on the American flag,
Greater crime was never done;
But let Columbia's sons march down
And kill that Cuban bum.

LAWRENCE TIBBETT, the w. k. opera singer, has received the gold medal of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for good diction. It would be a fine thing if Lawrence would present a good diction program in which he gave the correct pronunciation of words which are now known in the American language as roon, constetooshun, dooty, Perdoo, noos, neospapers, and ben. There's a lot more, but this list would do to start with. Besides, it won't do any good anyhow.

BUNIONS IN ART.

IN A Century of Progress exhibition of paintings at the Chicago Art institute there is at least one picture in which the subject is portrayed as having bunions and assorted deformities of the toes, including what may be hammer toe. It is true that the early painters drew the human foot very inadequately. Their knowledge of anatomy did not extend to that of the feet or, at least, that would be a fair inference as to some of the painters.

But that is not the explanation of the peculiar shape of the feet in two of the pictures found there. In one the feet are very broad across the ball. In front of the ball of the foot the toes make a triangle.

Since the foot is so much broader at the ball than it is at the heel there is another triangle effect, the second one having its base at the ball and its apex somewhere back of the heel.

The people in the period when this picture was painted did not wear shoes as we know them today. When there was a foot covering it was a sandal, consisting of a sole and just enough top to hold the sole in place. Obviously, wearing short and narrow shoes could not have been a cause of bunions in either of these periods.

This fact lends support to the theory that bunions develop principally because of the conditions within the foot, and that the effects of improper shoes are contributing causes only. This theory holds that bunions develop in feet in which there are sesamoid bones or bony spurs on the foot bones, and that these get between the long and naturally parallel foot bones, causing them to spread. Of these, displaced sesamoids are the more frequent cause.

The thickening of the bones of the ball and the development of large corns and calluses around these joints are secondary effects, the spreading ranking as a primary effect. Hammer toe ranks as a tertiary or third class effect.

When this theory applies the proper curative treatments consist in removing the sesamoid or bony spur which causes the spreading. When this has been done the foot bones again lie parallel and, in course of time, the thickening of the bones lessens, the calluses and corns disappear, and the toes straighten to a degree.

So far as the evidence of painting goes some people had bunions prior to the invention of the modern shoe. However, it may have been that some four hundred years ago painters did not try to be accurate in painting the feet, merely adding something down there by way of scenery.

ATHLETE'S FOOT.

J. P. W. writes: A young woman asked me a remedy for athlete's foot. I gave her some Dakin's antiseptic and told her to put a little on her stockings and pour a little in her shoes. She told me that three applications cured the feet completely.

REPLY.

Thanks. Many use hypochlorite solution as a preventive and are satisfied. It is not in general use as a cure.

PROPERTY RIGHTS.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father purchased a home in this city while a widower. Since then he has remarried, consequently his wife's name does not appear on title or abstract. 1. Can he sell the home without the wife's signature? 2. Are her children entitled to a share? They were all of age and married at the time of the second marriage. 3. What is a wife's share in Indiana?

R. S. T.

1. No, in the sense that a joint deed is necessary in order to pass her interest.
2. No.
3. One-third where the real estate is less than $10,000.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark.—Johannes Sorenson, Danish engineer and scientist, whose claim to have discovered the principle of radio and to have carried out successful experiments before Marconi was recognized in Denmark, has created excitement in scientific circles by giving a demonstration of the theory that the universe is a great electrical plant worked by power generated in the sun.

After many years of experiments Sorenson has constructed a globe which as nearly as can be guessed is of much the same chemical composition as the earth. This globe is about the size of an orange. It looks like any other geographical globe, with islands, seas, and continents marked upon it.

Where it differs is that it is constructed of successive layers of metal of varying thickness in proportion to the estimated content of these metals in the earth. There are iron, silver, copper, gold, platinum, and half a dozen other metals and materials.

Th globe is hung on a spindle between the poles of a powerful magnet and when exposed to the heat of the sun, of a burning match, or even a lighted cigaret, it begins to revolve slowly in the same direction as the earth's daily rotation, and continues to do so until the heat is withdrawn, when it stops.

Sorenson claims this proves the theory that the rotation of the earth results from electric forces. In the northern hemisphere these currents run from northeast to southwest and in the southern hemisphere from southeast to northwest. The same applies to the trade winds, which are governed by the same forces, and the chief ocean currents are also directed in the same way. The result of all these forces is the daily rotation of the earth and they are also responsible for the fact, Sorenson says, that the continents are slowly moving west.

Just what use Sorenson's globe will be is not clear, but it is an interesting experiment. It may be adopted for demonstration purposes in the Danish schools.

SHOCKED.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—I was shocked by your cartoon of this morning and have heard nothing but unfavorable comment all day.

I have been watching the actions of the President with considerable misgiving, and certainly am not sure that his program is going to solve all of our problems; nevertheless, collapse of his program at the present time would certainly bring new and greater disasters than we have yet seen. The injection at this time of stupid partisan politics into the situation by a great representative newspaper such as THE TRIBUNE is distinctly against the best interest of the nation.

R. E. TRUAX.

THE FORGOTTEN MILLIONS.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 7.—A library of books could not have been more expressive than Orr's cartoon, "Fenced Off," in Saturday's TRIBUNE. May the stories he writes in pictures be always on the side of the "Forgotten Millions."

May the pens of Messrs. McCutcheon and Orr speak still louder in behalf of those of us who need a champion.

J. GEORGE LUDE.

FORECAST.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—I cannot stand any longer the unfair, insidious propaganda you are fostering against the administration and especially the NRA when you are displaying the NRA emblem and the American flag on your front page. The bolsheviks of Russia would not publish a more deceitful and lying cartoon than the NRA cartoon of Orr's this morning. Do you think we can again go back to the old exploitation system? If you wreck this administration you will have a revolution and then what? In the future some time we will recall headlines and cartoons of today and THE TRIBUNE will be ashamed of them.

EDWARD NOTTS.

BROKEN HEARTED.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Nov. 6.—The Saturday TRIBUNE with the "No Relief Anywhere" cartoon on the front page just broke my heart. It was like my best friend had turned cold for no cause and can't recover from the shock. The first chance in years that we have a chance to really do some good, and then my ideal had to be shattered by the paper I have always sworn by. Maybe the NRA will be killed by such powerful opposition, but if it is I wonder what we will do then. I wonder.

ARTHUR LANEY.

HOW PEOPLE FEEL.

Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 4.—I want to register my protest against the cartoon which you had on your front page this morning. I think it is one of the most dastardly cartoons that I have ever seen. The comment I have heard on your paper for running such a cartoon has been most unfavorable.

I am and have been a constant reader of your paper and, as far as that is concerned, expect to continue to be because it is a good newspaper, but I think it is only fair that you should know how people feel toward your cartoon.

JOSEPH S. PERRY.

APPRECIATION.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—I cannot resist the impulse to express my personal appreciation for the splendid fight which your paper and others are making for the preservation of American industry.

If industry is to be saved from utter ruin by the tactics of Gen. Johnson and his NRA administration it will be because of the willingness of such newspapers as your own to rise to the defense of industry as a whole.

It may interest you to know that the proposed draft of the graphic arts code, under which our particular industry would be governed, is designed, in so far as I can ascertain, to annihilate the small and medium sized printer. If it were put into effect it would mean ruin to numerous small and medium plants in the south which have been hanging on by a thread during the last two years.

You are doing a great service for industry as a whole and your attitude is winning the respect and admiration of people in all walks of life.

WILLIAM G. SIMPSON,
Manager, C. T. Dearing Printing Co.

TREASON AND SEDITION.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 4.—Is it true that we are at war with the depression [as Mr. Hoover phrased it]? If so, do we allow our newspapers to print seditious cartoons upon the front page?

ROBERT W. WINSTON.

BENEFITS OF NRA.

Park Ridge, Ill., Nov. 4.—Let me say this much: The NRA has given three people employment in the office of an insurance company's accounting department in which I am employed. And another thing, the NRA has created employment for my brother as a printer after being out of work nearly three years.

A copy of the cartoon is being forwarded to Gen. Johnson also, which I believe will interest him.

WILL H. ADDLER.

ALL ALONE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Your editorials and cartoons knocking the Roosevelt administration are very annoying to myself and friends. I have yet to find any one who believes you are pursuing the right course.

A. W. KUHN.

SOME RELIEF SOMEWHERE.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 4.—On every side I have witnessed men returning to work, some who have been without employment for three years; the relief roll here has almost steadily decreased. Still you contend there is no relief. It seems you at least can be fair and give this effort its just due.

I am wholeheartedly against censoring the press in any way, unless the privilege is abused, such as this instance.

C. ATERS.

NO RELIEF BEFORE.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—You imply that NRA means "No Relief Anywhere." Before the existence of the NRA where was the relief?

It is an easy matter to criticize, but why don't you offer an alternative if the NRA displeases you?

The former President sat tight and pursued a waiting policy, while our present leader promised action and is endeavoring to at least accomplish something, and will no doubt carry us through in spite of an unsympathetic press.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION TO CENTER AT FAIR

Plan Silent Tribute to War Dead at 11 A. M.

Fifteen years after the joyful hysteria of the first Armistice day, Chicago is preparing for the sound of trumpets at 11 o'clock Saturday morning to fuse the American spirit in another day of memorial for the living and dead. At the sacred hour trumpeters will call for a moment of silent tribute for those who gave their lives in the great war.

The living will celebrate this year at A Century of Progress. But the loop—the scene of unrestrained joy on Nov. 11, 1918—will also mark the eventful hour. Not with the screaming whistles, ticker tape and bedlam of fifteen years ago, but with the haunting notes of taps.

Every American Legion post in the metropolitan area is expected to participate in the celebration at the Fair. Marching units of the various posts will assemble at 9 a. m. at the 14th street entrance. To the blare and roll of bugle and drum corps they will march down the Avenue of Flags to the 16th street bridge and across the lagoon to the Hall of States.

Program to Open At 10 A. M.

At 10 o'clock the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," by Mme. Irene Pavlowska will open the program. Invocation will be pronounced by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of the Chicago diocese. Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly will make short addresses. The principal speaker will be Harry Woodring, assistant secretary of war.

Taps will be sounded at 11 o'clock.

In the afternoon United States troops will participate in a sham battle at 4 o'clock. The combat will be held on the board walk of the North lagoon. Army planes will wheel overhead as several hundred men engage in the mock battle. In the evening patriotic fireworks will close the day of observance.

During the evening various Legion posts and veterans' organizations will hold services for their dead. These will consist of short addresses, gun salutes, and dances. In all, more than a half million persons are expected to take part in the day's celebration representing 185 Legion posts in the county.

Public Offices to Be Closed.

City, county, state, and federal offices, with the exception of a few which must necessarily retain skeleton forces, will be closed. Governmental buildings, business houses, and homes will be decorated with flags.

Special memorial services will be held at the Chicago Historical society at 10 a. m. Dr. James A. James, professor of history at Northwestern university, will preside at a meeting to be addressed by the Rev. Leland J. Danforth of Kenilworth.

In a room in the Society building in Lincoln park will be found the photographs of some 1,200 Chicagoans who lost their lives in the war. The room has been designed as a chapel, with amber glass windows and a gold leaf ceiling. Wreaths are to be placed there by veterans' organizations.

Church to Mark Day.

The Armistice will be observed Sunday in various churches with appropriate services. In St. James' church at Cass and Huron street Dr. Duncan H. Browne, S. T. D., will preach at a service for British and colonial veterans. Other national groups will hold exercises Saturday and Sunday.

In Chicago schools the day will be observed tomorrow. At the request of President Roosevelt appropriate ceremonies will be held in gratitude for peace and the desire for continuance of friendly relations with other peoples. During the week special emphasis on the annual ceremonial has been placed in history classes.

TWO YOUTHS GET YEAR.

Two youths, originally charged with burglary, pleaded guilty yesterday to malicious mischief and were sentenced by Judge John Gutknecht to one year in the Bridewell. They are Edward Downey, 17 years old, of San Francisco, and John Pucick, 17 years old, 6909 North Sangamon street.

R. H. ROBINSON, LEADING MASON, DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Robert Hugh Robinson, one of the nation's leading Masons and a prominent layman in the Reformed church in America, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Robinson, a retired wholesale drapery merchant, was 68.

He was past grand master of Masons in the state of New York and had served as treasurer of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America. He was noted in Masonic and religious circles.

$150 Surgical Kit Stolen from Auto of Physician

Unable to lock the door of his automobile, Dr. Arthur V. Berquist, 1240 Carmen avenue, left the car unlocked last night in front of the Ravenswood hospital while he called on several patients. When he returned to his car he discovered thieves had looted it of his bag of surgical instruments valued at $150.

Spain Discovers Terrorist Plot to Wreck Elections

MADRID, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The government announced tonight it had learned of a nation-wide extremist plot to call a general strike and institute a terror campaign Nov. 18, calculated to wreck the Spanish elections scheduled for the 19th.

FRENCH HAIRDRESSER WON'T LET $300,000 ROB HIM OF HIS SLEEP

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Paul Bonhoure, hairdresser of Tarascon, whose lottery ticket H18414 yesterday won him 5,000,000 francs [about $300,000 currency], was asleep when he made his fortune. He was awakened by a crowd which shouted below his window, "You've won five millions!"

He did not believe it, but when Tax Collector Poujol, from whom he bought the ticket, came and told him it was true he went to a café for a game of cards and a few drinks. The game of cards was somewhat interrupted by congratulations, but M. Bonhoure, who is a man of decision, ended all that by going back to bed.

Today was different. Crowds came again to congratulate M. Bonhoure. He had to treat them to champagne as he took his morning coffee. Photographers and newspaper men from Paris bothered the life out of him. "What are you going to do?" they all asked. "I am going to go on working," was the wise reply. "One gets so bored if he doesn't work."

Life, however, doesn't seem likely to be easy for Paul Bonhoure, at least until some one else wins 5,000,000 francs in a national lottery. In celebration he has promised free permanent waves to all his lady clients.

5 GERMANS FLY SOUTH ATLANTIC WITH ONE STOP

NATAL, Brazil, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A German flying boat piloted by Rudolph von Klausbruch landed here at 2:55 p. m. today after a one-stop flight across the South Atlantic ocean. The one stop was on the German steamer Westphalen in midocean.

The plane carried four other men in addition to the pilot. They were testing the proposed regular mail service between Europe and South America. The S. S. Westphalen is maintaining a position about 950 miles east of Natal.

According to the plans, the airmail planes will land alongside the ship and be hoisted to the deck, then mail will be transferred to another plane which will be catapulted off on its way across the rest of the ocean.

The plane reached the Westphalen yesterday after a six hour flight from Bathrust, Africa, and reached here 8 hours and 50 minutes after being catapulted from the ship, thus crossing the South Atlantic in less than 15 hours total flying time.

Lindberghs Fly to Geneva; Holland Fog Delays Start

GENEVA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh arrived here at 1:51 p. m. today after a flight from Rotterdam, Holland. They had attempted to fly here yesterday but were prevented by heavy fog.

PROPOSES ITALY END PARLIAMENT; RULE BY GUILDS

Corporations Council Would Absorb Deputies.

ROME, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A fundamental reshaping of the corporative structure of the Fascist state was undertaken at a national council of corporations meeting today over which Premier Mussolini presided.

A proposal by which the council would absorb the chamber of deputies, thus acquiring legislative powers, and by which the government would have more of a guild and less of a parliamentary aspect will be one of the subjects under discussion during the remainder of the sessions, which are expected to last until Saturday. The project was advanced by President Marsanich of the commerce corporation.

Revives Guild System.

Other subjects taken up today included the creation of category guilds, or guilds in the various branches of industry, which would represent an important remodeling of coöperative systems but which would not affect the country's political organizations.

Other speakers at the first meeting were the following presidents of various corporations: Clavenzani of the confederation of industry, Rachell of the confederation of commerce, Consolo of banking, Depala of maritime transport, Ciardi of internal transport, and Panuzzi of the University of Perugia.

Marsanich was the only one who advocated the absorption of the chamber of deputies and was enthusiastically applauded for his stand. Mussolini made no comments. Others advocated that legislative powers in economic matters be given to the corporations' council or spoke against the proposed changes.

Duce Rings the Bell.

Their views were presented so heatedly that Mussolini often had to ring his bell for order. It was the first time in months that a division of opinion had been openly expressed.

Great public interest attended the session because of reports that Mussolini would disclose plans for sweeping political alterations. In an interview early last month Mussolini said it was necessary to end the old ideas of liberal capitalism.

SUPREME COURT OF SPAIN TO RULE ON 5 AMERICANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PALMA, Mallorca, Nov. 8.—Five Americans, four men and one woman, who recently were acquitted by a court martial on a charge of having struck a civil guard in the face, learned today that they are still not free from the clutches of Spanish law.

The application of Military Prosecutor Mulet for an appeal to the Supreme court at Madrid against their acquittal has been granted by competent military authorities. This means that for two or three months, until the case comes before the Supreme court.

This new development knocks on the head the plan of Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, O., one of the five, to return to New York and of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass., to make a trip to Italy, for which they had already bought their tickets. The other two defendants were Roderick F. Mead of New York and Edmund W. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn.

One of those brilliant opportunities!

Do you USE THE SAME CARE IN BUYING newspaper SPACE THAT YOU WOULD IN HIRING A SALESMANAGER?

You probably invest far more money in newspaper space in Chicago than you pay your local sales manager. . . . It is highly important, therefore, that you fortify your knowledge of the Chicago newspaper situation. These questions will help you do it. . . . Unless you know the answers to them, you do not have the full facts on which to select the advertising medium best fitted to sell your product in this market.

1 Which newspaper reaches half of the families in metropolitan Chicago?

2 Which Chicago newspaper has the greatest coverage of women, according to every reader interest survey made among Chicago women?

3 Which Chicago newspaper receives in one issue 67% as much money from the department stores which advertise every day, as any other paper receives in six issues?

4 Which Chicago newspaper delivers practically as much circulation as any two afternoon newspapers combined?

5 Which newspaper carries the brunt of most of the campaigns which successfully introduce new products in the Chicago market?

6 What are all the facts regarding the advertising possibilities offered by each Chicago newspaper?

Chicago is, or can be made, one of your most important markets. But because of its very size, it cannot be safely included in any rule-of-thumb generalities regarding newspapers—their time of issue or the best day of the week upon which to advertise. . . . Why not get down to the actual facts of Chicago newspaper values? A study of conditions in this market will help you select the Chicago newspaper which can do the best selling job for you. . . . Let us give you the facts. Write, phone or wire for them.

AID OF HITLER ACCUSES REDS AT ARSON TRIAL

Dr. Goebbels Replies to Brown Book Charges.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The accusation that communists "needed a sensational act like the reichstag fire to give the signal for a general uprising" was made today by Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda and public enlightenment.

He testified at the hearing of five alleged communists charged with firing the parliament building last Feb. 27, and engaged in a battle of wits with two defendants that ended only when the presiding judge, Wilhelm Buenger, peremptorily cut off further questioning by the irrepressible Georgi Dimitroff, Bulgarian defendant.

Replies to Foreign Charges.

Dr. Goebbels recognized the importance of the intellectual duel, for at the conclusion of an hour's testimony and cross-examination lasting another hour he declared:

"I have tried with meticulous care to reply to allegations of the Brown Book and of foreign countries."

He referred to charges in the London Brown Book, issued by a commission headed by Lord Marley and containing alleged instances of Nazi wrongdoings and the accusation that Hitlerites themselves had a hand in starting the blaze.

Dimitroff's questions—he acts as his own counsel—were aimed throughout at showing that Nazis, too, had employed violence before they came into power, and that they are operating even now with illegal names and passports in Austria.

Goebbels Loses His Temper.

At these allegations the propaganda minister lost his temper and claimed his party had never committed murder or stored up arms except to defend themselves.

Ernst Torgler, former communist floor leader in the parliament, asked Dr. Goebbels:

"How can you claim the communists were the only ones to benefit from the reichstag fire when, on the contrary, we knew you controlled the whole state machinery besides the storm troopers and steel helmeters? Wouldn't it have been sheer madness for the communists to fire the reichstag?"

Angrily the minister retorted to the defendant, "The question is not who actually benefited, but rather who would have if the mad plan for an uprising had succeeded.

"You knew you would be forbidden and extinguished after the election, hence you considered the reichstag fire your last chance.

"The communist incendiarists would today pose as great heroes if their plan of giving a signal for an uprising through the reichstag fire had succeeded."

LADY ASTOR SAYS SHE WOULD LIKE TO GIVE GOVERNMENT A KICK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Lady Astor threatened to withdraw her support from the national government during a debate today on measure which she said made her want to give the cabinet a good kicking, because it failed to protect chil. workers.

The house had gone into committee on a bill to continue the labor laws act passed in 1920. It only regulates hours for persons above the ago of 16. Lady Astor said the original measure was passed by war profiteers.

"Why do you not have the courage to come forward and bring in a factories act?" the peeress demanded, turning wrathfully on the front bench where the ministers sat. "Who is keeping you back? I the government does not promise to deal with this question of hours of juveniles I think we ought to vote against it. We are supposed to back the government, but we feel something more like kicking than backing you."

Although she was supported by the Laborites, Lady Astor's attack lost by a big majority when the issue was put to a vote.

NEW THEORY OF ANAESTHETICS IS DESCRIBED

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A new theory of anaesthetics, which explains the mysterious action of anaesthetics on living body tissues and organs as due to a lowering of the vital shortwave radiations emitted by every living cell in the body, and promises to save many lives, was described tonight by George W. Crile of Cleveland. He spoke before the tenth anniversary meeting of the American Society of Regional Anaesthesia.

Dr. Crile's theory is an outgrowth of his general conception of the living body as a "life radio set," in which all the cells, when normal, constantly emit radiations of varying wave lengths, short waves and long waves, the range corresponding to that of the spectrum from sunlight, from the long infra-red rays to the short ultra-violet rays.

The short waves are vital to the maintenance of life in its higher activities. When the short waves in any organ are lowered that organ's vitality becomes lowered. When they are reduced to zero that organ dies.

In case an organ is diseased the short wave radiations from that organ are correspondingly lowered. Similarly, Dr. Crile has found that a general anaesthetic lowers the short wave radiations not only from the brain but from every organ and tissue in the living body.

Hence, Dr. Crile stated, in the case of a diseased organ the administration of a general anaesthetic may result, and sometimes does result, in the lowering of the short wave radiation to a minimum dangerous to life. Particularly is this likely to be true in the case of older persons, in whom the short wave radiations are already lowered through age.

EX-CROWN PRINCE BOWS TO HITLER ON EVE OF FETE

Celebrate Tenth Year of Munich Coup.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, on the eve of the fifteenth anniversary of the day his father, the former kaiser, was dethroned, and on the tenth anniversary of the ill fated Nazi revolt at Munich, bowed today in admiration and loyalty to Adolf Hitler, dictatorial chancellor of Germany.

In a long statement published tonight he hailed the Austrian born Hitler, who served as a noncommissioned officer in the wartime army of Kaiser Wilhelm, as a redeemer of the national honor of Germany.

Celebrate at Munich.

Just as King Victor Emmanuel of Italy set an example for the masses by cheering Premier Mussolini on the eleventh anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, the dethroned scion of the Hohenzollerns acted as cheer leader for the German people on the tenth anniversary of Hitler's Munich putsch, which landed Hitler in jail, but gave him the glory of martyrdom in the eyes of his countrymen.

In the streets of Munich celebrations were begun today to honor the memory of the dead Nazis and to pay tribute to Hitler and his loyal colleagues. It was in these same streets ten years ago that the bullets of the Bavarian republican police scattered Hitler and his braves, wounding him and Hermann Wilhelm Goering, now premier of Prussia and national minister of aviation, and killing sixteen of his men.

Hitler to Lead Parade.

A torchlight procession of students, clad in Nazi uniforms and their own colorful regalia, wound through Munich tonight while old timers assembled in the beer halls of the city where the putsch was hatched ten years ago. Thousands tried to get into the Sterneckerbrau, where Hitler and his first six followers were wont to meet to discuss ways and means of overthrowing the republic.

Goering and Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, addressed enthusiastic masses tonight. Tomorrow the festivities will reach a climax with a parade through the Bavarian capital with Hitler heading the men who followed him in 1923.

Two of these men are expected to be conspicuously absent. They are Gen. Enrich Ludendorff and Gregor Strasser. Ludendorff marched at Hitler's side in 1923 but he has now disappeared from the political stage and his newspaper has been suppressed. Strasser was openly accused of lacking loyalty to Hitler in the crisis last fall and has withdrawn to comparative seclusion as head of a chemical plant.

Army to Fire Salute.

Hitler and his braves will follow the same itinerary as in 1923, but this time soldiers will stand at attention. Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, will be present. The reichswehr [regular army] will fire a salute in memory of Hitler's dead followers.

At the spot where his comrades fell Hitler has had erected a memorial shaft bearing their names with a laurel wreath bearing this inscription: "You Won Despite Everything." It is right beside Munich's historical "hall of generals." In front of this memorial old Nazi campaigners and 20,000 other storm troopers will march past Hitler.

Schools will be closed for the day and shops will close at 2 p. m.

Bishops Urged to Restrict Services of the Sacrament

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—By unanimous vote tonight, the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church in session here "received" the petition signed by 2,115 clergymen which censures episcopal clergymen who have joined "in celebrations of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper by ministers who are not episcopally ordained." By receiving the petition without comment, the house of bishops has refused to take sides as a body, in a controversy arising from a service in the Episcopal cathedral at St. Louis, where the Episcopal bishops of Missouri invited a Methodist clergyman to administer a service of communion.

The petition to the house of bishops, which was signed by 64 clergymen of the diocese of Chicago, declares that actions similar to that in St. Louis, if persisted in, "will precipitate a crisis in our own church, will break the fellowship of our church with the anglican communion, and will endanger the present hopes of Christian reunion."

The petition was circulated among the 6,000 clergymen of the Episcopal church by "a committee of 25."

The most Rev. James D. Perry, primate of the Episcopal church, nominated the Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, bishop of Delaware, to be his assessor. Bishop Cook's nomination was unanimously approved by the house of bishops.

If Bishop Cook's appointment is approved by the general convention of 1934 he will become assistant presiding bishop and vice president of the national council.

If there is to be an Episcopal exhibit at the Hall of Religion in the 1934 Chicago Fair it will be conducted by the diocese of Chicago and not by the church at large, it was disclosed by the Rev. Warfield P. Hebbes of New York. While more than 2,000,000 persons have visited the exhibit during the Fair, members of the national council of the church have expressed themselves unfavorably toward continuation of the exhibit.

RAILROAD SPAN BURNED; BLAME FARM PICKETS

Portsmouth, Ia., Nov. 9 (Thursday).—(AP)—A large bridge of the Milwaukee railroad was fired and destroyed early today one mile south of here by men who Sheriff George E. Jensen said were farm strike pickets.

The sheriff said that evidences of kerosene and other combustible materials showed that the bridge had been intentionally set afire.

He said the flames were sweeping the entire length of the structure and that the bridge was "nearly gone."

WARNS AGAINST FAKE TICKETS FOR XMAS BENEFIT

Mayor Kelly yesterday issued a warning against the purchase of fake tickets for Chicag.'s Own Christmas benefit, for which tickets are to be placed on sale next week. Legitimate tickets will carry facsimile signatures of the mayor; Col. A. A. Sprague, treasurer of the benefit committee, and Barnet Hodes, secretary. While it will be difficult to duplicate the tickets, the sponsors of the event advise the public to be on the lookout for swindlers. The benefit will be held on Dec. 20 in the Chicago Stadium. Proceeds of the show will provide 125,000 Christmas baskets of food and clothing for needy families.

SCHOOLGIRL OF 10 IS RAPED ON HER WAY TO CLASSES

Residents in the vicinity of the Bell school, at Grace street and Oakley avenue, were aroused yesterday over the raping of a 10 year old schoolgirl. She was on her way to classes after the noon recess when the rapist, described as 40 to 42 years old, halted her. Earlier he had approached several other girls of similar age, but they fled. Police said the man took the girl to a basement at 2345 Irving Park boulevard and raped her. She was taken later to St. Elizabeth hospital and given medical attention.

A CLEARER, SMOOTHER SKIN IS WAITING FOR YOU

DON'T think your skin is hopeless! Don't envy the loveliness of others! End your complexion worries—save money, too—with this low-cost scientific formula that quickly brings real skin beauty by correcting skin faults!

Already over 6,000,000 American women have gained clearer, smoother, lovelier skin through Noxzema. That's what's in store for you! Noxzema is utterly different—far more effective than expensively perfumed creams and lotions. It's greaseless, medicated! Noxzema penetrates deep, gets rid of hidden poisons that cause blemishes—its rare medicines soothe and soften—its ice-like astringents shrink the coarsened pores to exquisite fineness.

For a skin as radiantly clear and free from blemishes as science can make it—follow this simple beauty plan for 15 days: Massage in Noxzema at night after removing make-up. (If skin is dry or flaky, apply several times, as much as can be absorbed.) In the morning wash off with warm water followed by cold. Then apply a new light layer of Noxzema as a foundation for your powder. In this way Noxzema works all day and all night, too. Continue using Noxzema until every beauty-marring skin flaw has disappeared!

TELLS HOW KNIFE RELIEVES PAIN OF CANCER PATIENTS

23 Incurables in Chicago Eased, Surgeon Says.

A comparatively simple form of nerve surgery by which surgeons may relieve certain incurable cancer patients of the excruciating pain which they would otherwise suffer in the final stages of the disease was described last night by Dr. J. P. Greenhill during a symposium on cancer before the Chicago Medical society.

Dr. Greenhill and his associate, Dr. H. E. Schmitz, have performed the operation upon 23 women patients suffering from cancer of the womb at the Cook county and Lying-In hospitals, and so far, he reported last evening, have been successful in every case in relieving the patients of pain.

The operation consists of the removal of the hypogastric plexus, the collection of sympathetic nerves lying against the backbone below the stomach. These nerves convey to the brain the sensations of pain from the lower abdominal organs.

Not a Cure for Cancer.

Dr. Greenhill emphasized the fact that the operation is not a cure for cancer, but rather a method of relieving the pain of those for whom no cure is possible. Its use is not confined, however, to cases of cancer. It may be applied to other ailments of the lower abdominal area in both men and women to relieve pain, and in some of these cases the operation is in effect a cure, in that with the relief of the pain the patient is no longer troubled by the ailment.

An advantage of the method which Dr. Greenhill stressed is its comparative simplicity. While nerve surgery is no novelty, its practice in most cases requires a specialist, of whom there are not many in the United States. The removal of a section of the sympathetic nerves in the present technique, however, can be accomplished by any surgeon experienced in the treatment of diseases of women.

Progress in Last Decade.

Dr. Greenhill pointed out that surgeons have advocated some form of nerve surgery for the alleviation of pain for 35 years, although the most important developments have taken place in the last decade. His technique is a modification of one first recommended by a French surgeon, Gaston Cotte, who published a paper on the subject two years ago.

The other speakers who took part in the symposium included Dr. R. H. Jaffe, pathologist at the county hospital; Dr. Henry E. Schmitz, Dr. Arthur H. Curtis, and Dr. N. Sproat Heaney. The general subject of the symposium was cancer of the neck of the womb.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: In His Hat

PHILETUS W. GATES RITES TO BE HELD IN EVANSTON TOMORROW

Philetus Warren Gates of the Orrington hotel, Evanston, one of the pioneer heavy machinery manufacturers of the middle west, died Tuesday at the Presbyterian hospital after an illness of several weeks. He was 76 years old.

PHILETUS W. GATES.

Mr. Gates, from 1875 to 1887, was owner and manager of the old Galt house in Chicago. He then entered the manufacturing field and became connected with the Gates Iron works. He was credited with the invention of the gyratory rock crusher. When the Gates firm was absorbed by the Allis-Chalmers company in 1901 he took charge of the latter corporation's operation for several years. From 1908 to 1922, when he retired, Mr. Gates was president of the Hanna Engineering works. At one time he was president of the South State Street Improvement association.

Mr. Gates is survived by his widow, Mrs. Phimelia Gates. Funeral services are to be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Frank Pomeroy, 1832 Asbury avenue, Evanston.

LYNN R. MEEKINS, EDITOR, WRITER, DIES IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Lynn Roby Meekins, noted American editor and writer, died here today of a heart attack. He would have been 71 years old next Tuesday.

Meekins became the first managing editor of the Saturday Evening Post in 1899 after that publication was acquired by the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis. During his 17 years as literary editor of the Baltimore American, from 1882 to 1899, he won distinction as a pioneer modern short story writer.

Meekins came to London early in August accompanied by his wife and son, Lynn W. Meekins, who is commercial attaché at the American embassy here. Funeral services will be held at the son's home, Claygate, Surrey, on Saturday.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

WILLIAM DICK, BELIEVED LAST MOHICAN, DEAD

Language Recorded Here Last Year.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—(AP)—William Dick, 76, Indian, who regarded himself "the last of the Mohicans," is dead here.

With his death, several ethnologists agreed, the musical speech of the Mohicans ceased to be a living language. It never was written, except in the notes of a few scholars.

Dick learned the Mohican tongue from his mother. In later years it came haltingly to his lips because there was no one with whom he could converse.

But a year ago, when University of Chicago anthropologists sought his help in recording the ancient language, he was able to recall many of the idioms and phrases once current in the Hudson river country.

Gives 300 Words.

He spoke them into recording devices and to Miss Olive Eggan, a university research worker. He gave a vocabulary of more than 300 words. There are other Mohicans, investigators said, but Dick was the last who spoke the old language of the tribe.

Prof. Franklin Speck of the University of Pennsylvania, a student of Algonquin languages, first discovered that Dick might serve science. The old Indian was able to give Prof. Speck valuable historical data.

Old Home in Massachusetts.

The old home of the tribe was at Stockbridge, Mass. In 1821 the Mohicans came to Wisconsin, settling first at Green Bay and moving later to the east shore of Lake Winnebago.

Nineteen years ago Dick came to Milwaukee. He lived here with his daughter, Mrs. Lena Bauman, and his grandson, Elmer Bauman. He died yesterday at the county hospital.

Milwaukee county two years ago granted him an old age pension at a court appearance at which he was obliged to give his name. In his own dead language, he said, it is "Makwa Monpuy."

ROBERT K. SLOAN FUNERAL WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Robert K. Sloan, 73 years old, former alderman and a pioneer in the motor livery business in Chicago, who died Tuesday after an illness of several years. Masonic rites will be held at Richard Cole lodge, No. 697, at 6400 South Green street, of which he was a charter member and past master.

Sloan came to Chicago in 1881. His first job was that of a driver on the old horse car lines, but he later worked up to the position of division superintendent of the surface lines. Following the World's Fair of 1893 he was elected alderman of the old Fifth ward. He was also a candidate on the Democratic ticket for coroner against Peter M. Hoffman in 1908.

After his term in the city council he entered the undertaking business, opening an establishment at 2814 Archer avenue. He later established a livery service in connection with the business and was one of the first in the city in the automobile livery field. He withdrew from his undertaking establishment in 1923, after having operated it about 20 years, and became secretary of the Chicago Motor Liverysmen's association, since replaced by the Funeral Services Associated. He was president of both the Chicago Undertakers' association and the Illinois State Funeral Directors' association. He retired in 1929.

Widow of Walter C. Wolff, Oak Park Fire Chief, Dies

Mrs. Louise Wolff, 48 years old, widow of Walter C. Wolff, who was chief of the Oak Park fire department, died yesterday in the Oak Park hospital. Although she was injured recently in an automobile accident, it was said death was due to natural causes. Mrs. Wolff, who was once matron at the Oak Park police station, later became a warder at the state prison for women at Dwight. She is survived by three daughters.

Charles P. Ives, Last of Yale Class of 1872, Found Dead

Branford, Conn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Charles Pomeroy Ives, 87 year old former farmer-philosopher and last surviving member of the Yale law school class of 1872, was found dead today, three days after his disappearance from his Pine Orchard farm. The body was found behind a barn a mile and a half from his home. Death apparently was caused by exposure.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

NURSE DESCRIBES WOMAN'S DEATH FROM ABORTION

Miss Elovitz was a nurse in Dr. Nathanson's office at 3846 West Madison street. The victim of the alleged abortion murder was Mrs. Ruth Baccus, 40 years old, of Stockton, Ill.

Miss Elovitz testified that when Mrs. Baccus first came to the office on Jan. 16 Dr. Nathanson said: "That woman hasn't got enough money. She only has $25." The nurse next saw Mrs. Baccus the day of her death, Jan. 18, when the operation was performed.

"I was holding her pulse and noticed it was becoming very weak," Miss Elovitz testified. "I told Dr. Nathanson, and he said, 'Take it again.' I told him it was still weaker, and he got her some whisky. She died soon afterward."

Dr. Nathanson told her to hide the instruments, and instructed her to say it was an emergency operation "if we are picked up," the nurse testified.

Jean Wilhelm New Head of French Group

Fourth Chairman Elected Within a Year.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS JEAN WILHELM, debutante daughter of the Frank E. Wilhelms, has accepted the chairmanship of the juniors of the Alliance Francaise, to take the place left vacant when Betty Brown became Mrs. Allen E. Whitman and moved to New York. Miss Wilhelm is the fourth chairman the juniors have had in the short space of one year, for the other three all became brides and there are no married women in the juniors.

Paula Wilms, now Mrs. Malcolm Henderson, was the first. Then Marjorie Goodman, who now is Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. Betty Brown succeded her, and it was n't more than a few weeks later that she was married suddenly in New York. So Miss Wilhelm, if she is the least bit superstitious, had better look out!

Today is the opening day of the season for the junior and senior members of the alliance to start sewing for the Red Cross. While they sew some one speaks or reads to them in French and the hostess of the day serves tea. This afternoon Mme. Rene Weiller, wife of the French consul general, will be the hostess, assisted by the wives of the French vice-consuls, Mme. Meyer and Mme. Kramer, and also by Mrs. Jules Bloch and Mrs. Allen Howes. Mrs. Roger Cros will read from the French classics.

Mrs. Ralph T. Winston, who is to be the hostess at the mid-December causeries, has obtained a promise from Mrs. Charles S. Dewey to talk about "The Life of a Little Village in France." This means that undoubtedly the meeting will be an exceptionally well attended sewing bee, for Mrs. Dewey spend every summer in France in the old chateau she and her husband own there and her talk will be full of interest and charm.

Post-Debs to Attend Yale-Princeton Game.

The very best way to spend Thanksgiving week-end, agree four of society's most popular post-debs, is to make a trip to New Haven for the Yale-Princeton game. Best of all, that is just what they are going to do.

On Thanksgiving morning Miss Helen Marie Castle, Miss Suzanne Morris, Miss Betty Brawley, and Miss Nancy Traylor are leaving for New Haven and a long house party weekend. Juniors and seniors at Yale will be their hosts.

Not one of them is planning to return home before the following Tuesday morning. Miss Morris will have at least two days in New York City as the guest of her good friend, Miss Bettylee Rich.

The William Nelson Pelouzes of the Webster hotel will be among those going east for the Harvard-Yale game on Nov. 25. They will pick up their daughter, Medora, at Vassar, and take her with them.

Luncheon Today for Miss Jensen.

Mrs. A. McHenry Harvey is entertaining at luncheon this noon for her debutante niece, Miss Thelma Jensen. Miss Jensen knew a number of Chicago girls at the Finch school, then she went abroad with the John W. Walshs' daughter, Phyllis, and now she has come out here from the east to spend the winter with her aunt. She will be remembered for her prominent rôle in the recent Service club revue.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Wegg are entertaining at dinner tonight at their residence, 47 East Elm street, for Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Talbot of Boston who have been here since last Sunday visiting the Eugene S. Talbots of East Division street. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Talbot are moving their luggage from the Talbots' to the Weggs' today to visit them for several days before returning east. Mrs. Wegg is giving a luncheon for her uncle and aunt tomorrow before the symphony concert.

There is certain to be a large and fashionable audience for the evening program at the Fortnightly tonight, for Carveth Wells is to tell "What I Saw in Russia." A number of the members are planning dinner parties at the club before the lecture which begins at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter will arrive at home tomorrow or Saturday from a brief visit with her daughter, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, in Washington.

John S. Williamses Visit Her Father.

Mr. and Mrs. John Skelton Williams of Richmond, Va., arrived in Joliet Tuesday for a visit with her father, Harlow D. Higinbotham, and a last look at the Fair.

Mrs. Raymond P. Dudley and her daughter, Miss Lillian Dudley, returned late yesterday afternoon from a several weeks' stay at White Sulphur Springs. All of Mrs. Dudley's friends will be delighted to hear that she has almost completely recovered from her recent illness.

James O. Heyworth, one of Lake Forest's popular young bachelors, will be going east the end of the month to serve as an usher at a fashionable New York wedding, that of Miss Barbara Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt of New York and Greenwich, to David Richmond Wilmerding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wilmerding of Flushing, L. I. The wedding will take place on Nov. 28 at the Church of Heavenly Rest in New York. The bride's cousin, Mrs.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This charming dinner and cocktail dress was made of one of those mossy crêpes in a rose-brick shade. The rever collar was of silver metal lame, and the jacket was in a deeper toning shade of velvet. Doesn't it sound attractive? Black or wild blackberry velvet for the entire outfit, with gold lame for the dress collar is another suggestion.

The pattern, No. 3007, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

'Share or We Lose All,' Says Mrs. Roosevelt

Speaks to Junior League of New York.

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A plea to more than 300 members of the Junior League of New York City to apprise themselves of the conditions under which many persons less fortunate than they are living was made today by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt described the desperation of poverty-stricken inhabitants of some sections of the country, particularly in farming and mining communities.

"Either we are going to share or have nothing," declared Mrs. Roosevelt. "I've never had much fear at what might happen, but it's just as well to open our eyes to the conditions in many places in this country and draw our own conclusions. The knowledge that conditions have reached such a state makes it necessary for us to alter our mode of thought."

Pointing out that most revolutions were a result of the desperation of the people on the land, Mrs. Roosevelt cited tragic instances of deprivation she has seen in West Virginia, North Dakota, Arizona, and other states and asked whether those with no means were not justified in wondering why they did not share in the plenty of those who possessed it.

"Conditions like that don't tend to real contentment," Mrs. Roosevelt declared.

She told of an interview with a warden who had released a model prisoner serving a sentence for stealing to feed a starving family, after the prisoner had threatened to steal again if necessary.

"I wouldn't blame him," she commented. "You would be a poor wishy-washy sort of person if you didn't take anything you could when your family was starving. Put yourself in some one else's position, thinking what right others have to more than they need when they haven't anything. Civilization is not going to last based on such conditions in various parts of the country."

Mrs. Roosevelt discussed tentative plans of the Subsistence Farmstead organization, an effort to decentralize seasonal labor in industry by a revolving fund to finance purchases by workers of house and self sustaining ground in model communities over a period of twenty years. She said an experimental dwelling group had been started in West Virginia and that Secretary of the Interior Ickes had under consideration three more in the south, and one each in New England, New York, Kentucky and Indiana.

Urges Prompt Selection of Holiday Cards

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Unless your shopping equipment is complete with eye blinders that black out well known facts, you must be uncomfortably aware that Christmas cards have been displayed in the more perspicacious shops for quite a few shopping weeks.

And, rather hesitatingly, we wish to remind you that good, snappy Christmas cards have a disconcerting way of disappearing early, not to appear till the day before Christmas, decked out with some one else's signature and stamp, much to your chagrin and envy.

So, unless you really enjoy struggling with an army of dilatory card collectors, that push and shove, complaining that the sentiment doesn't match the illustration, now is the time to wander about, and pick and choose while the aisles are still navigable.

You can get cards of the "Merrie England," Tiny Tim, Pickwick Papers kind . . . you can buy lovely Italian cards with Madonnas . . . you can find the cards of your plump childhood with plenty of glistening snow scenes—with snow-topped roofs with smoke curling out of busy, fat, friendly looking chimneys . . . you can find wandering minstrels and singing carolers, appareled in the prize collection of winding neck scarfs that will make Schiaparelli green with envy as they breeze and blow on the pictorial sketches of a sentimental Christmas greeting.

For the wags who hunt delightedly for funny things to make people chuckle instead of sentimentalize there are scads of new efforts . . . for dog fanciers who take their canines most appreciative on paper there are Scotties, rollicking pups of no particular blue ancestry, monstrous Great Danes, breezy Airedales—in fact, every sort of a dog, including the dachshund.

There are complete assortments of dizzy modern creations that shriek with bold blues, wild reds and bloody oranges.

The cards are all here . . . piled neatly with mated envelopes awaiting the onrush, and the fact that you will remember long after the tussle is that this year they are smaller . . . the better to slip into post boxes, the easier to collect, the quicker to stamp and address, and likewise priced more modestly than in former decades when the Christmas cash supply was big and bulgy.

Letitia Channon Becomes Bride

Rites at Old St. Mary's Church

In St. Mary's church, the oldest Roman Catholic church in the city, Miss Letitia Channon, youngest daughter of Mrs. James Henry Channon, became the bride of Charles Augustus Schreiner Jr. yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Edward J. Mulally read the service in the presence of less than 200 relatives and friends, all of whom went to the wedding reception in the East Chestnut street apartment of the bride's mother after the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Denis F. Kelly, was a veritable story book bride in lustrous ivory satin made very simply with a yoke of rose point lace, long tight sleeves, and a very long court train. The lace of the yoke and that which formed a halo to hold the long tulle veil in place was from the wedding gown of Mrs. Channon, three of whose other daughters also had worn the lace when they were married. The bridal bouquet was of gardenias and valley lilies.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Dorothy [Mrs. Roy E. Bard], who wore a lovely gown of eggshell panne velvet with a sash and neckline finish of braided brown velvet. Her hat, shoes, and gloves were brown and she carried a soft, flat muff of chrysanthemums in autumn colorings. Large white chrysanthemums were the only decorations in the church.

Mrs. Channon was stunning in pansy purple velvet with ermine trimmings and lavendar orchids, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Charles A. Schreiner, was smart in brown velvet with sables and green orchids. Mr. Schreiner acted as best man for his son and ushering were John J. Schreiner, Frederick M. Coleman Jr., Jerome P. Bowes Jr., and Roy E. Bard. Mr. and Mrs. Schreiner left last night for a wedding trip to New York and Virginia and will be at home after Dec. 1 at the Whitehall.

Sunday Evening Club to Hear Two Speakers on Religious Prejudice

Two speakers from the National Conference of Jews and Christians will address the Chicago Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall next Sunday. They are Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron of the Baltimore Hebrew Congregation, and Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, director of the conference.

Rabbi Lazaron will speak on "The most practical methods and steps for furthering mutual understanding and civic coöperation between religious groups." Dr. Clinchy will take the topic: "The lessons for America from the current religious conflicts in Germany, Spain, and Mexico."

Institute of Letters Awards Gold Medal to Booth Tarkington

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Booth Tarkington, Indiana novelist, will receive the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters tomorrow for "excellence of his life work in fiction."

The medal, awarded annually, is given in the fiction field every eight years. The two previous fiction awards went to William Dean Howells in 1915 and Edith Wharton in 1924.

Clayton Hamilton will confer the medal at a public ceremony tomorrow afternoon commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Edmund Clarence Stedman, the poet and essayist.

At the same ceremony Lawrence Tibbett of the Metropolitan Opera company and James Wallington, a radio announcer, will receive the gold medals of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for good diction.

IT WAS in one of the police courts. A Chinaman was on trial, and, despite the gravity of the charge, the judge seemed to be in a pretty lenient mood. The case was dismissed after a short hearing. An attorney, who felt he was a long way from being a favorite of the judge, was waiting, with a client, for a hearing.

"Well, what do you want?" the judge asked.

"Just a Chinaman's chance, your honor," said the lawyer.

CHARLIE CORRELL [Andy] tells of the unsuccessful movie Joe Frisco made in Hollywood. It turned out lousy, he said. So bad that Frisco said there had to be a retake before they could put it on the shelf.

A HANDSOME young man, wearing his overcoat draped loosely over one shoulder, dropped in to see the Russian collection at Field's the other day. He looked at the jeweler treasures, the gold Easter egg set with diamonds containing tiny miniatures of the family of the late czar, then his gaze fell on a gold and silver icon of marvelous workmanship. It had been a presentation to the late czar and czarina on the occasion of their wedding anniversary from the nobility of Kostrum, the inscription said.

"What is the price of that icon?" the young man asked.

He was told it was already sold, but that the value was set at $8,500.

"Too little by half," the young man commented. "You see, I know the men who made it."

"If it means anything to you, I'm Prince Dmitri," he added.

WE'RE sorry, but we'll have to let the story, with its dramatic overtones of a young prince come to stare, with the rest of the public, at his family treasure, drop right there. We don't know what Prince Dmitri it was. Prince Dmitri, son of the late Grand Duke Alexander and brother of Prince Rostislav, is in Paris. So it wasn't he. . . . Anyhow, the young man looked like a prince. . .

THE other evening, as a south side bus stopped for a red light, a policeman swung aboard and engaged the driver in conversation.

"I'm working next Sunday. Going hunting a week from Sunday," volunteered the bus driver.

"I never cared for hunting," the policeman replied. "Too dangerous. A lot of people get shot that way. . ."

THE latest example of the comparative efficiency of brains and brawn, as illustrated by a northwest side family:

Three brothers each made arrangements to use the family flivver last Saturday evening. The youngest one washed it in the morning; the second one, seeing it was clean, put in gas in the afternoon, and toward evening the oldest looked it over, then changed the oil. When it was time to dress they learned they each expected to use the car.

The youngest, being the biggest, grabbed the keys; the middle one began to struggle with him for possession of them, and the oldest stepped out of the picture temporarily. After a good half hour struggle the youngest gave up the keys. He was too tired to go anywhere, he said.

The middle youth dressed and went down to the flivver, but found it wouldn't start. He tried cranking it, then began to push, with the help of some neighbor boys, but to no avail. The car refused to move. At this point the older brother came out, wearing a dinner jacket, his coat over his arm.

"Let me show you how to start it," he offered.

"You couldn't and, besides, I'm too tired to care, after wrestling and pushing and cranking," said his younger brother.

As the younger walked away the oldest of the three took the distributor head out of his pocket, replaced it in the motor, got in the car and drove off.

Chanukah Festival to Be Presented at Civic Opera House

Plans for the Second All-Chicago Chanukah Festival on Dec. 13 and 14 at the Chicago Civic Opera house are being completed, Isaac Van Grove, musician and producer, announced yesterday. He talked before representatives of the Jewish Communal organizations at a meeting in the Zionist Organization rooms at 30 North Dearborn street last evening.

The festival will take the form of an allegorical pageant depicting the ancient ceremony of the lighting of the minorah, the sacred seven branched candelabrum where the everlasting flame was kept alight in the old temples. The play as written by Charles Friedman, amateur producer of the Jewish People's institute, will present scenes from ancient to modern times.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, a Paris newspaper man, is her friend and counselor. Bun agrees to help James B. Finlay, an elderly, wealthy American, find his young wife, Helene. He wants no publicity. He had met Helene after the war in Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobianchs, in a villa on the Riviera at Grasse. Her brother, Pereni, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helene and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer. A recent newspaper picture showing Helene standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz is the only clue Bun has to go on. That same night Finlay is murdered. The money Finlay had given Bun as advance payment is stolen from her apartment. Finlay's son, Robert, arrives from America. He proves to be an impostor. Bun meets the real Robert Finlay in Cannes. She is attracted to him, but believes he's in love with Helene. She continues the quest with him. The tall woman with Helene in the group picture is identified as the Countess Vernadon, who has a villa in Grasse. Bun and Robert call on her at her dreary villa. She denies knowing Helene. As they are leaving they see a woman fall from a window. Back at the hotel Bun sees Mrs. Craymer, who has appeared at the hotel, drop a note to Robert. Next day Mrs. Craymer is found dead. Fred Crawford arrives at Cannes.

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

A MYSTERIOUS MESSAGE.

Fred shot a swift glance at Bun. "It doesn't happen that you didn't want to hear what Finlay had to tell us?"

The question hit Bun in a vulnerable spot. Did she want to know the truth or not? "I don't know, Fred. I sometimes have the feeling that things we don't know don't exist. Just hearing something about someone I like sometimes spoils my good opinion. I think that's the truth about my feeling for Robert Finlay. I like him—immensely, and I don't want to know anything about him that would interfere with that feeling. Do I make myself clear?"

Bun smiled wanly. "Which I'm far from being capable of."

"Not so far as you might think. You've gone at this thing with your eyes and brain working. Do you believe what he told us about that note from Mrs. Craymer?"

"Don't you?"

"I did—until I looked at her name on the hotel register. The note was not in her hand-writing."

Bun threw out her hands with a quick gesture. "Don't, Fred! That would be the last straw."

"Of course," Crawford's glance wavered, "he may have overlooked that fact himself. Somebody else may have written the note for her—or without her knowing it."

Crawford, watching her, saw her face go blank.

Bun breathed easily. "It must have been that way."

"Let's hope so—for our sakes, anyway."

Bun turned on him with a flash. "Fred—you don't trust him!"

"Well—if you put it that way——"

"I do. I've got to get hold of myself. I'm losing my grip. I'm out of character. This isn't what I started out to do. I've grown mushy these last few days." She drew deeply at a cigaret and threw it away. "If you hadn't come there's no telling what might have happened—to me. I mean, have you ever realized, Fred, that I'm incurably romantic? Well, I'm telling you now—I am. I'm just like any other woman. You see what a gray flannel suit, a pair of steady blue eyes, and a crop of fair hair have done to me. O, I'm not ashamed of myself. I'm rather proud. It proves I'm neither hard boiled nor unimpressionable. I hope I never will be. My arteries haven't yet hardened. But I've still got a head. It may not be entirely square, but it's set straight on my body. Do you get me? Boiled down, it means this: I'm not going to be hypnotized any longer by this Robert Finlay. I'm going to run down this affair even if"—she stopped with a sort of gasp that showed dismay—"if it breaks my heart," she ended feebly.

"Then you aren't so dead sure of him yourself!"

"I'm not sure of anyone—myself, you, Liberté, the whole world, and there's only one way of getting straightened out—by finding out everything—even if it means proving Robert Finlay a crook."

"Good, Bun! I'm all with you."

She lighted another cigaret and sat down, blowing the smoke up towards the ceiling and staring fixedly before her. Then she held up one hand and counted on her fingers. "The prefect of Grasse, the bank agent, the Countess Vernadon, the Villa des Roses, the maid who threw herself or jumped out of the window—and the doctor. Somewhere among these people is the solution of what we are looking for. All my intuitions point towards the Countess. If there ever was a cool, clever, efficient party, it's she. I can be cool and efficient, too. Whether I'm clever remains to be shown. At any rate," she stood up resolutely, "that's my job."

"What?"

"Seeing her again."

"And then?"

"I don't know yet." She walked across to a mirror, crushed a hat down on her head, then looked about the room for a light coat and bag. "Are you going with me, Fred?"

"You mean now?"

"This very minute."

"How about dinner?"

"We'll dine tomorrow."

She led the way into the corridor, to the elevator, and down to the desk in the reception hall. The clerk handed her a letter which she tore open at once. Crawford, watching her, saw her face go blank. For a moment she stared before her, then, without speaking handed the letter to Crawford. He read it quickly.

"The enclosed explains my precipitate departure. Please do not leave Cannes until I return.—Robert Finlay."

The enclosed scrap of paper—a page evidently torn from a note book—bore only a few words written in pencil:

"Dear Bob: Come to me at once. I need you desperately.—Helene."

At the bottom of the page was the name and street number of a house in Bucharest.

Crawford turned back to the desk while Bun, as if in a dream, walked towards the main door. In a few minutes Crawford joined her.

"They say he telephoned to Marseilles this afternoon and ordered a plane to be sent here at once."

Bun started out of her abstraction. "Then that means he's on his way to Bucharest now."

"Shall we call off the expedition to Grasse?"

Without answering, Bun went down the steps and along the driveway to the garage. Crawford followed and took the seat beside her in the jade green car. She did not speak a word all the way to Grasse. Once there, she drove through the town and up to the lonely road that led towards the Villa des Roses. From time to time Crawford looked at her, but there was something so determined and set about her expression that he dared not risk trivial words. At the gate of the Villa he got out and went forward to open it. As it was securely locked he pulled a bell at the side and waited. It was several minutes before a bolt from within was shot back and a man—the same who had let Bun and Finlay in a few nights before—peered out at them.

"I wish to see the Countess Vernadon," Bun stated.

Crawford looked at Bun.

"I suppose we can't force an entrance," she murmured as if to herself.

"You think she's here?"

"Is there any other reason for her sudden departure?"

"No. I'm sure of it—unless she flew to Bucharest with Robert Finlay."

Crawford got into the car and settled down beside her. "What next?"

"The doctor. Do you suppose she pays him so much he won't talk?"

"Doctors are supposed not to talk under any circumstances."

Bun let out the clutch. "We'll see."

Again a silent drive through what was now night, though a luminous one in which things stood out with a weird distinction, and a stop before the door of the house which Finlay and Bun had visited a few nights before. Crawford waited in the car at her suggestion while she went in. The door was opened by the doctor himself. For a second he looked intently at Bun, then nodded, as if to himself.

"I have been expecting you, Madame. Will you come in."

Bun followed him into a dismal waiting room, where he closed the door carefully after them.

"Why have you been expecting me?" Bun asked at once.

He showed surprise. "Haven't you heard?"

"Nothing."

"But surely you are the one who brought me the message from the Villa des Roses! I do not make mistakes."

Word 'Deluge' Causes Actor Some Trouble

Spencer Tracy Thinks Line Should Be Changed.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 8.—Jack Oakie and Spencer Tracy were rehearsing a scene for "Trouble Shooter" on the twentieth century stages at United Artists. Tracy had the line, "Never mind that, I'm not going to deluge you with questions." His tongue slipped on the dialogue and Tracy turned to Director Bill Wellman with "Let's change that line. Let's make it 'Okay, pal.'

"What the hell's the matter, Tracy," Oakie broke in. "Can't you handle that word 'deluge'? We ought to have Lee Tracy here. He can talk lots of words and talk them fast. I wanted Lee Tracy in the first place," turning to Wellman, "'Taint too late to replace him, is it?"

It was right after that that Tracy lit a match on the seat of the chair Oakie was sitting on.

Constance Bennett has been duck hunting along Salton sea for several days. She sent several duck dinners back to friends here just to prove her marksmanship. Miss Bennett's husband, Marquis Henri Falaise, arrived in New York today from France, where he had been on a business trip.

W. C. Fields wasted $5,000 worth of juggling on Baby Leroy Winebrenner in between shots for "Miss Fane's Baby Was Stolen" on the Dorothea Wieck set at Paramount. Fields has really felt badly about the baby crying, whenever Fields came around when the two of them worked in the same picture, "Tillie and Gus." His feelings were hurt again at the end of the juggling act. After he had kept balls flying through the air, keys and pocket knives and canes and cigars mysteriously appearing and vanishing, and finally stuffed his equipment back in his pockets, "What did the little guy do?" says Fields. "He just shook his head and sneered at me."

Child Likely to Be Excited at Start of School

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I am glad the following letter came in when it did because it touches on an effect of the first school days which we haven't written about in some time. If your small son or daughter is going to begin school in the middle of the term or in February the letter mentions a subject that it is well for you to be posted about:

"Have you a booklet dealing with nervous children, their schooling, and so forth? My 5½ year old daughter has just started school and is very fond of it but seems so excited about it that she cries out during the night as if she were having bad dreams."

I should not call this child unusually nervous nor say she needed any special handling because of her new excitement. She is only suffering from the high tension and the many new experiences that the first days at school bring to a young child. It is not unusual for children to sleep restlessly and to dream when school is so novel. To be sure, this little girl is probably not of a happy go lucky or stolid temperament, but she is not acting abnormally for a child of her type.

It is hard for us to imagine the impact of utterly new experiences on a child's consciousness. What a contrast there is between the relaxed, quiet, intimate routine of family life and the many new children, the teacher, the strange surroundings and the sustained mental effort and activity of the first weeks at school.

The beginning of school is a highly stimulating adventure. Children are impressionable and some of them are much keyed up by such an experience. Restless sleep and dreaming and even loss of appetite may result.

Lots of outdoor exercise, a warm bath before bed and an early retiring hour will help to balance a child at that time and relax her.

If the tension continues, however, I think it is well for a mother to visit the classroom at least one day and have a talk with the teacher another. It helps teachers very much to get the home picture of a child.

Jean Wilhelm New Head of French Group

Fourth Chairman Elected Within a Year.

Paul H. Nitze, will be matron of honor.

Mrs. E. S. French Going South Soon.

Mrs. Edward S. French, the former Ruth Crossett, and her little son, Edward Crosset French, will leave the end of this week or the first of next to join Mr. French in Crossett, Ark., where the little family will live for the next few years, at least. Mrs. French's mother, Mrs. Edward C. Crossett, is planning to go to Arkansas to spend Thanksgiving with the Frenches and then in mid-January Mrs. French and little Edward will be back here for a visit. Mrs. Crossett will postpone her departure for her customary winter sojourn in California until after then.

The Crossetts' other married daughter, Betty, and her husband, John L. Mothershead Jr. are living in Cambridge, Mass., this winter while Mr. Mothershead studies at Harvard for his doctor of philosophy degree. The "baby" of the family, Carolyn, is at Bennington college in Vermont this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Canfield and their daughter, Frances, are giving up their apartment on East Walton place the end of this week and moving to the Pearson. According to their present plans they will remain there until the late winter when they will have a trip to southern climes.

Harry L. Thompsons Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Thompson entertained at a gay dinner and bridge party in one of the private dining rooms of the Drake hotel last night to celebrate Mr. Thompson's birthday. Their guests included the William J. Blacks, the George W. Swigarts, the George E. Marcys, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, the Allan M. Clements, Arthur A. Clement, Mrs. Edward W. Pardridge, Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, Mrs. Lillian Robbins and Cairo Trimble of Princeton, Ill.

The Illinois Society of the Colonial Dames will hold its first big meeting of the year this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Miss Anita Blair will tell something of the work which the society has accomplished for the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. The society did especially fine work during the summer months when many of its members gave daily service. Mrs. Robert Peck is president and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell is the hostess for today's meeting.

Founders' Night of Theater Society

Last night at the Erlanger theater where Ina Claire is playing in "Biography" was like the traditional first nights that New Yorkers are accustomed to and that Chicagoans long to become accustomed to—the social world out in force and every one "dressed up." It wasn't the first night of the popular Miss Claire's engagement, however, but it was Founders' Night, celebrating the first anniversary of the American Theater Society which was formed when the New York Theater Guild and the Dramatic League of Chicago joined forces.

It would be almost easier to list who wasn't there than who was but a few of those who enjoyed the performance were the Howard Linns, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, the Chauncey McCormicks and her mother, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Miss Irene Rich, Mrs. Richardson Dunham, Miss Cornelia Conger, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, the Clarence Houghs, Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, the Arthur Meekers, the William A. Nitzes, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, the Edward L. Ryersons, Victor Elting, Mrs. William B. Hale, the Charles H. Conrads and Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick.

Also the Walter Paepckes, Donna Myriam Potenziani and her father Prince Potenziani, and Col. Graziano who accompanied them from Italy, Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins, Noble B. Judah, the Joseph T. Ryersons, Mrs. Howard Shaw and her daughter, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, the Jacob Bischofs and the Thomas Fishers.

H-Y-P Club Will Hold Stag Tonight.

Some of the young women whose husbands are going to the H-Y-P club's stag party tonight are feeling quite aggrieved that the committee chose to give the party on Thursday night, for that is maid's night out and in many cases where there are small children and only one maid in the household it means that mamma cannot "go stepping" while papa is having a gay time at his club.

And a very gay time the men expect to have tonight, for the committee, including John W. Valentine, Conway H. Olmsted, William Whipple Miller, Otis L. Hubbard, Talcott Griswold and William A. Humphreys Jr., have planned all sorts of entertaining and amusing things.

The Rush Butlers, the young Patrick Valentines, the Eugene Carys' John M. Zane, Harold Cudney, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Brashears, and the Richard Hacketts are a few of those who will entertain large parties tonight at the formal party that will open the winter festival season at the Drake hotel.

Reception Tomorrow for Prince Potenziani.

The Italy-America society has cards out for a tea tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Tavern club for Prince Potenziani and his daughter, Donna Myriam Potenziani.

A party Saturday evening in celebration of Armistice day is that of the British and Colonial Great War Veterans to be held at the Drake. Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul general announces that tickets are one dollar and that all proceeds are going to charity.

Before the dance the Bernays are entertaining at a buffet supper at their apartment. Among their guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Col. and Mrs. Edward Davis, and the French consul general, Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller.

Berlin Educator to Talk on Hitler.

In yesterday's mail came an announcement of a luncheon to be given next Tuesday at the Palmer house by the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at which Dr. Friedrich Schonemann will speak on "The New Germany Under Hitler."

Dr. Schonemann, who is connected with the University of Berlin, was a professor at Harvard from 1913 to 1920 and his work, "Die Vereinigten Staaten von Amerika," published in 1932, recently received the Ralph Beaver Strassburger prize for the best German book about the United States. His addresses have the approbation of the official representatives of the German government.

Also in the mail yesterday was a notice about a luncheon the American Friends of China will give next Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock at the Palmer house, at which Mrs. J. Paul Welling and Dr. Quincy Wright, who were delegates to the recent meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations at Banff, will talk about various significant developments of the conference.

The Tower Town group of the Chicago Junior school will meet at 3 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Moissant Griffiths at 1600 Lake Shore drive. Miss Juliet Barker is to review Wells' latest book, "Shape of Things to Come."

World Tour to Aid Infant Welfare

Tags mailed yesterday invited several hundred persons interested in the work of the Infant Welfare to join the Chicago Woman's club committee on a round the world tour, embarking at 8:15 the evening of Nov. 17 in the Chicago Woman's club theater. Anita Willetts Burnham, the author of "Around the World on a Penny," will be the skipper with the aid of her justly famous "suitcase on wheels."

Mrs. Burnham, whose home is in Winnetka, promises that her passengers will sleep on a Japanese bed, ride in a Russian sleigh, cross the desert on the back of a camel, drink tea in an English garden, and visit the art galleries of Paris.

Mrs. Lyle Harper is chairman of the committee planning the festivity.

The Chicago alumnæ of Wellesley college have chosen the Electric club, which occupies one of the top floors of the Civic Opera building, as the place for their fall meeting at 2:30 the afternoon of Nov. 16. Miss Mary Barnett Gilson, assistant professor of economics at the University of Chicago, will discuss the Wellesley Institute for Social Progress. Miss Gilson, herself a graduate of Wellesley, was a member of the faculty of the institute, which met for the first time last July on the Wellesley campus.

Pale Organdy from Paris

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Worth and Chanel are determined that organdy shall not pass out of fashion even in November. They both show velvet dinner and formal evening frocks with touches of white and pastel colored organdy. Worth confines himself to organdy jabots, which he puts on several dark velvet dinner dresses. One of these has a ruffled super-jabot that falls almost to the hem of the dress from the neck line, but most of them are waist length like the one in our sketch.

This frock is princess in line, with a deep circular lower skirt, the circular movement rising in back to the waistline, where it ends under a black velvet bow at the center. The front of the bodice is high, coming almost to the shoulders, where it joins an open yoke, made of loops of rhinestone embroidery. At the back are two wide shoulder straps that end at the waistline.

The white organdy jabot is made of two circular ruffles that are attached to the center front of the bodice.

Worth adds a small circular cut velvet cape to this frock. It is brought up in front and the two scarf ends are tied around the neck. You wear the cape when you do not want to go barebacked.

The Stage

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The work of the late Dr. Walter Reed and his associates in tracing yellow fever to the bites of infected mosquitoes—a famous chapter in modern medical research—is the basis of a new play by Sidney Howard which bears the title "Yellow Jack" and which will soon be staged under the management of Jed Harris. Howard has taken his story from the chapter in Paul De Kruif's book "Microbe Hunters," which gives a graphic account of Dr. Reed's signal achievement.

The play is divided into forty scenes which show different phases of the technique of "microbe hunting" and trace the history of Dr. Reed's heroic struggle to learn the secret of the communication of yellow fever. It will be the second play of medical lore to be produced this season. Its predecessor was "Men in White," dealing with the life of hospital internes, now a hit in New York.

"Criminal at Large," a play by Edgar Wallace which had a notable run in New York last season, will begin a Chicago engagement at the Illinois theater Dec. 24. Alexandra Carlisle, who played the central rôle in the New York cast until illness forced her to retire, will lead the company. The management of the Illinois theater cancels its promise of an engagement of "The Late Christopher Bean," with Pauline Lord as its star, because the motion picture version of this play will soon be exhibited here.

Prairie Club Announces Two Hikes for Week-End

The Prairie club will hike through Buffalo Park near Willow Springs on Saturday. The public is invited. The hikers will leave the Union station over the Chicago & Alton railroad at 1:30 p. m. and will return by bus at 6:40 p. m. An all day hike will be taken Sunday from Hollywood to Hinsdale, a distance of 12 miles. Hikers will leave the Union station at 10:05 a. m. and return at 6:25 p. m. The juniors of the club will celebrate Armistice day by following the trail once trod by George Rogers Clark.

BY MARY MEADE.

Now that the jack o' lantern season is over for pumpkins, we're all poking and prying around, looking for new uses for those orange beauties. And they're to be found, for scores of appealing pumpkin edibles there are—even above and beyond the pumpkin pie plus whipped cream favorite.

For instance, if you use the little fellows when they're still young, you can prepare them by almost any of the methods recommended for squash. [The pumpkin and squash are first or second cousins, you're aware.]

PUMPKIN DROP COOKIES.

1 cup sugar.
½ cup shortening.
2 eggs.
1 cup sieved cooked pumpkin.
1¼ cups flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
½ teaspoon ginger.
¼ teaspoon nutmeg.
½ teaspoon salt.
¾ cup raisins.
½ cup chopped nut meats.
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream the shortening, add the sugar and cream until fluffy. Add the beaten eggs, the pumpkin, and the flour which has been sifted with the baking powder, spices, and salt. Combine with this the raisins, nut meats, and vanilla, and drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes.

Another treat in store for you is pumpkin preserves.

PUMPKIN PRESERVES.

3 lemons.
8 cups sugar.
½ teaspoon salt.

Cut the pumpkin into slices ¼ inch thick and 1 inch long. Place in a pan with the sugar and let stand overnight. In the morning drain off the liquid and boil it until the sirup threads. Add to this the pumpkin, thinly sliced lemons, and the salt. Cook the mixture until the sirup is thick and the fruit is clear. Pour into hot, sterile jars and seal at once.

With this new fad of "Chiffoning" which has made so many of our favorite pies even better, pumpkin pie hasn't been overlooked, for it's just as simple to chiffon it as not.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE.

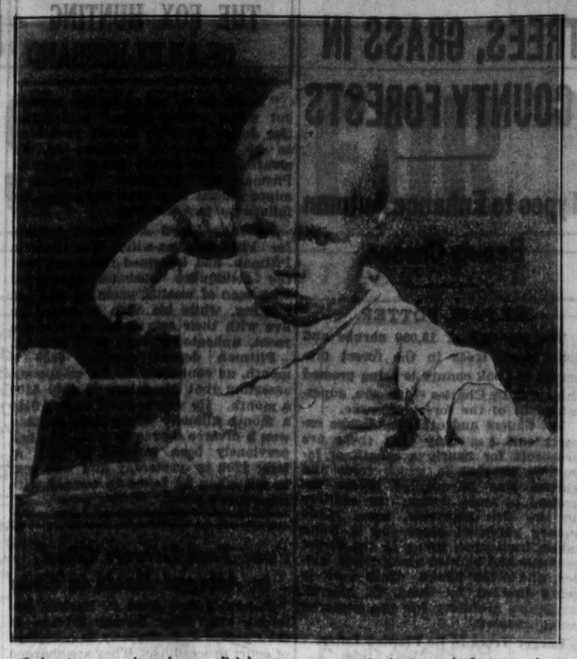
3 eggs, separated.
1 tablespoon flour.
1 cup sugar.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.
½ teaspoon ginger.
¼ teaspoon cinnamon.
½ teaspoon salt.
1½ cups rich milk.
¼ teaspoon baking powder.
1 pastry lined pie tin.

Sift together the flour, sugar, salt, and spices and add along with the unbeaten egg yolks to the strained pumpkin. Mix thoroughly. Then combine with the milk. Beat the egg whites until frothy, add the baking powder, and beat until stiff. Fold into the pumpkin mixture, turn into the pastry lined pie plate and bake in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees F.] for one hour and a quarter.

Owes Beauty to Good Food



Baby Leroy, who always did have curves and platinum hair and who doesn't patronize beauty shops to maintain either. His beauty secret is a pretty steady diet of spinach and milk, he revealed to Antoinette Donnelly.

Makeup Holds no Fascination for Baby Leroy

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD.—[Special.]—I've just met the handsomest, most popular, adorable and appealing dear in all of Hollywood, who rightfully defies Mae West's claim to being the "curvo" promoter of the age.

"Why," says Baby Leroy, through his interpreter, "it was our kind who started curves long before Mae took her first wallop at a milk bottle! She makes me laugh talking about reviving curves. We never lost them! We've always had 'em, if any one wanted to take the trouble to look!"

Baby Leroy has as much beauty as he has heart appeal. A beautiful infant with hair like silk, and platinum, too, believe it or not.

Here, again, this screen beauty has the laff on his competitors. He does not have to go traipsing off to a beauty parlor to get his locks tinted, and there are no little tell tale darkenings at roots to embarrass, either. And he has all these rivals of his skinned to a fine, healthy, natural pink when it comes to complexions. So good is his complexion, he doesn't have to call in an army of make-up artists to get him ready for the screen. Nor do his eyes need any shading. They come through long lash and all, completely and entirely on their own.

His hands are something to write about, and his figure is perfect, a bottle figure, he calls it, although spinach and carrots may have something to do about it, too. The less said about spinach, however, the better, unless a pretty girl spoons it down his throat for him. Then he doesn't mind gurgling that it isn't so half bad.

White sweaters and bloomers set off his style of beaty best, although if he had his way about it he'd reach for a fireman's helmet or a bunch of Indian feathers and call it a well dressed day.

He has plenty of what you have to have to put you over on the screen. Millionaires—multi and common—write begging to know if they can't adopt him. "Mae West," he says [through his interpreter], doesn't have that happen to her. Or, maybe she has. I don't know!"

Baby Leroy was host at a birthday party the day I happened on the Paramount lot. There were a half dozen other youngsters there, good looking little shavers, but the tiny Leroy has that something that never fails to click, no matter what the surrounding rivalry. Like a veteran actor, he sat at the head of the table, looking over the duck pond centerpiece, sizing up the small guests with a knowing eye. Without direction he picks up a paper pipe horn and blows merrily.

An adorable youngster, if ever there was one!

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

A SHOCKING DISCOVERY.

As Prof. Fordney stepped across the threshold he noticed that the large living room was immaculate and furnished with extremely good taste. On a divan along the south wall lay the body of John Ryan, his head to the west.

Upon turning him over and seeing the single bullet wound in the right temple Fordney knew that death had been instantaneous. He turned him back, picked up the automatic lying on the floor, with which he had been shot, and saw that it was of foreign make and quite old.

He then beckoned to Sergt. Reynolds, spoke lowly to him, after which he walked to the north windows, got down on all fours, and grunted while carefully examining every inch of the floor board and carpet below them. Then he turned his attention to the window sills. He had just finished his observations when Reynolds returned to the room with Mrs. Ryan.

"I'm extremely sorry, madam," the professor said, "to question you here and I won't keep you but a moment.

"Have the floor boards in here been recently painted and the window sills recently varnished?"

"Why . . . yes, they were; about a month ago."

"H'mmm. You found your husband's body on returning from a party?"

"Yes. That's correct. But please let me out of here. I can't stand it!"

After dismissing Mrs. Ryan Fordney turned to the sergeant. "Well, lad, what do you think—you heard what she said. Is it murder or suicide?"

"Well, sir, I would say it was . . ."

WHAT IS YOUR ANSWER AND WHY?

Wife Frequently Objects to Mate's Expenses.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.] — Husbands and wives in Hollywood have much more involved finances to manage than the average business man and wife.

The Hollywood husband, along with husbands the world over, is expected to be generous, but the Hollywood wife must also understand that there are times when sensible economy makes or breaks a career. She must get used to the idea of her husband's spending what seems to her an unconscionable amount on shoes and hats and ties and suits, while she, if a nonprofessional, must be content with less for herself. His is for wardrobe in a picture or "prosperity front"; her's for private use.

Thus, money in a Hollywood household divides itself into two sorts of expenditures, money for personal use, and money that represents, directly or indirectly, an investment in the career of the actor, or actress, or both. These direct and indirect investments may include everything from wardrobe to entertainment bills; gifts given to the proper people, and many other expenses that seem senseless to one not of the movie business.

This matter of money is one of the reasons given for arguments between couples, one of whom is not of the profession. The nonprofessional cannot see the sense to such expenditures, and the argument is on. Often as not, there are accusations hurled of "going Hollywood" by the economically inclined and nonunderstanding mate.

The other side of the picture is that, with temptation so strong to put up a big front, often good strategy for an actor, it is hard to save money. If the husband or wife becomes too extravagant and runs expenses with no system or budget, it may mean disaster. For when the end of the contract comes, an actor may be forced to say "yes" to a poor offer because he cannot afford to say "no," and hold out for better terms and rôles that will advance his career.

Clive Brook is credited with being one Hollywood actor wise in this respect, with the coöperation of his wife. Brook saved carefully for several years, playing rôles that were sometimes distasteful to him. Then when the bankroll permitted, he began refusing such rôles and selecting those he felt would promote his screen career, with the success you are familiar with.

ENJOY YOURSELF!

Let Squibb's Dental Cream guard The Danger Line* and put needless fears behind you!

YOUR teeth and gums should give you joy—not fear and worry. Pyorrhea, bleeding gums and other ills need hold no terrors for a mouth that is properly guarded. Visit your dentist and have him make an examination. Supplement his care at home by protecting The Danger Line with Squibb's Dental Cream.

Squibb's cleans effectively and polishes safely. It prevents bleeding of the gums by safe cleansing—not by the use of dangerous astringents. It combats the germ acids that cause tooth-decay. And its use is true economy.

The refreshing mint flavor of Squibb's adds to the pleasure of knowing your teeth are well guarded. You can trust its safe effectiveness. Every tube contains the Priceless Ingredient—the Honor and Integrity of the House of Squibb.

The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth, forming tiny ledges, difficult to reach by brushing. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered by unhealthy gums. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which combat the germ acids and protect the gums.*

COOKING PUPILS GET AN EARFUL AND AN EYEFUL

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

More than 5,000 people attended yesterday's class in THE TRIBUNE'S third annual cooking school in the Trianon ballroom at 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Every chair was taken and the last comers had to appropriate the wide window sills at the rear. But nobody was turned away.

Today the scramble for places promises to be keener than ever, for the admirers of the Old Maestro, Ben Bernie, and his orchestra have been clamoring to know when he is due to appear, and today's the day. Added to which, there will be both Olga Kargau, soprano, who grew up on the south side and has been featured by both the Chicago Civic and San Carlos Opera companies, and Allan Jones, the singing hero of "Bittersweet" at the Grand Opera house, known of earlier seasons for his work in "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time."

Men Among Cooking Pupils.

As the 5,000 women and quite a sprinkling of men surged down the stairs at the close of the second day's program yesterday, after hours of entertainment and useful information, one young woman expressed the general sentiment when she chirped out that she had "got a bang out of it."

It was the same girl's graphic version of the hit scored by Phil Harris, orchestra leader at the College Inn, that gave her auditors a laugh. "When he turned on that wooing baritone, I could hear hearts cracking all around me."

Not long away from Hollywood, Harris proved generous with his voice, while his slim and able assistant, Leah Ray, crooned "You're an Old Smoothie," and both warbled "Nighty Night" to suit the throng. Frank Dehnke played rhythmic accompaniments.

Opera Singer on Program.

The crowd heard Frida Savini sing "Indian Love Call" and the Faust "Jewel Song," and called her back for an encore that proved to be "Un bel Di" from "Mme. Butterfly." Mrs. Herbert Schram accompanied the operatic soprano, whose appearance was definitely a high light of the afternoon.

Frank Bennett and his singing accompanist wife, Cathryn, were both in fine voice for a duet that followed the community singing led by the strong baritone of this director. "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Sweet Adeline" found everybody chiming in with a will.

Charles Willard and Kathryn Penn, a new vocal team from W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station, registered an immediate success with "Only a Rose." Lillian Gordoni presented a "musical pot pie" which was liked by all, with the aid of a trio comprising Marie Maschek, Thelma Koenneker, and Agnes Radus. "Dinner at Eight," sung by the girls in gowns of pale blue and pale pink satin, formed the prettiest scene on the program.

Chef Discusses Sea Foods.

Phil Maxwell, master of ceremonies, presented [illegible] executive chef of the Palmer House, Ernest Amiet, as one artist who doesn't use paint and canvas to achieve his masterpieces. M. Amiet, who captured the grand prix gold medal presented by the French government in 1932, discoursed on "Sea Foods as Americans Eat Them."

Another expert introduced for a brief talk on home economics was Miss Ethel McDonald, of the L. C. Wiswell company, who discussed foods requiring refrigeration.

Miss Herma Clark, author of the "Dear Julia" letters of "When Chicago Was Young" in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, and India Moffett, society editor of THE TRIBUNE, greeted the crowd and spoke for a few moments on their respective jobs.

As always, however, Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood and her ultra-modern, shining kitchen of French gray and coral pink, with a border of gold, kept attention riveted on the culinary art and her recipes during a large share of the afternoon.

They learned how to avoid making a meringue that weeps! The phrase, Mrs. Chitwood explained, was used by a bride who wanted to know why her meringues "always had little teardrops all over them." Her method of achieving the ideal, upstanding, tasty meringue is to sprinkle a bit of salt over the egg whites before beginning to whip them. As they start to foam, one-eighth of a teaspoon of baking powder for each egg white is added to make them fluff. Sugar is measured beforehand. One half of it is added just before the whites begin to hold their shape when the beater is lifted. The rest is folded in and cut in after they are stiff as in an angel food cake.

Today's session brings Camil Virla, executive chef of the Sherman hotel, to the Trianon to address the cooks. Richard De Young will swing the baton for a songfest and Allan Grant will furnish the accompaniments. Bob Elson, W-G-N staff announcer, will introduce other celebrities, including Jan Garber, conductor of the Trianon ballroom orchestra, and Lee Bennett.

AT SCHOOL TODAY

PLANT SHRUBS, TREES, GRASS IN COUNTY FORESTS

Types to Enhance Autumn Beauty Chosen.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The planting of 15,000 shrubs and 8,000 small trees in the forest preserves of Cook county is being pressed this week by Charles G. Sauers, superintendent of the forest preserve.

Mr. Sauers and other landscape experts said yesterday that there are prospects for nearly a month of favorable weather in which trees and shrubs may be planted before the ground becomes frozen. In addition to the tree plantings, some 75,000 square yards of grass sod is being taken from open areas in the forest preserve and planted along roads, gullies, and steep banks. This work is being directed by John B. Morrill, landscape architect for the preserve commissioners.

Larger Trees to Be Planted Later.

The trees being planted include elm, ash, hickory, and hackberry four to six feet tall. Some smaller oak trees also are being planted. Later in the winter, when the ground becomes frozen, larger trees with balls of frozen earth about the roots will be transplanted to the forest preserve headquarters area at Harlem avenue and Lake street.

Shrubs included in the planting program are the prairie rose, the Indian currant, or coralberry; wild grape, honeysuckle, matrimony vines, the dogwoods and viburnums, mountain currant, sumacs, and the black cherry, choke cherry, American plum, and elderberry.

Some Known for Autumn Beauty.

Through the years of surveys of the forest preserves some of the trees have become noted in Chicagoland for their landscape value late in the fall and early winter. Trees which retain their foliage longer and have more brilliant coloring include the Norway maple, the oaks, the red or swamp maple, the sourgum, and the sumac.

Paper birch, sycamore, silver poplar, evergreens, and the ginkgo or maidenhair tree, are considered valuable also for the color they lend to winter landscapes.

CHARLES T. TUXFORD DEAD.

Escanaba, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Charles T. Tuxford, president of the Birdseye Veneer company here, died at his home in Jamestown, N. Y., today. He was associated with the late J. G. Kirkpatrick in founding the veneer concern here 21 years ago.

JAIL TERM TO END THE FOX HUNTING OF AN EX-HUSBAND

"You'll do no riding to the hounds out where you're going," said Superior Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday as he imposed a sentence of six months in the county jail on Knowles Pittman, 576 Oak street, Winnetka, a minor official of a steel company, for failure to pay alimony.

Attorney Lloyd A. Faxon, counsel for Pittman's ex-wife, Mrs. Louvin Pittman, had informed the court that the delinquent husband associated with men of wealth, yachting and fox hunting, while his wife is forced to live with their two children in a one room, unheated garage in Winnetka.

Pittman denied earning $250 a month, as contended by his ex-spouse, asserting that his salary is only $100 a month. He was ordered to pay $150 a month alimony when Mrs. Pittman won a divorce decree in 1927. He had previously been ordered to pay at least $200 by yesterday and was sent to jail when he failed to comply with the court's order.

Four Taxi Drivers Cited in Alleged Deals in Cabs

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday cited four former drivers of the Checker Cab company in contempt of court proceedings. They are charged with having traded in their cabs to the Eagle Cab company, by whom they are now employed. According to Attorney Samuel A. Ettleson, the cabs in question still belong to the Checker company. The drivers were named as J. Kaufman, H. Kelow, T. Forkel, and F. Stich.

TWO DIE OF AUTO INJURIES, RAISING 1933 TOLL TO 934

Policeman's Legs Broken When Car Hits Him.

Two Chicagoans died of automobile injuries yesterday, increasing the 1933 toll in Cook county to 934. The victims:

Mrs. Mary Rockford, 48 years old, 4637 Ellis avenue. Died in the Chicago hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday night when she was struck by an automobile at 46th street and Drexel boulevard.

Jens Nelson, 70 years old, 1363 Washington boulevard. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Oct. 21 when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Ogden avenue at Washington boulevard. Norman Daniel, 2440 Lake View avenue, driver of the car, has been notified to attend the inquest today.

Policeman Arthur Farrell, 2547 Moffat street, was struck by an automobile at Devon and Western avenues last night and both of his legs were broken. He is assigned to the Summerdale station.

SEIZED FOR BAD CHECK.

Cambridge, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Wallace Anderson of Rio, Ill., arrested by state police on a charge of having issued a worthless check to pay for a farm wagon, was said to have confessed issuing seventy such checks since 1929, for a total of $1,874.01.

3 FOUND GUILTY OF BURNING HOME ON CEDAR LAKE

Three men who drank four cases of beer and three pints of alcohol and then set fire to a house, which burned with a loss of $10,000, were found guilty of arson last night by a jury in the Circuit court of Lake county before Judge Ralph A. Dady. Conviction carries a sentence of one to 20 years.

The men are Charles Pester, 28 years old, of Lake Villa; Robert Wilson, 23 years old, of Antioch, and Edwin Hucker, 22 years old, also of Antioch. They burned the 12 room home of George Cordingly, situated on Cedar lake near the village of Lake Villa.

A fourth man, Charles Polze, of Antioch, was in the party when the building was fired on the night of April 5, but he turned state's evidence.

Breaks Michigan Ave. Shop Window, Takes $1,250 Coat

A bold and agile thief early last evening smashed a show window of the shop of C. A. Powell at 700 North Michigan avenue, seized a $1,250 mink coat and fled with it. Although employés of the store followed him the thief ran across the avenue and escaped into the shadows in Superior street.

WINNETKA MAN, 75, HELD ON CHARGE OF $8,000 FRAUD

Robert M. Rogers, 75 years old, was held to the grand jury in $8,000 bonds yesterday on a charge of fraudulently obtaining an $8,000 mortgage on his home at 188 Washington street, Winnetka, three days after his divorce on June 27, 1928.

On June 30, according to the testimony of officials of the Chicago Title and Trust company before Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Felony court, Rogers appeared with a blonde woman about 40 years old. He introduced her as his wife, Alice, and she signed the papers as Mrs. Rogers. The mortgage was granted.

Rogers kept up the payments until last Jan. 1, when he failed to send in the usual check. Foreclosure proceedings were started and then it was discovered that another woman had posed as his wife whose signature on the mortgage was necessary. The mortgage is worthless.

The accused man pointed out to Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle, that the statute of limitations protected him from a charge of operating a confidence game. Mr. Boyle thereupon made the charge forgery, to which the statute does not apply.

NEW NUMBERING PLAN FOR STATE ROADS PROPOSED

A new plan of renumbering the state highways in Illinois under a system that would give motorists immediate information concerning their locations by merely reading the road numerals was proposed yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The association advocates that all north and south highways be given odd number designations, with number one applying to that highway nearest the Indiana border, the next highway to the west receiving number three, and so on to the Mississippi river. In like fashion the east-west highways would be given even number designations, with number two applying to the most northerly route and the numbers increasing in size on downstate highways.

For diagonal highways it is proposed to give them odd or even numbers, depending on their general direction. A highway running southwest, but in general proceeding more south than west, would be given an odd number.

OPERATE ON PURDUE STAR FOR LEG INJURY

HAWKS TO PLAY AMERICANS IN OPENER TONIGHT

Hockey Weather Is Box Office Tonic.

Ready to Go

AMERICANS.		BLACKHAWKS.
Worters	Goal	Gardiner
Dutton	Defense	Coulter
Brydge	Defense	Conacher
Illmes	Center	Gottselig
Martin	Right Wing	Couture
Gross	Left Wing	Thompson

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Blackhawks, also-rans in the National hockey league last year but now elaborately revamped and more rampant with zeal than at the outset of any campaign in recent years, will open their eighth season tonight at the Chicago Stadium. The New York Americans, also extensively revamped and encouraged, will furnish the opposition.

The Hawk management yesterday predicted the largest crowd that ever watched an opening game in Chicago. Though the Hawks play their games in the warmth of the steam heated Stadium, the boys in the counting room always ask for a wintry scene outdoors to get the customers hockey-minded. During the snow yesterday the ticket peddlers wore their thumbs sore counting off the tickets, a physical hardship which led to estimates of a turnout that may run as high as 15,000, which is near capacity.

Conacher to Start.

The Hawks who are churned up about the appearance of Lionel Conacher in a Blackhawk uniform will not have to wait long to see Canada's most famous all around athlete in action in behalf of the Hawk cause. Manager Tom Gorman indicated after yesterday's practice drill that Lionel and Art Coulter will form his first defense pair.

Even as an enemy playing with the Montreal Maroons, Conacher was a favorite with the Chicago fans, especially when he took over the nets during the jams when the Maroon goalie usually was to be found wallowing around on his belly some place 20 or 30 feet from the goalie station.

Playing in front of Capt. Chuck Gardiner, Conacher probably will have few chances to act as emergency goalie sans pads, but those who know his technique are certain his work will be none the less spectacular working in front of an outstanding goalie.

Taffy Will Be There.

Coulter's progress in training, as a partner of the veteran Conacher is said to have been one of the reasons for unprecedented exuberance recently displayed by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks.

The other defense pair, Taffy Abel and Rog Jenkins, is expected also to take the eyes of the bugs, who, unlike most football fans, get as much kick out of the defenders as they do out of the puck pushers. Abel long has been a pet of the Chicago customers. Jenkins, a transformed winger, has the speed and heft to form a good partner and has a redhot temper which is an asset on defense whereas it was a liability when he was on the forward line.

The starting line tonight will show the customers a combination they have seen many times, but those who are gurgling most about the improvement in the Chicagoans point out that members of this line—Johnny Gottselig at center, Lolo Couture at right wing, and Paul Thompson at left wing—are performing more eagerly than at any time since they have worked together.

Speed Their Specialty.

The second line also is composed of gents well known to Chicago fans. Speed is the specialty of this trio—Tommy Cook, Mush March and Doc Romnes.

The third line—well, the press agent, who never left the training rink in Champaign, says the third line is just dandy. Jack Leswick, Bill Kendall, and Louis Trudel are listed as the men of the third line.

The American lineup will be made up of combinations of major league players of many years' experience, youngsters who have seen about a year of big time action, and some raw rookies who still have to get the Canadian clay off their boots.

Manager Bullet Joe Simpson has on his first line Normie Himes, one of the most grizzled gents in the hockey profession, with Ronnie Martin and Lloyd Gross as his partner. Martin has been around a while, but Gross is a rookie.

Dutkowski on Defense.

The second line will be led by another old timer in the big league, George Patterson. Red Conn and Lloyd Klein will be his associates. Rabbit McVeigh, Lloyd Jackson, and Hal Pickett will make up the third line. Duke Dutkowski, former Hawk captain, Red Dutton, Bill Brydge, and Chris Speyer will take care of the defensive chores. Speyer is a rookie from New Haven.

The new system of refereeing, with the referee in chief dressed in white and his assistant in blue, will be in effect tonight. Each referee will work one-half of the ice exclusively.

The other opening engagements tonight are Detroit at Montreal Canadiens and Boston at Toronto.

Saturday night the other three teams of the nine-club circuit, including the Stanley cup holders, the New York Rangers, swing into action as follows: Canadiens at Ottawa; Montreal Maroons at Boston and Rangers at Toronto.

MAROONS REGAIN THAT MID-WEEK VICTORY MANIA

This Time They Expect Hoosiers to Fall.

That old Midway optimism, which has kept the band of faithful Maroon followers together during lean years, has begun to bubble up again, as it does about Wednesday every week. Despite the fact that Chicago has not yet scored a conference touchdown, the boys are talking victory over Indiana at Stagg field Saturday.

And this despite the fact that two of Indiana's best ball carriers, Don Veller and Wendell Walker, are expected to be in good shape for the first time since they helped the Hoosiers in their best game of the season, a 6 to 6 tie with Minnesota.

Count on Sophomores.

The seasoning of the Maroon sophomores by scrimmage during recent weeks, particularly the steady development of Jay Berwanger and Bob Deem toward realization of their early season promise, are the chief factors in the Midway hope.

Historically Chicago has a tremendous advantage. In 22 meetings between the teams, including the post-season game for charity in 1931, Indiana has won only three times, and the Maroon advantage in points scored is 476 to 103. Last year Chicago's only Big Ten win was scored at the expense of the Hoosiers, and its chief hope this year seems again to be against Indiana.

A Lot Depends on Jay.

Scrimmage again was the order yesterday and Coach Shaughnessy sent the men against the freshmen on both offense and defense. Offensive tactics again will be restricted to a fraction of the plays the team learned before the season opened. The lineup apparently will be the same as that which started against Wisconsin, with Cullen at quarter and John Baker at end. If Patterson has to be relieved at center, Cullen will shift to that job and Flinn will call the signals.

Much will depend upon Jay Berwanger's ability to cope with the punting of Bob Jones. The Maroon sophomore's kicking last Saturday was reminiscent of his fine performances as a freshman. The Maroons also looked better on pass defense than they had previously.

HAYES SHIFTS JONES.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Bob Jones, punting full back, was moved back into the line today as Coach Hayes sought to strengthen Indiana's line for the Chicago game at the Midway Saturday. Jones was sent to the guard post early in the season, but when Walker was injured he returned to full back.

Hayes replaced Anglemyer and Sprauer with Vercuski and Kelson in a further line shakeup. The Hoosiers went through a long offensive workout.

PROS TO PLAY A BENEFIT FOR COLLEGE COACH

What Did It Profit Cavanaugh to Take Game to Heart?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—The professional football people will be running a benefit performance at the Polo grounds Sunday afternoon between the Giants and the Boston Redskins for the family of Maj. Frank Cavenaugh, a college coach, who died not long ago of war wounds or some trouble tracable to those injuries. He left a large family of small children and little else except a fine reputation, bill before its final passage extracted

His last coaching job had been the Fordham job, which is now held by Jimmy Crowley, late of Notre Dame. Before that he had coached at Dartmouth, which was his alma mater, and at Boston college.

Which School Is Most Obligated?

It is a fine question whether the last school which employed him as coach should feel any greater obligation to run a football game for the benefit of his family than either of the others. He wasn't in good health when he went to Fordham and you could argue very well that the others used him up as much. However, apparently they all felt alike about it and the upshot of the difficulty of prorating the wear and tear on the major has been that a strictly professional group led by Tim Mara, a former bookmaker and currently a fight promoter as well as a football magnate, is running the show to gather in some money for the family of the college football man.

Some of the sports writers in New York, who rather lean toward the professional kinds of sport as being somehow more human and humane than the college crowd, have given great assistance. They are a sentimental lot of weep-easies, who, given a column next to pure advertising matter, can cry $25,000 into the pocket of some worthy cause when they haven't their own rent.

The Boys Are Selling Tickets in Person.

In this case some of the journalists have been hoofing it in and out of the spending places at night selling tickets by hand for the Cavanaugh benefit. The major was a noble and tragic figure and our set loved him for his misfortunes and his bravery in them.

The major was educated for the law and it was a mistake on his part not to get on with his career, for he ought to have made a good man in a courtroom. He thought with something of the rough dry, underdog logic that has made Clarence Darrow famous and like Darrow he had an old shoe sort of presence.

In the law he could have made same money, although, being the sort of man he was, he probably would have put in too much of his time lawing for poor people who would have thanked him very, very much indeed and let it go at that. Anyway, I used to think he had been a poor quarter back in his own personal football games.

After All, It's Only a Seasonal Vocation.

Too many good men ball up their lives coaching football who ought to give it up and dig themselves into the world on leaving school. Theoretically it is a seasonal vocation which a

CONFIDENT N. U. FORCES HEAR OF THAT IOWA GAME

Hanley Fights to Key Up Team for Illini.

The unusual prospect of two overconfident football teams meeting each other may occur when Northwestern and Illinois clash at Dyche stadium Saturday. Reports from the two rival camps state that both coaches are presented with the problems of injecting the proper amount of fight into their respective elevens.

At Evanston Coach Dick Hanley is endeavoring to bring his warriors down to earth after last Saturday's "moral victory" over Minnesota.

Hanley holds the whip hand, however, having only to mention what happened against Iowa, whom the Wildcats underrated on the basis of the previous meeting between the two teams. On the surface Illinois and Northwestern appear to be about evenly matched. Both have light but fast charging lines.

Northwestern's line has the reputation of outplaying heavier opponents in most of its games this year while Illinois outfought Michigan's forward wall last Saturday.

Rentner Keeps Varsity Busy.

Northwestern is taking every precaution to be prepared for an anticipated passing attack. In yesterday's scrimmage, the first of the week, Coach Hanley inserted Pug Rentner into the freshmen back field where he spent a large part of the afternoon emulating Beynon of Illinois.

Pug, who is assistant freshman coach, ranked as one of the leading passers in the conference during his playing days and demonstrated yesterday that he still retains much of his skill. His bullet-like passes gave the varsity a busy time of it.

Roy Augustson, who shares the quarter back duties, was unable to take an active part in yesterday's scrimmage due to the fact that he is convalescing from a broken toe suffered in the Minnesota game. He at first reported that the toe was bruised. Later an X-ray revealed that it was broken. He is expected to be able to play Saturday however.

ILLINI TO USE CHICAGOANS.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A number of former Chicago or Cook County High school football players will be included in the Illini forces which will invade Northwestern Saturday. This was indicated by Coach Bob Zuppke's disposition of his squad in today's practice.

Ivan Schustek, former Schurz star, will start at right end where he played so brilliantly against Michigan. Bob Bloom of Thornton High, Harvey, will have as his first substitute George Frederick, product of Harrison Tech. Bill Hedtke, another center, is from Thornton.

Dykstra is Reserve End.

Gene Dykstra, sophomore from Fenger, has won a post as first reserve end along with the veteran Casey Straw. Dykstra, an 182 pound six footer, won his freshman numerals as a full back but was shifted to a wing position this fall.

Frank Leonette, sophomore from Harrison, is one of the understudies for Jack Beynon at quarter back. Julie Hoeft, Roosevelt and Gus Kowalski, Lake View, lettermen, and Andy Dahl, sophomore from Schurz, may also be on the squad which will travel north Friday.

Zuppke gave his regulars their first scrimmage of the week today but did not relax vigilance that they should not be overworked. The Illini realize their chances against the Purple depend upon the ability of the squad to recapture the fire displayed in the Michigan game.

Portman May Start.

Crain Portman, speedy half back substitute, will get into the game at Evanston, certainly as first relief and possibly as a starter. Portman, who was a track star at Maine township high school, Des Plaines, but transferred to Urbana, was state interscholastic champion in the 100 yard dash in his senior year. For two seasons his football ambitions have been thwarted by injuries, but he was able to play part of the Michigan game.

John Fischer, outstanding full back in spring practice, another hard luck candidate, is ready and likely to get a chance at some stage. Jack Craven and Steve Steib are other back field reserves who will have first call.

PURVIS MAY BE LOST FOR GAME AT NOTRE DAME

Infection Develops from Bruise.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Purdue's football squad, already handicapped by an unusually heavy injury list, received its worst blow of the season today when Duane Purvis, right half back, was taken to the hospital with an infected leg developed from bruises along the bone. An operation was performed by Dr. Gordon A. Thomas, team physician. Purvis was hurt in the Carnegie Tech game.

DUANE PURVIS.

An incision was made in the leg about six inches above the ankle and drains inserted. There appeared to be little possibility that Purvis could recover in time for the Notre Dame game Saturday. He may be able to make the trip, however, Dr. Thomas said.

Ponies Get Chance.

Purvis' injury had a stunning effect on Purdue supporters, who were already worried over the probable loss of Fred Hecker, Fritz Febel and George Dennis. Purvis has been the spark plug of the Boilermaker running attack and has averaged 5 2-3 yards per play from scrimmage in the five games played to date.

The loss of Purvis, who also has been the punting star of the backfield, leaves Kizer with a puzzling problem of whipping a ball carrying quartet into shape for the Notre Dame invasion. In this afternoon's drill, Paul Pardonner at quarter back and Jimmy Carter at left half back were all that remained of the original backfield quartet that started the season. Doxie Moore and Butch Keegan took turns at Hecker's full back berth, and a pair of pony backs, Leon Dailey and William Riblet, were worked in Purvis' right half back post.

EXPECT 40,000 CROWD.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Plans were being made today to handle the largest home football crowd since the Southern California game in 1931 when Purdue invades the Notre Dame stadium Saturday.

Indications are that the total may reach 45,000, with 40,000 assured. The additional 5,000 will depend on the weather Saturday morning. Purdue has ordered tickets twice after exhausting the original allotment several weeks ago. Nearly all of the tickets on consignment in nearby towns have been sold.

Outlook Is Bad.

Meanwhile Coach Heartly Anderson is working chiefly to get his squad in the right frame of mind. He is afraid of underconfidence.

Anderson scoffed today at Kizer's statement that Notre Dame is due to score in a big way.

"Navy offered the only possible breather on our schedule in which the boys might find themselves and get a little confidence. Now that they have failed to break into the scoring column against Navy's lighter and less experienced team, they will naturally tighten up more than ever," he said.

Varsity Takes It Easy.

"They will probably fumble more than ever, and will be just as poor in the pinches as they were in games with Kansas, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh and Navy. If we could have clicked for touchdowns in just one of these games, the tension would have been relieved and we might have a chance of winning our remaining games with Northwestern and the undefeated teams of Purdue, Army, and Southern California."

Anderson ordered a scrimmage for his second team today and the third team tomorrow. The varsity will forego scrimmage to give the regulars a chance to recover from injuries.

HAWK GAMES TO BE BROADCAST BY STATION W-G-N

W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE radio station, will present all Blackhawk home games this winter, according to announcement yesterday by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, president of the Hockey club. The opening game of the season to be played at the stadium tonight will inaugurate the broadcast, which will present the final period of play of each of the games.

W-G-N has installed special lines to the rink and John Harrington, the "sports reporter" of W-G-N, and his assistant, Jack Burnett, a former Canadian associated with hockey, will be at the rinkside to present a sketch of play of the opening two periods and the detailed play by play of the final period. Interviews with players and information about the men, the league and the championship race will be given on the broadcasts during the season.

The broadcast tonight will open at 9:45 p. m. and run for 45 minutes.

FOOTBALL CLOCK.

DIRECTOR of Athletics Metcalf of the University of Chicago is planning to give trial to an electrical timing clock either at the Indiana game Saturday, or at the Dartmouth game on Nov. 25. He thinks there are many advantages to the plan both for players, officials and spectators.

This particular clock, a product of the Western Union, not only is designed to show the actual time of play but also to ring a bell at the end of the first and third quarters and to fire a pistol at the end of the two halves. Unless the expense is too great, the device, if successful, no doubt would be generally adopted.

With such a clock the field judge would be relieved of that duty while running about the gridiron and no such question of short time as arose in the Minnesota-Purdue contest would be possible. Moreover, it would keep players and coaches informed, serve to add interest to the spectators.

At Dyche stadium last Saturday one heard mutterings of criticism of the strategy which caused Northwestern to try a field goal on first down near Minnesota's final whitewash marks as the game neared an end. These critics did not know that only 35 seconds of playing time remained.

Director Metcalf's initiative is, in part, due to favorable results reported from the Big Six conference which has been trying an innovation along the same general lines. There is a big clock at one end of the field operated by a man seated on the sidelines. He is official timer. He starts and stops the clock with a push button. Thus every one on the field can see at all times the amount of time elapsed and remaining.

Programs at Prep Games.

In a recent yarn about our favorable impressions of high school football we remarked that the absence of programs giving numbers of the opposing teams was a handicap to the casual spectator's enjoyment. Several persons took the trouble to call up to tell us that such programs were distributed for the first time to persons attending the Evanston-Waukegan game last Saturday. There was no charge for the service. Each phone correspondent hoped appreciation would be expressed to the management.

'Twas nothing but a snowflake star
That drifted down into my eye,
But it was sharp and frozen so
The moment's feeling made me cry.

But I have always loved snowflakes
That whitened barren fields and dry,
And so I've often loved a thing
Though it brought tears or made a sigh.

Yet tears that snowflakes melt into,
We laugh about and bid good-by.
How lovely if no other things
Than snowflakes ever made us cry!

Blue Pencils All New Race Group Needs

BY FRENCH LANE.

The only tools necessary for the new Illinois racing commission, as far as we can figure out, is a nice package of blue pencils.

Several late changes and amendments to the Illinois commission race bill before its final passage extracted not only its molars but the bicuspids and eye teeth as well.

"About the only duty left for the commission to perform is the approval or rejection of racing dates and racing officials which the tracks themselves select," said the head of one Chicago track.

The commission also selects three supervisors of racing to see that all rules as to the collection of taxes and the conduct of the sport and the accompanying wagering are enforced. In the past one inspector selected by the director of agriculture and paid $50 a day by the tracks, was assigned to carry out these duties.

The assurance that work is not piling up for the future commissioners may be partly responsible for Gov. Horner's delay in appointing them. It should certainly come as welcome news to the new appointees, who are to work without pay.

Tod Sloan, whose career has gone from bottom to top and back again like an incorrigable thermometer, has won another battle.

Some time ago Tommy Griffith, a jockey of Sloan's time, wrote Tom B. Cromwell that Sloan was in a bad way in the county hospital at Los Angeles.

"I guess he is nearing the end of the trail," Griffith wrote. "It is surely sad for a fellow who has made the money he has to end that way. Guess there are many who will say he had it coming to him but I am sorry for him. We started out together and he made dollars where I made dimes. The world knows his success. It knows very little about me.

Brooklyn Eleven Beats Washington Pro Team, 20-0

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Washington Passers in a professional football game here tonight by the score of 20 to 0. The Dodgers' superior attack was featured by the passing of Red Cagel, the running of Shipwreck Kelly, and the pass receiving of Riblett, end, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania.

Battles Gains 611 Yards in Pro League; Sets Mark

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Clifford [Gyp] Battles, former West Virginia Wesleyan star now with the Boston Redskins, has established a new ground gaining record for the National Professional Football league.

With four more games yet to go, Battles already has gained 611 yards in 90 tries, more than 100 yards better than the winning total compiled last year by Bob Campiglio, now with the Redskins.

Jim Musick, full back for Boston, is second with 404 yards. Ace Gutowsky of the Portsmouth Spartans, with 313 yards, has gained three yards more than Harry Newman of the New York Giants to hold third place.

GOLDEN GLOVES ALUMNI CROWD STADIUM CARD

Ross Heads List; To Meet Sammy Fuller.

The boxing card at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, Nov. 17, will be dominated by CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves graduates. Of course, Barney Ross, the first Golden Gloves alumnus to win a professional title, tops the list. He will defend his junior welterweight championship against Sammy Fuller of Boston, Mass., in the 10 round windup.

Ross won the Golden Gloves featherweight crown by whipping Jackie Davis in 1929. Shortly afterward he turned professional and topped off a record of 44 victories in 48 pro contests by defeating Tony Canzoneri at the Stadium last June 23 for the lightweight and junior welterweight titles. Since then he stopped Johnny Farr at Kansas City, Mo., July 27 and successfully defended his two crowns against Canzoneri in a 15 round bout at New York Sept. 12.

Dazzo Fights Days

These accomplishments by Ross apparently have inspired other Golden Gloves boxers, for several of them have earned positions on the Stadium card.

Included are Paul Dazzo and Davey Day, who will meet in a six round bout; Johnny Phagan, Leo Rodak, Danny Neenan, and Frank Sigilio. Phagan faces Young Joe Walker, Sigilio opposes Neenan, and Rodak clashes with Frank Minerva. These matches are at six rounds. Sammy Slaughter battles Kid Leonard in the eight round semi-final.

Dazzo defeated the late Sidney Kaplan for the Golden Gloves bantamweight title in 1930. He won his first pro match that same year. Since then he engaged in 34 fights, winning 31 and losing only three. Day, stablemate of Ross, has compiled a record of 25 triumphs in 26 appearances since leaving the amateur class.

Rodak Unbeaten as Pro.

Phagan, 1932 international welterweight titleholder, has fought 20 times as a pro. He won 13, fought two draws, and lost five. Rodak has won eight matches since forfeiting his amateur status after being victorious in his intercity match with New York at the Stadium last March. Sigilio was eliminated by Eddie Ward, who later won the Golden Gloves lightweight championship in the west side trials of the last tournament after he had scored two victories. He has a perfect record of 10 pro triumphs.

Bill O'Connell, Streator, Ill., middleweight, is paired with Bobby Millsapp for six rounds at the Rainbo Fronton tomorrow. Art Donovan and Eddie Chinski, lightweights, will clash in a five round semi-final. Matches at four rounds will bring together George Haberski and Art Mitchell, and Fred Hawkette and Paddy Walther. Ed Van Herrick will wrestle Mike Mantich. There will be one more contest.

The program at Marigold Garden Monday follows:

Henry Rothier vs. Dick Sisk [6], 147 pounds; George Engel vs. Mickey Joy [6], 138; Sammy Adams vs. Johnny Terry [4], 147; Harry Booker vs. Art Mitchell [4], 139; Lenny Cohen vs. Frank Mirabal [4], 120; George Jonasen vs. Al Williams [wrestling].

Five matches will comprise the bill Monday at the Coliseum annex. Tony Cancela and Baxter Calmes meet for ten rounds. Solly Dukelsky faces Peewee Jarrell in the eight round main supporting encounter. Eddie Stiegal battles Walter Statkus and Dario Moreno boxes Joey Bozak at six rounds. George Haberski is paired with Ray Hendrickson for four rounds.

Six amateur bouts will be held tonight at the Covenant club, Dearborn and Madison streets. Five will be boxing matches and the other will be a wrestling exhibition. Barney Ross and Davey Day are scheduled to be introduced. Joe Lipp, Tommy Thomas, Edward Klein and Ald. Jacob Arvey will serve as officials.

Hugh Shannon, representative of Sammy Mandell and Billy Celebron, wired Mique Malloy yesterday that both fighters were available for the show at the Arcadia garden Nov. 21. Malloy plans to use Mandell against Laddie Tonelli and Celebron against Henr. Rothier . . . Charlie Retzlaff, Leonard, N. D., heavyweight, and Buck Everett of Gary, Ind., have accepted a 10 round bout at Cicero stadium on Nov. 24 . . . Billy Freas, Grand Rapids, Mich., manager of Martin Levandowski, announced yesterday that Levandowski has retired . . . Adolph Wiater and Merril Tonn are matched for eight rounds at Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 20. F. M.

Judge Fails as Peacemaker for Chapman Family

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The good offices of a divorce court judge today failed to effect a reconciliation between Mrs. Ben Chapman and her husband, an outfielder of the New York Yankees baseball club.

Neither of the principals would discuss the failure to reach a reconciliation in the two hours they were in the chambers of Judge William Walker, who had brought them together.

DEPAULWORKS ON DEFENSE FOR ST. THOMAS GAME

Fear of an upset by the St. Thomas eleven caused Coaches Jim Kelly and Ben Connor yesterday to drive the De Paul university team through an intensive scrimmage against the Minnesotan's plays. St. Thomas will bring an impressive record to Wrigley Field Saturday. It has been beaten in only one game and leads the Minnesota conference.

The De Paul coaches continued to wrestle with the problem of ends. Andy Delaney appeared in uniform but was still too crippled to be of much service. Joe Sullivan and Fred Brainard remain on the hospital list. John Pionke has been shifted to right end. He is a tackle who is expected to fill the gap capably.

Capt. Marty Stadler and Eddie O'Brien, half backs; Vin Flood, quarter back, and Jim Condon, full back constituted the backfield. They are slated to start against St. Thomas Saturday.

GUNNERS SWEEP TO 19-6 VICTORY OVER SHAMROCKS

The St. Louis Gunners unloosed a hard attack in the second period last night to break a tie and go on to a 19 to 6 victory over the Chicago Shamrocks in a professional football game before 2,500 at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

Touchdowns by Don Moses of the Gunners and Waesco of the Shamrocks, who recovered a touched punt behind the Gunner goal, tied the score in the first period. In the second, the Gunners opened a driving attack and Johnston plunged over for two touchdowns. The extra point for the Gunners was scored on a pass from Moses to Malone.

Edmonton Girls' Quintet Challenges Durant, Okla.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Edmonton Commercial Grads, defeated by the Durant, Okla., girls' basketball team last winter, today challenged the United States squad to a five game series, the first two games to be played in Durant or some other American city, and with the Underwood trophy—emblematic of international superiority—at stake.

Pros to Play a Benefit for College Coach

man could enjoy without detriment to his stated career. But actually that kind of coach can't win football games in fast company. So he either quits football altogether or quits his career or neglects it, which is just as bad, but to succeed he must become a promoter and show manager, and the first thing he knows he finds himself in a fiercely competitive branch of the circus business which pays no pensions to its used up geniuses, starves its help on $5 a week and board and room and books, and recognizes no debt to a coach beyond his pay check and sometimes argues about that.

I wonder that the NRA doesn't demand a look at the football books and a better deal for the players. If a boy is getting $5 a week it wouldn't make him any more professional to give him $20, and he would be cheap at that price in many schools in proportion to the money which he draws at the gate.

Why Pros May Outdo Colleges at Football.

Well, I think the professionals will come along in the football business until some distant day when they outplay and outdraw the college boys as widely as the major league baseball clubs do. The mugg element will always outnumber all other classes and a mugg can understand the simple logic of a promoter who raises a lot of money for a charity just because he wants to do it. But the finely reasoned explanations why a college isn't obliged to do anything beyond the letter of the contract for one of its own will leave him cold.

WOOD DEFEATS SUMMERELL IN BILLIARD MEET

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Harry Wood, Duluth, fighting to get out of a near cellar berth, defeated Charles Summerell, Little Rock, Ark., today in the national pocket billiards tournament here.

Wood, who has given tourney leaders much competition despite five defeats, beat Summerell 125 to 80 in 18 innings. It was Wood's third victory. He had a high run of 21 compared to 18 for Summerell.

Bout with Chocolate Sought for Arizmendi

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Tom Gallery, matchmaker of the Olympic auditorium, said today he would make every effort immediately to match Baby Arizmendi, victor over Eddie Shea here last night, with Kid Chocolate, world's featherweight champion, for a bout here late in November or early in December. The title probably would not be at stake.

Shaughnessy Is Not in Favor of Changing Rules

The best thing to do with the football rules, believes Coach Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago, is to let them alone long enough for coaches and players to get adjusted to them. Coach Shaughnessy is not in sympathy with the demand for changes in the fumble rule.

"Football is all right if they'll let it alone and stop trying to twist the rules every time a game is lost," he said. "It is true that allowing either side to run with a fumble would give the smaller team a chance, if it got a lucky break; but, on the other hand, there is justification in the theory that a mechanical mishap ought not ruin completely a superior team."

BASKETBALL LEAGUE MEETS.

The Century Basketball league will meet tomorrow night at 155 West Madison street.

SOCCER SERIES FOR CERMAK CUP TO OPEN SUNDAY

Professional and amateur soccer stars will compete in the annual Anton J. Cermak cup international series on the west and north sides next Sunday.

The professionals will compete at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, where the British, last season's winners of the Cermak trophy, will battle the Bohemians. At Norwegian field, 4500 West Fullerton avenue, the Scandinavians, Germans, Italians, and Jews will compete in a double header.

Following is the lineup of the British team:

Neil [Ravenswood Scots], goal; Scott and Art Waldrom [Wieboldt Wonderbolts], backs; Ogilvie [Sparta], MacAvoy [Hungarians], and Hay [Wieboldts], half backs; Munro Wieboldts], O'Donnell [Sparta], Coutts [Wieboldts], Cuthbert [Wieboldts], and Coubrough [Ravenswood], forwards. The reserves are Lillie and Davidson of the Wieboldts.

CARDINALS FACE BILL SENN AND BAUSCH SUNDAY

Ex-Chicago Players Lead Cincinnati Attack.

Jim Bausch, former member of the Chicago Cardinals, will be with the Cincinnati Reds when they meet the Cardinals in a National Professional Football league game at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon. It will be ladies' day and women will be admitted without admission charge.

In addition to Bausch, who was released by Coach Paul Schissler of the Cardinals early in the season, others who will be wearing Cincinnati uniforms include Bill Senn, former Chicago Bears player, and Hilary Lee, Oklahoma star. Senn, who attended Knox college at Galesburg, Ill., is one of the fastest half backs in the league.

Drill on Passes.

While the defeat at the hands of the Green Bay Packers last Sunday still lingers in the minds of the Cardinals, they gained some solace in the official statistics of the contest which revealed that the Cardinals outgained the Packers, collecting 58 yards from rushing while the Packers gained only 56.

The forward passing figures, however, showed the Packers picked up 104 yards to the Cardinals' 29, causing Coach Schissler to stress passing in practice sessions during the week.

Cards Won Once.

The Cardinals will be seeking their second victory of the season against Cincinnati. They beat the Ohioans in their first meeting for their only league victory, when Joe Lillard kicked a field goal in the final minutes.

BEARS SHIFT LINEUP

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Injuries have upset the smooth running Bear machine and an unfamiliar lineup will be sent against the Eagles at Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

George Corbett and Johnny Siak are on the bench as a result of the Boston battle and will be unable to appear against the Eagles, according to Coach George Halas.

Red Grange and Bill Hewitt were banged up in the Boston upset, but are expected to be in shape by the end of the week.

On account of this, Halas has shifted Molesworth to left half back, Jack Manders to right half, and Joe Zeller, normally a guard, to end.

The Bears are working out daily on the Drexel college field, where Halas' brother, Walter, is head football coach.

WOLVERINES MAY BENCH FAY AND HESTON FOR IOWA

Kowalik Will Be Ready Despite Injuries.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The possibility that a shake-up might occur in the Michigan back field before the Wolverines line up against their Saturday opponent, Iowa, was seen here today. And it appeared that two men who have been big guns in the Wolverine front for the last two seasons, Capt. Stan Fay and Jack Heston, might warm the bench.

The reason is that neither showed as much as was expected against Illinois and that their two understudies, Bill Renner and Louis Westover, are providing a lot more dynamite than the pair who have been regulars up to now. It is figured that Fay and Heston may be stale and bench duty at the start of a game will bring them back to form.

Heston Must Improve.

Fay did his best running of the year in practice Monday and for that reason may keep his job. Heston, on the other hand, definitely will have to improve or lose out.

The team did a lot of work with its passes on South Ferry field this afternoon and, as in the case of the new plays given out Tuesday, Coach Harry Kipke told the quarter backs to "try a few of them some time."

Coaches scouted a rumor that John Kowalik, regular guard, would be out Saturday. Kowalik has some bad bruises, they admitted, and is being given plenty of rest, but will be ready to go Saturday. They mentioned also that the big linemen will be needed now that Carl Savage, the other regular guard, is out.

IOWA STRESSES DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football team focused its attention on defense against Michigan plays in the second hard scrimmage of the week today.

Freshmen using Wolverine formations scouted in three games this season made some ground around the ends and through the air, but were checked at the center of the line. The first team continued to block and tackle more viciously than at any time this season in Wednesday's session.

Coach Solem spent considerable time grooming reserves for the line positions. Lloyd Hoffman and Eugene Liggett alternated with Jerry Foster and Fred Radloff at the tackles, while Bill Secl and Wilmon Hass shared one of the guard jobs. Ray Fisher was used as a replacement for Jim Dee at right end.

Francis [Zud] Schammel, who has spent two days in bed this week with a leg infection, watched the practice from the side lines. Doctors said that ice packs had reduced the swelling of the infection and that it probably will not be necessary to lance it. In this case he probably will be available for the Michigan game.

GOPHERS RECOVER SPEED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—It was a much revived University of Minnesota football squad that ran through its second day of preparation today for the Michigan game Nov. 18. And much of that revival could be attributed to Pug Lund, brilliant half back.

Coach Bernie Bierman early this week said he would bench Lund along with Glenn Seidel, quarter back. Bierman then reconsidered and decided to confine his changes to quarter back, giving Babe Levoir a chance to alternate with Seidel.

Lund tore through his work today like a man determined to rout any thought that he was the victim of a letdown. Apparently all of the Gophers caught the Lund spirit, because they showed the same fire they possessed at the start of the season, with indications that they are on their way out of the lethargy which they showed against Northwestern Saturday. Snow forced the players indoors, but Bierman hopes to get them outside for at least one scrimmage this week.

BADGERS CHANT.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Greater precision in the back field was sought today by Coach Clarence W. Spears as he continued to concentrate on Wisconsin's varsity offense. Practicing indoors because of the cold weather, the squad chanted to help produce rhythm in the shifts.

Coaches pointed out that, although the Wisconsin line is above the average in opening holes, the backs are not fast enough to take advantage of the openings and that greater accuracy in timing may speed up the attack.

Several varsity men were injured in scrimmage with the freshmen. Among them were Robert Schiller, half back, and John Golemgeske, tackle. Both are expected to play against West Virginia Saturday, however.

SCHMELING WILL BOX MAX BAER ON COAST: JACOBS

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, returned today from Germany with the announcement that a return bout between Schmeling and Max Baer was planned for Feb. 22 in San Francisco with Jack Dempsey as promoter.

Baer knocked out Schmeling in the tenth round of their first meeting in New York last summer, a fight which marked the debut of Dempsey as a big time promoter.

Notre Dame Style of Play Is Big Success at Purdue

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Purdue, a team which Notre Dame once kicked around more severely than did the Boilermakers' fellow members of the Western conference, resumes football relations with Notre Dame on Saturday with certainly an even chance to whip its one time conqueror. Even more strange, in recent seasons Purdue has learned to play better Notre Dame football than the parent institution of the back field shift.

To make the situation a complete turn about, Noble Kizer, who once helped Notre Dame whip Purdue, will bring his team to Notre Dame hoping to beat an eleven coached by Hunk Anderson, who like Kizer, once helped trounce Purdue.

Big Pull at Box Office.

These are the factors which have made Saturday's game a big time contest. Those who feared the contest might not have box office pull now find that it likely will outdraw Notre Dame's battle with Southern California. The latest report from Lafayette was that more than 7,000 tickets had been sold to Purdue students, alumni and fans.

Each team has played five games. By comparisons of scores, Purdue has a wide advantage. There is one direct comparison. Carnegie Tech defeated Notre Dame 7 to 0 and lost to Purdue, 17 to 7. Another comparison is possible. Purdue tied Minnesota, 7 to 7. Minnesota defeated Pittsburgh, 7 to 3, and Pitt whipped Notre Dame, 14 to 0.

Should Be Close Game.

Now throw these figures out of the window. About all they do is make Purdue a popular favorite. Actually the game Saturday should be closely fought. It will be brilliant with long runs or it will be a drab, scoreless tie. The similarities of the systems of attack and the advantages that each team will have on defense, since each certainly should be able to set up a defense for its own plays, may result in a deadlock. It might be like Stanford-Northwestern, a scoreless tie with two elevens both using the double wing back system of attack, unable to overpower the other.

However, because the Notre Dame system plays for long gains, one or the other of the teams should put a scoring thrill into the contest. This should be Purdue, on the basis of accomplishment, but Notre Dame, which has lacked coördination in attack when near the scoring zone, may break loose.

Why Long Runs Are Made.

Why does the Notre Dame system of attack customarily produce long scoring runs? There are two reasons.

First, the ball carrier reaches the line of scrimmage on straight plays, reverse plays, and spinner plays more rapidly than similar plays from other styles of attack. In other words, the defense has less time in which to diagnose the play.

Secondly, and more important, Notre Dame and Purdue depend on a man to man assignment for blocking in the line. For instance, if the end can block the defensive tackle without aid, it releases at least one other offensive player who then may be assigned to block another defender. Thus a blocker may be assigned to all defenders in the path of the play, and it follows that a perfect play may result at any time.

Speed Is Keynote.

Just as Marchy Schwartz ran 54 yards on a straight off tackle play to beat the Army in 1930, so has Jim Carter, Purdue's left half, run long distances to score this year. This system of individual blocking depends on speed—the ball carrier's speed and the speed of the interference. On a fast play the blocker need stop his man a shorter length of time. Coordination means that the block is made not too soon, for the defensive man may recover and tackle the runner, and not too late, or the runner may be downed as readily.

Purdue's right end, shifting out, expects to block the defensive tackle in. The right guard pulls out and comes around. He must be fast. He will, if necessary, help the end, but he should continue on to take the defensive center if the center pulls out of the line to back up his tackle and end. Offensive tackles block the defensive guards.

Two Rush at End.

The same idea of a man to man blocking is used on reverse plays, spinners, etc. Purdue has made these plays work.

Against Ohio university Butch Keegan ran 56 yards for a touchdown. In the same game Carter ran 58 yards. Against Chicago Carter ran 53 yards to score and Purvis made 19 yards for the second touchdown. In the Wisconsin game Carter scored Purdue's first touchdown on a 41 yard run. Against Carnegie Tech Purvis ran 52 yards to set up the second touchdown situation. And if other proof of Purdue's blocking is needed, Carter ran 90 yards with the kickoff at the start of the second half.

SARPOLIS AND STEELE ADDED TO STADIUM CARD

Two more wrestlers have been added to the heavyweight wrestling card at the Chicago Stadium on Nov. 22. They are Ray Steele and Dr. Karl Sarpolis, former University of Chicago wrestler.

Opponents for the pair will be selected later. Steele is known as one of the most powerful and scientific wrestlers. He weighs 212 pounds and stands well over six feet. Sarpolis formerly wrestled on the University of Chicago teams and won several Big Ten titles.

George [Crybaby] Zaharias of Colorado also will appear on the card.

Pheasant, Rabbit, and Quail Season to Open Tomorrow

BY BOB BECKER.

Pheasant and rabbit hunters in Illinois will take to the fields tomorrow, the opening day of the upland game shooting season in this state. Nov. 10 not only gives the pheasant and rabbit shooters their long looked for chance to do some hunting but it also is the day when the quail hunters can loose their bird dogs and go after the coveys of fast flying Bob Whites.

The season has been closed on prairie chickens in this state. Until this year Nov. 10 also was the opening day on that rapidly disappearing game bird.

The Illinois law permits a duly licensed hunter to shoot just two pheasant cocks per day during the short open season, which runs up to and including Nov. 15. However, not many of the gunners in Chicagoland are lucky enough to have to worry about a possession limit which limits a single hunter to six cock pheasants in possession. In other words, this is a three day bag limit. It is against the law to shoot hen pheasants. And hunters are reminded that it is a direct violation of the game code to trespass upon posted land.

The Illinois regulation on rabbit shooting makes it legal to kill 15 rabbits per day. Unfortunately there is no possession limit. In other words, you can have in your possession more than a day's bag limit and not have to worry about violating the game code. This feature of the code is unlike that which governs most species of game birds or animals in that the code usually limits the number of birds or animals that the hunter may have in his possession. In the case of ducks the possession limit is 24. In the case of wild geese it is two days' limit, or 8.

The Illinois law again stipulates a 30 day open season on quail. The daily limit is 12 birds and the possession limit is 36. There are a few Hungarian partridges in Chicagoland. These birds still are protected by the law and should not be killed by hunters who are out for pheasants and rabbits.

With the opening day coming on a Friday, indications are just an average crowd of hunters will go afield at daylight tomorrow morning to burn their powder and sling shot at ringnecks or rabbits.

The final injunction from the state and county law enforcing agencies is that every hunter must have his license on his pergon, and also that there will be plenty of men on hand to enforce the no trespass law which is in the Illinois game code.

CHICAGO STAR AT NORTHLAND DIES AFTER OPERATION

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Ross Lonergan, 23 years old, 8810 South Carpenter street, Chicago, died at the Ashland General hospital today following an appendix operation.

Lonergan was a freshman at Northland college, and played quarter back on the varsity football team. Last Saturday college officials had difficulty persuading him not to play in the game against Ironwood Junior college at Ironwood, Mich. Lonergan also was compelled to make a last minute cancelation of a scheduled bout in the Ashland American Legion amateur boxing show this week. Northland college students will hold special chapel services.

DIES OF OLD INJURY.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Theo Kauerz, who sustained a head injury while playing with the freshman football team at the University of the South, Sewanee last fall, died today.

Newly Created High Schools Enter League

The ten newly created high schools in Chicago will compete in the Public School league, it was announced yesterday following a meeting in the offices of A. H. Pritzlaff, director of athletics. The schools will start league competition in basketball in several weeks. The addition of the ten schools brings the total number of teams which will seek the championship to 34.

The new schools include Amundsen, Farragut, Foreman, Harper, Hirsch, Kelly, Kelvyn park, Manley, Sullivan, and Von Steuben. Basketball coaches at all the schools attended the meeting. The schedule for the 1933-'34 season is expected to be adopted next week.

New Trier's regular center, Brown, will be unable to play when New Trier meets Evanston in their annual game on Evanston's field Saturday afternoon. It will be the final Suburban league game for both elevens. Evanston is tied for the lead with two victories and one tie, while New Trier has suffered three consecutive defeats.

Morgan Park Military academy's football team will travel to Culver, Ind., to meet Culver Military academy Nov. 18. The entire Morgan Park student body and the school band will accompany the squad.

Beefy Beinor, Thornton full back has been shifted to guard by Coach Lipe for the game with Kankakee Saturday at Harvey. Coach Lipe said either Bill Diekleman or Hubert Coston will replace Beinor in the back field.

Glenbard will be without the services of Capt. Jauch, half back, and Bob McLeod, end, for the game with Maine at Glen Ellyn Saturday. Both were injured last week against York. Maine is tied for the West Suburban conference lead with Hinsdale, each having won three games and played one tie.

More than 150 will compete in the Chicago Public High School league cross country run in Washington park Saturday morning. There will be competition in two divisions, senior and novice. Among the squads which will seek the senior team championship are Senn, Lane Tech, Tilden Tech, Austin, Schurz, and Roosevelt.

More than 120 candidates for the Morton lightweight basketball team reported to Coach G. S. Fencl. Among the veterans who returned are Kolar, Aiello, Slifka, Thorsl, Koutek, Chromy, Schroeder, and Capt. Blaha.

PIRATES TO PLAY FIRST SUNDAY GAME APRIL 22

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The management of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that the first legal game of Sunday baseball ever played in the city will be April 22, 1934.

With Sunday sports approved in yesterday's election, club officials began consideration of the schedule, which had been held in abeyance until settlement of the question.

William E. Benswanger, the club's president, said twelve Sunday games will be played next season.

"It will be our aim to keep the sport up to a dignified standard," he said. "We think that even the opponents of Sunday baseball will be pleased."

Oliphant Denies Report He Joined Ohio State Rebels

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Conflicting stories of dissension on the Ohio State football squad continued to emanate from the Buckeye campus today with the reported withdrawal of Marshall Oliphant, star half back, from the team.

The Ohio State Lantern, Ohio State's daily student newspaper, commented on the alleged action of Oliphant and a signed story by Maury C. Koblentz, sports editor of the paper, reported the allegiance of the back field star to the discontented group.

Koblentz's story in part follows:

"Despite reports that all malcontents on the Ohio State squad had either left school or rejoined the team, it was learned that Marshall Oliphant, back field star from Cleveland Heights, only reported for practice yesterday after a member of the Buckeye coaching staff sought him out at his fraternity house.

"Oliphant did not report to the team Tuesday until after he had talked with Sam Willaman, head coach."

After Koblentz's story had been read to him over the telephone Oliphant denied the story.

"That story is absolutely untrue. I made no such statement to Koblentz or to any one else," said Oliphant.

"I wasn't at practice Monday, along with about a dozen others, but I called up and asked to be excused because of stiff muscles resulting from the Indiana game.

"I haven't at any time had any intention of quitting the Ohio State squad nor have I said I wasn't getting a square deal."

JIMMY WILSON WILL MANAGE REDS, REPORT

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Post-Dispatch said today it had "dependable information" that Jimmy Wilson, Cardinal catcher, will go to the Cincinnati Reds as manager, after being traded by the Cardinals to the Phillies.

The newspaper said Wilson will be traded to the Phillies for Catcher Virgil Davis, the Phillies to receive some cash in the transaction. Then Wilson and First Baseman Don Hurst will be sent to Cincinnati in exchange for Jim Bottomley and Catcher Lombardi, and Wilson will be appointed manager by Larry McPhail, new president of the Reds.

LEVINSKY WINS FROM HARRIS IN EXHIBITION

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 8.—(AP)—King Levinsky, Chicago, boxed four rounds to a decision over Seal Harris, giant Negro from Chicago, in an exhibition bout here tonight. Levinsky scored two knockdowns.

In a six round semi-windup Jack Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight and son of Mike Gibbons, outpointed Bill Bagley of Transcona, Man. Gibbons weighed 162 pounds and Bagley 164.

Dusek Injured; Krone Postpones Mat Show

Because of a severe ear injury to Rudy Dusek, Promoter Doc Krone has postponed his heavyweight wrestling show scheduled for next Tuesday night at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. He will stage his first show of the season there on the night of Nov. 27. Dusek was to have wrestled Dick Stahl of Germany in the main event.

Susan Laird, Swim Star, Dies After Nervous Breakdown

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Susan Laird, 25, Olympic swimmer, died today from the effects of a nervous breakdown suffered late in September. Miss Laird, who was girls' athletic coach at Homestead High school, swam with the American team in the 1928 Olympics, finishing fourth in the 100 meter race. In 1926 she was national junior 100 yard champion.

N. Y. Yacht Club Accepts Cup Challenge

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The challenge of the Royal Yacht club for the America's cup was accepted today by the New York Yacht club, it was announced by George A. Cormack, secretary of the club.

Acceptance means that T. O. M. Sopwith, English aircraft manufacturer, will race his yacht Endeavor, now being constructed by Charles E. Nicholson in Gosport, England, against the best defender the New York club can put forth.

The races probably will be held next September, with the courses off Newport, R. I., again chosen, although no details for the match have been worked out.

The challenge, dated Oct. 12, was announced in London on Oct. 17. The cup committee of the New York Yacht club, which really accepted the challenge, was appointed a week ago by Commodore Junius Spencer Morgan.

It now rests with the committee to arrange conditions of the match and to call for the construction of one or more defense yachts.

In the challenge, which named the yacht Endeavor, as required, there was merely the request for a match next year, the first to be sailed on Sept. 15. It is expected that four races out of seven again will be stipulated as the number required to win.

ILLINOIS HORSES WIN IN NATIONAL SHOW INAUGURAL

Mrs. Thompson's King of the Plain Triumphs.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Marie Louise Long of Philadelphia, scored the first victory today at the National Horse show, with more than 300 entries from five countries, opened its 50th annual session in Madison Square Garden.

With Wallace Bailey in the saddle, Miss De Long's Play Fair, a six year old bay mare, carried off the blue ribbon in the class for three gaited saddle horses over 14.2 hands and not exceeding 15 hands.

Illinois Horses Win.

The Dicksfield farm, owned by A. B. Dick Jr., came in for a share of the early awards when a pair of harness ponies from their Gurnee, Ill., farm finished one, two in the division for horses of their class under 14.2 hands. Fleetwood Violette won the blue ribbon and Fleetwood Tempest, the red.

Frances Dodge of Rochester, Mich., with entries in 19 classes, accounted for her first victory with her five gaited saddle horse, Anita Rose. The big bay mare, competing against two horses in the novice class, open to stallions, mares and geldings, easily showed the way to William M. M Robinson's Mountain Mac of Paoli Pa.

Chicagoan Triumphs.

Mrs. John R. Thompson's King of the Plain of Chicago, unbeaten in five years of competition in this country, scored a hollow victory in his first appearance, winning the class for hackney stallion ponies not exceeding 14.2 hands. The King was scheduled to appear against his sire, Habrough Swell, a recent arrival from England, but the latter failed to make his appearance in the ring.

Society formed a rainbow around the tanbark against a background of the horse show colors of black and gold, with flags of five nations suspended over the arena and massed around the box occupied by Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commander Second corps area, masses of red and white velvet, pastel shades, olive greens, and bright lamés vied with the horses.

Prince Matchabelli acted as escort to Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of the postmaster general, who wore a black crinkle crêpe, low decolleted dress and ermine wrap. Shortly after the arrival of Mrs. Farley the Joseph McKees entered the promenade and occupied seats in one of the ringside boxes.

Mrs. A. B. Dick Jr. of Chicago was conventionally garbed in a dress of black with gold stripes, a black velvet hat and wore a single orchid. Mrs. Oliver Harriman was in a varicolored lamé wrap, gold predominating over velvet.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney joined friends while still attired in her riding habit after riding the Grey Knight, in which she finished second in a jumping class. She was defeated by Mrs. John V. Bouvier 3d of East Hampton society, who rode her Danseuse to the blue ribbon.

today its hard to imagine that he actually went to England and made the Englishmen do away with their style of riding and accept his. I guess they had been riding with the old English roll ever since racing began. You know Englishmen are hard to convince or change. When Tod went to England they made all manner of fun of him and his style of riding and called him a 'monkey on a stick.' But he soon convinced them he was going to revolutionize their style of riding. And as every one knows the Sloan style is practiced all over the world today where horses race," Griffith concluded.

But Sloan didn't lose the battle in the county hospital at Los Angeles. He was discharged the other day, apparently in good health.

Race horses are not made of iron after all.

His spectacular filly, Wise Daughter, started in the Pimlico Handicap, a $2,500 race for 2 year olds at 6 furlongs in Maryland yesterday afternoon.

She finished out of the money, far back of the winner, Chicstraw, owned by George D. Widener of Philadelphia.

Wise Daughter started racing at Hialeah park in Florida last January and has steadily been in training ever since. A robust colt or gelding could hardly stand up under such an ordeal, so how could the effeminate Wise Daughter do it?

NORMAL BATTLES WESLEYAN FOR LITTLE 19 TITLE

Teachers Seek 1st Victory Over Foe Since 1908.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A championship football game between institutions which are only a few minutes walk apart is the chief attraction on the Little Nineteen schedule this week-end.

Normal, the home of Illinois State Teachers' college, with five victories and no defeats or ties, will be the scene of the conflict with Illinois Wesleyan as the foe. Not since 1908 has Normal achieved victory over Wesleyan, but Normal partisans are confident this will be the year.

Coach Howard Hancock drilled the Normal line today in hopes of stopping Wesleyan thrusts, coaching his men especially against the drives of Tony Kaska, Titan fullback who ripped the Bradley line to shreds last week.

EUREKA SEEKS FIRST VICTORY.

Eureka, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Eureka college will seek its first Little Nineteen victory of the season here Saturday, when Carthage college invades its gridiron. Carthage has a record of one victory, one defeat, and one tie in conference competition. Eureka has lost five consecutive league games.

The injury jinx that has hovered over the Eureka campus all year, has finally lifted and for the first time this season Coach McKenzie will be able to start a lineup of more than five veterans. Co-Capt. Burghardt, center, is the star of the Eureka line, while Reichel, Nelson, and Elder are the best ball carriers.

Coach McKenzie is drilling his players this week especially on pass defense, fearing an air attack. Markel, Carthage right end, took two passes against Bradley for the touchdowns which defeated the Peoria eleven, 12 to 6.

DE KALB FACES WHEATON.

Dekalb, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Northern Teachers of De Kalb meet Wheaton here Friday in a Little Nineteen conference game. Wheaton won its first Little Nineteen game last Saturday, beating Eureka, 15 to 0. Dekalb's conference record shows two victories and two defeats.

With adequate line material, Northern Teachers would be among the leaders of the conference this year. Jack Mustapha and Reino Nori rate among the leading backs in the conference.

IDLE TO SEE AUGUSTANA GAME.

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Five thousand, including more than 3,000 idle in the quad cities, are expected to witness the Augustana-Macomb Little Nineteen conference football game here Saturday. This is the second consecutive year that Augustana has been host to the idle. Last year 1,800 idle attended the first free game.

HIGGS LOST TO MACOMB.

Macomb, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Charles Higgs, regular left end on the Western State Teachers football squad, is out for the remainder of the season. X-ray photographs today revealed that Higgs suffered a broken ankle and physicians doubt if he will be able to play again. Higgs in a senior. His home is in Tripoli, Ill.

English Jockey Rides 247 Winners, a Record

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Gordon Richards, England's leading jockey, today rode his 247th winner of the year, breaking the English record of 246 in a single season set by Fred Archer in 1885.

Divide Entries in City Bowling Meet This Year

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

The 30th annual tournament of the Chicago Bowling association, the meet to decide the city championship, is going to be bigger and better than ever with bowlers of every rank getting a better deal, or Art Meier of the Gold Coast alleys, sponsor of the event starting Nov. 24, will miss his guess.

Unlike its predecessors, the 1933 tournament offers something new in meets devised to determine who are the outstanding bowlers and who are to share in the prize moneys. Formerly the big shots of the pin business dominated the rolling and collecting.

This year the big shots will fight it out among themselves; the fair bowlers will have it out and those listed as fair to middling will have only themselves to blame if they can't cash in. Those with averages of 180 and over will be segregated in class A; those with averages between 160 and 179 will be placed in class B, and those with 159 averages and under will be in class C. Corresponding classes also have been arranged.

Realizing that the 150 bowler seldom has a chance when competing against the 200 bowlers, officials of the Chicago Bowling association decided on a new deal. This plan is expected to bring out the largest entry in the history of the event, which will be held every week-end at the Gold Coast alleys, 1213 North Clark street, until all bowlers are accommodated.

Entries will close Saturday, but will be limited to members of leagues holding American Bowling congress sanctions. Nine medals will be awarded in each of the three classes.

If a bowler competes in one or more leagues, he must list his highest average. Use league averages of the week ending Nov. 4 in determining your class. Al Sindelar, secretary of the Chicago Bowling associations, warns.

U. S. LIFTS GOLD PRICE; DEFIES BRITISH THREAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Lashing out against Great Britain's attack of yesterday on President Roosevelt's dollar depreciation campaign, America today ordered one of the sharpest recorded increases in its domestic gold price and is reported to have snapped up the day's offering of gold in the London market at a big premium.

Meanwhile, the President's gold plan has been found to be in such sharp conflict with the treasury department's effort to convert a large block of the huge Fourth Liberty loan that the conversion attempt will be dropped at the end of this week or soon thereafter, it was learned.

Because of America's aggressive action in the world's gold markets today, the gold value of the dollar slumped to 62.54 cents at home and to 63.69 cents abroad. The English pound sterling, which Great Britain yesterday sought to force down, jumped to $4.97½, gaining more than 6 cents.

Fear Contest in Devaluation.

Pleased that the United States had had its revenge for the British assault of yesterday, which came when the election holiday in New York had paralyzed financial movements here, government officials, nevertheless, were pessimistic over what appears to be a rapidly approaching currency depreciation war between Britain and the United States.

The monetary triumvirate which presides over the domestic gold price today shot it up to $33.05 an ounce, over $33 for the first time. The price gained 21 cents over that of the previous day, the largest increase except one since gold buying began.

Meanwhile the London price, which Britain had forced down 62 cents overnight yesterday, jumped back to $33.52, gaining 68 cents. About two million dollars' worth of gold offered in the market was bought promptly and at a premium so high that America was assumed to be the buyer.

Liberty Bond Conversion Slow.

Launching of the gold policy was blamed privately at the treasury department today for slowing up the conversion of 1 billion 875 million dollars worth of Fourth Liberty loan bonds which was started a week before the gold buying. General softness in the government bond market was said to be due to the same cause.

Dean G. Acheson, acting secretary of the treasury announced that in the last week only 67 million dollars' worth of the Liberty bonds has been presented in exchange for the new 4¼-3¼ per cent bonds that the treasury is offering in trade.

With only 867 millions of the 1 billion 875 million dollars worth of called bonds in, the treasury will halt the conversion offer and later, in connection with February and March financings, offer short term securities in trade for the called bonds.

Dollar Falls to New Low.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Continued selling of the dollar in foreign exchange markets today resulted in the American monetary unit sinking to its lowest levels in many years.

The British pound sterling soared 6 cents to $4.97½, a peak price since 1914. French francs got up to 6.17½ cents, a new high since the official devaluation of this currency, and finished at 6.16 for a net gain of 0.03 of a cent. Dutch guilders were up 1.05 cents at 63.50 cents and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs firmed 0.31 and 0.36 of a cent, respectively. German marks, the Scandinavians, and Japanese yen advanced around ¼ to ⅓ cent. Canadian dollars were unchanged at $1.

Banking circles generally attributed the dollar decline to rising gold rates and other inflationary influences. There were also reports of a continued flight of capital from the United States to London through the purchases of securities there.

International Trade Disturbed.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The dollar touched an all time low record on the Paris exchange today, demonstrating the American policy is now working smoothly.

While the franc remained steady against gold currencies, it is certain that here, as well as in London, disturbance and nervousness over the exchange question is increasing daily. In business circles it is said international trade is virtually paralyzed, while at the bourse it was stated the stock exchanges of Europe are bewildered and worried.

As far as the French are concerned, none denies now that the gold drain is continuing, since it is profitable to carry out arbitrage operations in that metal. Since the Bank of France is the only central bank in the world freely exchanging gold, it is pointed out that requests for gold above what small amounts are offered daily in the London market must be satisfied through calling upon the Bank of France.

Simpler Rule of Rails Urged by Coordinator

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Railroad regulation which will be much simpler and speedier in operation was urged by Joseph B. Eastman, federal railroad coördinator, at a joint meeting of the National Industrial Traffic league and the Chicago Association of Commerce. This was Mr. Eastman's first public utterance in Chicago since he accepted his position last July. He will speak again tonight at the annual dinner of the Railway Business association at the Stevens hotel.

The meeting was attended by about 1,200 traffic and business men and a large number of railroad executives, including the presidents of a number of lines.

Better Regulation Declared Need.

Mr. Eastman asserted that the big question now before the public is how can railway regulation be improved. In this connection he said he would not speak of the work of the interstate commerce commission, which, he added, was handled in an honest and efficient manner.

"However," Mr. Eastman continued, "it is a fact that in public regulation there is a factor which tends to increase the magnitude of its work—that is the time required in the process of regulation. The commission has a corps of experts, as have the railroads and the shippers, and if there is one thing these experts know how to do it is to make records large."

Mr. Eastman reiterated previous statements that he is not attempting to run the railroads, but he hopes to help the roads by calling their attention to problems facing them. He said that one of the provisions of the emergency transportation act was to find ways to eliminate waste.

Expenditures Not Planned.

"We are interpreting the word waste in the transportation act broadly," he said. "We are considering the improvement of transportation methods under existing conditions rather than planning future expenditures."

Mr. Eastman said the work of his department is now in its first stages and while he is not so sanguine as to believe it will solve all its problems he does hope that its work will result in substantial good to the roads. From now to the end of the year he expects to concentrate his efforts on studies on further legislation.

Kenneth F. Burgess, general counsel of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, told the gathering that neither the operation of the railroads nor their regulation has broken down, despite the tremendous difficulties faced by these two elements as a result of the depression. He said there is no justification for talk of government ownership.

Urge Pool of Freight.

The National Industrial Traffic league in its general meetings heard a suggestion for the pooling of railroad freight cars in the interest of efficiency and economy and approved a number of reports with respect to transportation problems.

O. C. Castle, director of the bureau of car pooling for the federal coordinator, said that excess of empty car mileage has cost the roads in expense of $192,000,000. Under his plan all freight cars would be thrown into one great pool, making them readily interchangable among the various railroad systems.

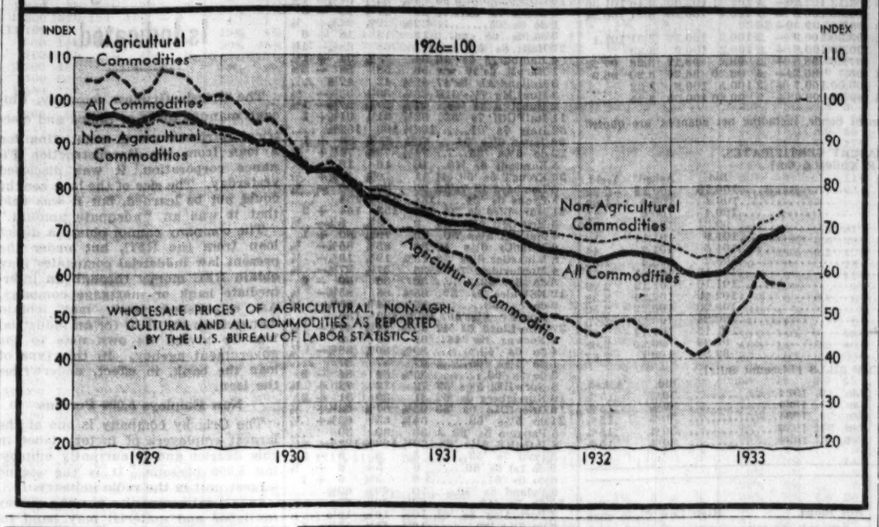
Among recommendations made were those opposing interstate commerce commission control over waterways and opposing the expenditure by the federal government of $500,000,000 on completion of river and harbor projects, including connecting channels of the great lakes. The league adopted a recommendation that it go on record as advocating "safe, sane federal regulation of aeronautics as the need becomes apparent."

Opposes Certain Consolidations.

The league also went on record as opposing consolidation plans which involve regional railroad systems under which existing competition will be substantially curtailed, and as opposing legislation which contemplates financing of railroad consolidations by loans from the federal treasury, either directly or indirectly.

The nominating committee submitted the name of F. M. Renshaw traffic commissioner of the chamber of commerce of Buffalo, N. Y., as its choice to succeed Herman Mueller as president. W. R. Scott, transportation commissioner of the Kansas City Board of Trade, was proposed as first vice president, which would put him in line for the presidency next year.

Spread Between Agricultural and Non-Agricultural Commodity Prices Is Widening



Power Output Falls to 3.8 Pct. Over Last Year

The margin which electricity production for both the nation and the Chicago district has been maintaining for several months over production in the corresponding periods of 1932 was again reduced last week.

The national output, according to the Edison Electric institute, amounted to 1,583,412,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,525,410,000 in the like week of 1932, or an increase of only 3.8 per cent, the smallest in several months. The total for the preceding week, amounting to 1,621,702,000 kilowatt hours, was 5.8 per cent in excess of that for the like week of last year.

Steel Drop Cuts Power.

In the important middle Atlantic and central industrial regions the favorable margin fell to 1 per cent from 4.2 per cent and to 5.5 per cent from 8.2 per cent, respectively, largely because of recessions in the steel and automobile industries.

Output in the southern states was only eight-tenths of one per cent greater than that in the like week of 1932, compared with 2.5 per cent in the preceding week. For the first time in weeks, the output of the Pacific coast was eight-tenths of one per cent below that of the corresponding week a year ago, compared with a gain of seven-tenths of one per cent for the week ended Oct. 28.

On the other hand, an acceleration in mining operations helped increase the margain in the Rocky mountain region to 29.2 per cent, from 22.8 per cent the week before; and in New England, the margain was 5.2 per cent, against 4.8 per cent for the preceding week.

Chicago's Increase 5.7 Per Cent.

The electricity output for the Chicago district for the week ended Nov. 4 was 98,298,000 kilowatt hours, against 92,997,000 in the corresponding week last year, or an increase of only 5.7 per cent, against 9.3 per cent the week before. Output for the week ended Oct. 28 was 103,132,000 kilowatt hours.

The department of commerce reported yesterday that average daily production of electricity during September, amounting to 244,790,000 kilowatt hours, was 1.2 per cent less than in August, but 9 per cent greater than production in September, 1932.

In Illinois, the average daily production of electricity for September was 505,587 kilowatt hours, compared with 515,874 in August, and the margin over output in the corresponding months of 1932 was 12 per cent for September and 17 per cent for August.

Purity Bakeries Profit Is Higher than Year Ago

Purity Bakeries yesterday reported net income of $542,553, equal to 70 cents a share, for the forty weeks ended Oct. 7. This contrasts with net income of $203,196, or 26 cents a share, in the first forty weeks of 1932. For the twelve weeks ended Oct. 7 net was $177,658, or 23 cents a share, against $34,562, or 4 cents a share, in the comparable period last year. Directors have declared a dividend of 25 cents payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 20.

Radio Corporation Net Loss for Quarter Lower

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—The Radio Corporation of America and subsidiary companies reported consolidated net loss of $525,159 for the quarter ended Sept. 30 after all charges, compared with net loss of $790,048 in preceding quarter and net loss of $812,128 in the third quarter of 1932. For the first nine months ended Sept. 30 consolidated net loss was $1,793,371, against net loss of $592,723 in the corresponding period of 1932.

Food Price Index Rises; Highest Since August 22

The Dun & Bradstreet food index rose 2 cents to $1.93 in the week ended Nov. 7, reaching the highest level since Aug. 22. The index compares with $1.67 for the corresponding week of 1932.

Recovery Roads Program Provides 100,071 Jobs

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The number of men directly employed by the bureau of public roads in its recovery highway program today had reached 100,071, as against about 33,000 two months ago.

Timken Nine Month Profit $1,623,728; Loss Year Ago

Timken Roller Bearing company had net profit of $1,623,728 for the first nine months, against net loss of $27,286 in the corresponding period of 1932.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE PROFIT IN SEPTEMBER IS DOUBLE LAST YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—September operations of the American Telephone and Telegraph company produced the most satisfactory results achieved since 1930, with both gross revenue and income from operations exceeding last year's totals.

Gross of $7,252,699 for the month was about $130,000 larger than for September, 1932, while operating income, which includes profit from operations only and excludes income in the form of interest, dividends, etc., and is before such operating charges as interest and rents, amounted to $1,472,647, more than double the 1932 figure.

For the first nine months of this year gross operating revenue totaled $64,589,785, against $67,778,977 for the like 1932 period, while operating income was $9,053,299, against $6,251,174.

Illinois Bell Telephone company shows September gross income of $5,941,681 and net operating income of $1,165,140. This compares with gross of $6,119,684 and net operating income of $1,341,166 in August, and gross of $6,200,106 and net of $1,058,849 in September, 1932.

Gross earnings for the first nine months were $54,066,082 and net operating income was $9,239,092 against $60,193,082 and $8,717,125, respectively, in the corresponding period of 1932.

GAS FIRMS ONCE WORTH $64,000,000 SOLD FOR $500,000

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 8.—(AP)—R. M. Sellwood Jr. of New York today bought the Oklahoma Natural Gas corporation for $500,000 at an uncontested auction. Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer will hear legal protests Tuesday.

The last balance sheet of the company, now in receivership, showed assets totaling $64,000,000. The bid was the lowest Judge Kennamer announced he would accept, and does not represent the value of the corporation, which serves more than 50 Oklahoma communities, including Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Muskogee and Enid.

Shorewood represented the law firm of Gravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood of New York, and posted claims totaling $282,000 against the Utility held by the Gas Utilities corporation of New York, the Oklahoma Natural Gas holding company, to establish his right to bid.

MINING AND OIL COMPANIES PAY EXTRA DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—The Homestake Mining company today declared the usual extra dividend of $1 a share and regular monthly of the same amount, both payable Nov. 25 to holders of record Nov. 20. An extra dividend of 10 cents a share and regular quarterly of 15 cents were announced on the stock of Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, both payable Dec. 15 to holders of record Dec. 1.

Eastman Kodak company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common stock, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 5.

Quarterly dividends of 25 cents a share on the common stock and of $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred stock, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 15, were voted by U. S. Gypsum.

Member of Chicago Curb Expelled for Wash Sales

Harry H. Smith has been expelled by the Chicago Curb exchange for violation of the rule forbidding "wash" or fictitious sales, according to announcement made last night.

October's Auto Sales in Illinois Far Above '32

October automobile sales in Illinois were more than double the corresponding month of 1932, but were seasonably behind September, according to figures on new car registrations received yesterday from Springfield.

Registrations last month numbered 7,332, against 2,979 in October, 1932, and 8,211 in September. Cook county registrations were 3,879 in October, against 2,400 last year.

According to registration figures, Chevrolet showed the largest increase in sales. In October a year ago Chevrolet sales were 260, but the figure for last month rose to 1,197. Dodge had the largest percentage of increase, October's sales standing at 346 against 23 a year ago.

Ford, Plymouth, Pontiac Gain.

Ford, Plymouth, and Pontiac sales also were decidedly higher. The Ford total was 772, compared with 366 a year ago. Plymouth rose to 481 from 141 and Pontiac to 278 from 64.

Comparative sales of leading companies follow:

	—October—
	1933	1932
Buick	141	76
Chevrolet	1,197	260
Chrysler	98	54
DeSoto	86	54
Dodge	346	23
Essex	79	49
Ford	772	366
Graham	30	26
Hupmobile	18	4

GENERAL MOTORS SALES HIGH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—October sales of General Motors, despite the usual seasonal decline, were the best for that month since 1929.

World sales for the month were 54,054 units, against 10,924 a year ago, and 25,975 in 1931. Sales to dealers in the United States totaled 41,982, against 5,819 last year and 21,305 in 1931. Sales to consumers in the United States were 63,518, against 26,941 last year and 49,042 in 1931.

The big increase in sales to consumers indicates that the company is not overstocking dealers and is gearing its production to actual consumer demand.

C. & S. W. UTILITIES EARNINGS $88,935 FOR 3D QUARTER

Central and Southwest Utilities company, largest subholding company of the Middle West Utilities system, yesterday reported earnings of $88,935 for the three months ended Sept. 30 and a deficit of $400,107 for the nine months ended the same date.

Both figures are before provision for suspended cumulative dividends on the prior lien and preferred stocks which for the nine months amounted to $1,367,127. Figures for the comparable periods of 1932 were not reported.

Gross earnings for the September quarter were $6,387,567 and $17,843,074 for the nine months.

Silver Up to 41⅞ Cents; Speculators Look to U. S.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Growing belief in some Wall street quarters that the administration will eventually "do something" for silver, gave the metal another price lift today. Bar silver advanced ⅜ of a cent an ounce to 41⅞ cents, another new high since 1930. Silver futures also firmed.

STOCKS SPURT; FEAR OF DOLLAR BUYING MOTIVE

Sudden Market Boom Marks Last Hour.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—A late rush of buying snapped the stock market out of a four hour sleep today and brought gains of from 1 to more than 5 points in leading issues.

The late rally was generally ascribed to renewed weakness in dollar exchange on the further boost in the price which the United States offered for gold and the purchases abroad. The market had been cold to a number of overnight news developments prior to the turn at the beginning of the final hour. These included the General Motors extra dividend and a sharp spurt in its October sales report, the decisive vote on prohibition repeal, and votes in several cities against public operation of utilities.

Market Closes Strong.

The market closed strong around the best levels of the upward movement. The turnover topped 1,811,000 shares, nearly half of it being crammed into the last hour.

The rally caught the rank and file of the street by surprise and occasioned deep pondering as to the real motivating force, the belief having been that little could be expected of the market for a while. One factor advanced was the probable imminence of Russian recognition. Other opinion, however, scoffed at any secrecy about the thing and laid it primarily to the fall of the dollar, pointing out that the move out of the dollar was bound to have an effect on securities.

Ending operations with a net advance of 5⅝ points, American Telephone paced the list into higher ground. The stock had help from the September operations report showing the best results since 1930.

Other Utilities Advance.

Practically ignored in earlier trading, this showing by American Telephone nourished other utilities, which at the same time were put in a better speculative light by municipal referendums in which seven cities voted in favor of private ownership and five against.

With the rise speculators made enthusiastic response to the General Motors extra dividend, the first such disbursement in four years. General Motors was shoved up around 2 points on a hefty turnover, while Du Pont, which owns approximately 23 per cent of Motors common, closed up 3¼ points.

Until the turn traders were indifferent to the swan song of prohibition and even at the height of the rise buying of liquor and related issues was not overly enthusiastic.

The market's late action in breaking through recent resistance levels had the effect of bringing out considerable professional buying for a turn.

Gold Shares Erratic.

Gold stocks began with recessions in spite of the higher domestic price for the metal, but under the leadership of McIntyre they came back strongly in the late improvement. The same was true of silver shares, like American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco and U. S. Smelting.

Railroad stocks were out of the limelight, with the exception of New York Central, which rose 3 points.

U. S. Steel moved ahead 2¼ points near the close and set a good example for other standard industrials.

CREDIT NOT COIN BASIS OF PRICES, ASSERTS LEADER

Tinkering with money as a means of regulating prices will prove ineffective because credit is the foundation of currency rather than money, J Harry Tregoe, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, told members of the association's Chicago chapter at the Hotel La Salle last night.

He criticized President Roosevelt's advisors as uninformed on credit matters. "When credit hasn't the proper turnover, prices lag and will be reflected in a slower money turnover," he asserted. "This, I believe, is the reason why the gold purchasing experiment of the President has not reacted on prices as was expected."

More of City's 1929 Tax Warrants to Be Paid Nov. 13

R. B. Upham, city controller, announced yesterday that Chicago 1929 corporate tax anticipation warrants, numbers 1397 to 1300, have been called for payment effective Nov. 13, on which date interest will stop.

Capital Flees to Canada on Inflation Fears

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Need for loosening up of credit to float the recovery program has been repeatedly emphasized by the administration.

It is with this in mind that the RFC has undertaken its billion dollar program to pour money into closed banks and additional millions into banks already open. This scheme is intended to provide banks for communities now bankless and to encourage existing banks to lend more freely.

More pressing than the need for the short term type of loans made by commercial banks, however, is the necessity for long term credit of the type accorded by the sale of bonds and mortgages.

At present the capital market is congealed. The normal flow of funds into long term investments by institutions and individuals has become a mere dribble and about the only sources of long term credit are government lending agencies such as the RFC.

Restoration of the market for bonds and mortgages would put men back to work on the projects that could be so financed. It would make possible the refinancing of maturing bond issues by corporations now threatened with receivership because of refunding difficulties. And it would enable the railroads and other big corporations to renovate out-of-date plants and buy new equipment badly needed to meet new competitive conditions.

The investment bankers have been clamoring for amendments to the new federal securities act. Many of them believe that such amendments would break the jam in the capital market.

The securities act, however, is only one of three influences which are holding up the sale of bonds. The others are the threat of drastic inflation and the impairment of corporate profits as a result of high taxes and increased operating expenses under the NRA.

The most serious impediment just now is the inflation threat. Investors, both corporate and individual, are afraid to make long term commitments for fear that by the time they mature the dollar may be so depreciated that they will sustain severe losses.

Officers in charge of the foreign departments of Chicago banks report that more customers than ever are inquiring about ways and means of exporting capital, particularly to Canada.

"The flight of capital from the United States during the last few months," says one leading banker, "has been of such large proportions that had it occurred in times of normal business activity it would have caused a panic. Coming at a time when so much capital is idle anyway, however, its deflationary influence has been fairly well concealed."

Instead of buying bonds and thereby financing industry in the recovery program big investors are either transferring their capital abroad or are piling it up in bank deposits.

The banks are jammed with cash and have been for months. With the RFC buying their preferred stock they will have on hand even more cash than ever. The federal reserve banks are loaded with the excess reserves of member banks, which don't know of any other place to put it.

Much of this money represents funds that under normal conditions would be going into long term investments. The banks, however, cannot use it to make long term investments because it is subject to withdrawal at a moment's notice.

The only fellow who can put this money where it belongs—in long term credit channels—is the fellow who has deposited it in the bank. And he declines to do this until he is assured of currency stabilization which will remove the threat of inflation.

COTTON CROP BIGGER DESPITE DESTRUCTION

Plowed Fields Fail to Cut Output.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—The department of agriculture's cotton crop report indicating a yield as of Nov. 1 of 13,100,000 bales brings failure to another governmental effort toward crop curtailment, according to observers here.

The 13,100,000-bale crop compares with an Oct. 1 estimate by the government of 12,885,000 bales and actual production last year of 13,002,000. It is about an average estimate from 1910 to date, while the government had expected to reduce production by 4,200,000 bales.

The government has expended $111,000,000 in an effort to curtail cotton production and it spent a similarly huge sum on wheat, but conditions which were not reckoned with when curtailment plans were advanced conspired to offset the Roosevelt endeavors.

Some Increase Wheat Acreage.

In the case of wheat, farmers who usually planted little or nine of the grain added some to their seedings, thus bringing total acreage up to about last year's. Regular wheat farmers, meanwhile, have curtailed and received bounties.

Cotton farmers, on the other hand, actually have slashed their acreage substantially but have been in a position to devote more time to the remaining crop and have used government funds to buy fertilizer and increase the yield.

Today's report shows the yield per acre is at the high figure of 208.7 pounds, against 193.2 last year.

Total production was based on 30,036,000 acres, the area in cultivation July 1, less probable removal of acreage reported Sept. 8 by the agricultural adjustment administration and with deduction for abandonment on the area not under contract.

Acreage Cut 10,340,000.

The board estimated the farm adjustment administration's campaign to plow up cotton had reduced the acreage harvested about 10,340,000 acres.

Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to Nov. 1 was reported by the census bureau today to have totaled 10,361,404 running bales, exclusive of linters, counting 425,046 round bales as half bales, and including 2,209 bales of American-Egyptian.

$163,000,000 CORN-HOG

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—Farmers of Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and Kansas will receive approximately $163,000,000 if they comply with the government's hog-corn reduction program.

This estimate was made at a conference of agricultural adjustment administration officials and extension directors, assistants, and extension editors from the four states.

Iowa farmers would receive approximately $75,000,000; Nebraska, $40,000,000; Missouri, $27,000,000, and Kansas, $21,000,000. Thus these four states would receive more than a third of the $350,000,000 the government plans to distribute for curtailment of hog and corn production.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—United States government bonds were the center of attention in the listed bond market today, with the group displaying pronounced weakness early in the day, when at one time six of the fourteen long term issues sold below par. Weakness of the dollar in the foreign exchange market provoked heavy selling of the government issues, but with the subsequent rally the close was nearly steady.

At the last nine issues were off 1-32d to 23-32ds, while five were up 2-32ds to 10-32ds.

Trading in the Liberty loans and treasury issues was heavy on the Stock exchange, amounting to $3,223,500 of the total turnover of the listed bond market of $14,608,000.

Lack of Bids Noted.

In the over the counter market, where the bulk of the trading in government issues is done, dealers reported lack of bids rather than pressure of offerings as responsible for the decline.

Domestic corporation bonds moved irregularly lower, while foreign loans, responding to the strength in the leading foreign exchange rate, traveled generally higher. In the latter group, most of the so-called gold payment issues closed strong. French government 7½s and 7s mounted 1½ and 1⅝ points respectively, Swiss government 5½s 1⅝ points, Dutch East Indies loans, 1½ to 2½ points, French municipal loans closed unchanged to up 2 points on the day. German and Scandinavian issues were irregular.

Argentine Issues Weak.

In the Latin American group, weaknesses in Argentine governments were pronounced, reflecting the action in Buenos Aires regarding debt service.

The more active domestic corporation bonds, as a rule, showed comparatively small net changes on the day. Railroad bonds did not hold up as well as did the industrials and utilities.

Both foreign and domestic bonds on the curb exchange moved irregularly lower. Of the former, Russian bonds were fractionally easier.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph.

Investors' Guide: How do you consider Pacific Tel. and Tel 6 per cent preferred stock? Thank you for past favors.—F. G. E.

Answer: Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company is a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph company. It serves an area equal to about one-tenth of the United States, operating in California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, and western Idaho. At the close of 1932 it had 1,487,348 telephones in service.

As with other telephone operating units results show the effect of disconnections. Business, however, has definitely turned upward. In the first two weeks of September telephones in service increased 3,722. In August, 1933, the increase was 1,526, while in July the company lost 5,950 phones.

Gross revenues for August, 1933, totaled $4,409,000, and net operating income was $921,000. This compared with gross of $4,609,000 for August, 1932, and operating income of $1,006,000. This is a better comparison than evidenced for the first 8 months of this year. Gross from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1933, totaled $34,231,000, and operating income was $6,652,000. For the corresponding 1932 period gross was $38,266,000 and operating income $7,882,000.

Net income in the first half of 1933 equaled $8.04 per preferred share, against $10.08 per preferred share for the corresponding 1932 period.

1932	$ 94,154,000	$16,217,000	$10.78
1931	105,282,000	18,808,000	22.94
1930	106,442,000	17,652,000	21.53
1929	101,503 000	15,624,000	19.05

Extensive reductions in operating costs enabled the company to report better earnings in 1932 than in 1929 despite a drop of more than 6 per cent in operating revenues.

At the close of 1932 current assets totaled $14,296,000 and current liabilities were $11,649,000. Funded debt was $60,942,000, notes payable [not current] were $9,029,000, and advances from affiliated companies $22,650,000. There were outstanding 820,000 shares of 6 per cent preferred and 1,805,000 shares of $100 par common.

The preferred has paid regular dividends of $6 a year since organization. It is high grade.

Investors' Guide: Could you please let me know how an individual could trade in options on grain futures?—H. M.

Answer: The Chicago Board of Trade informed us that there is no market for individuals [sometimes termed puts and calls or options] on any licensed United States contract market at this time.

GRAINS CLIMB; FALL OF DOLLAR SPURS BUYING

Flight of U. S. Money Into Commodities Seen.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Steady depreciation in the American dollar, as indicated by the rapid increase in the price of gold and in foreign exchange rates, had its effect on the grain markets yesterday and on a number of other commodities as well. Some operators claimed to see in the action of wheat and other grains in advancing sharply the long anticipated buying movement which would herald the flight of the dollar into commodities as a safeguard against inflation.

There was no evidence of government buying of grains, but an increase in the outside speculative interest in the markets was apparent. The buying of wheat was generally regarded as of a much better class than lately. Buyers found offerings light from the start and at the top wheat was up 3⅝ cents from Tuesday's close on the May delivery, which touched 92¼ cents. Corn was 2 cents higher. May selling at 53⅜ cents at the extreme.

Profit Taking Checks Bulge.

Profit taking checked the bulge, but the close was at net gains of 2 to 2⅝ cents on wheat, 1⅜ to 1½ cents on corn, and 1⅝ cents on oats. Rye gained 2⅜ to 2¾ cents and barley 1¼ to 1⅝ cents. May wheat closed at 91 to 91¼ cents, corn 53⅛ to 53⅜ cents, oats 38 to 38⅛ cents, rye 65¾ cents, and barley 53¾ cents.

Supply and demand factors, which had been largely ignored by the markets for some time, also came in for more attention, especially the possibility that repeal of prohibition would increase the demand for grains. It was recently estimated by the bureau of agricultural economics that a market might be made for 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of corn and around 55,000,000 bushels of barley by distilling and brewing interests. Around 5,000,000 bushels of rye were used annually in the manufacture of liquor in pre-war days.

Government Plans a Factor.

Announcement that the government might furnish drought stricken farmers in eight western and southwestern states with 5,500,000 bushels of wheat for live stock feed out of the 11,569,000 bushels recently purchased by the government relief organization had some effect on the wheat market. The country took advantage of the upturn in corn to sell 153,000 bushels to arrive, but receipts of this grain, as well as of wheat and oats at terminal markets, remain subnormal. Arrivals of wheat yesterday were 312,000 bushels, or 223,000 bushels less than a week ago.

The Winnipeg wheat market showed a strong under tone and closed 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents higher. Export sales of around 750,000 bushels Canadian grain were estimated in all positions. Strength in sterling helped to advance Liverpool 1⅛ to 1½ cents in American funds, and the English market was also affected by unfavorable crop reports from an important producing area in Australia.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL RETAINS DIVIDEND SCALE

The New England Mutual Life Insurance, Boston, Mass., will continue its present dividend scale in 1934, as a result of action taken by the board of directors, the company announced yesterday. The board also authorized interest of 4¼ per cent on trust funds left with the company and on dividends left on deposit for the coming year.

"Actuarial and investment calculations warrant a continuation of the present dividend scale for the coming year," President George Willard Smith stated. "Therefore, the company and its directors consider it their duty as trustees of the funds of this mutual company to continue their present scale for the year 1934."

New life premiums in the first nine months this year were $4,251,000, against $3,889,000 in the same period last year, the company announced. Annuity premiums for the same period were 400 per cent ahead of 1932.

Shaver Given New Post in U. S. Gypsum Company

C. H. Shaver, former assistant controller of the United States Gypsum company, was elected secretary-treasurer of the company yesterday to succeed the late R. G. Bear. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents a share on the common stock and $1.75 a share on the preferred, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 15.

RISE IN PRICES INCREASES FLOW OF LIVE STOCK

Cattle Gain, Hogs About Steady, Lambs Drop.

Farm strikers and their sympathizers maintain their grip on the nation's supply of meat animals in many sections of the largest producing areas. However, there was evidence yesterday that the effectiveness of the strike in curtailing the movement was not as far reaching as it was the first two days of the week. Recent advances in prices on light receipts attracted a slightly larger movement from the parts of the country where there has been little or no demonstration or picketing of highways. Supplies still are abnormally low for this season of the year.

Receipts show tremendous reductions compared with a week ago. Total arrivals of cattle, hogs, and sheep at the twenty leading markets for the first half of this week at 577,000 head, are almost 200,000 short of the first three days' run last week, representing a reduction in edible meats amounting to more than 30,000,000 pounds. Normally these markets handle in the neighborhood of 850,000 cattle, hogs, and sheep during the first three days of the week at this time of year.

Cattle Continues Rise.

Cattle continued to rise in value on abbreviated supplies, but the gains in hogs were halted early, with the tendency weak to lower later, and lambs were pounded down 15 to 25 cents after retaining Tuesday's quotations for a short time at the start.

In contrast to recent sessions, medium and weighty steers got most action yesterday, advancing 10 to 15 cents, and in places as much as 25 cents above the recent lows. Lighter weights were steady to strong. The rise in the 1,200 to 1,400 pound averages narrowed the spread between the light and heavy steers. Fancy 615 to 874 pound steers reached $6.25, with 1,309 pound averages up to $6. Fancy 702 pound yearling heifers topped the market at $6.50, going to the Lincoln Meat company. Butcher stock met better demand at strong prices. Calves finished 25 cents higher.

Pork Products Strong.

Further gains in the wholesale market for fresh pork loins stimulated buying by smaller houses in the hog market at the opening, but weakness developed when it became evident that the early market did not have the support of larger buyers.

Top hog sales at $4.55 were in line with the practical top of Tuesday, while the general average at $4.35 remained unchanged, early strength about counterbalancing the later weakness in prices.

Despite the break in the lamb market yesterday, top grades of slaughter stock are still $1 above the low spot of the season about the middle of last week. Fancy natives ranged upwards to $7.75, with shorn lambs selling at $6.50 and yearling stock at $5.50 to $5.75.

MEN WHO DESIRE SUCCESS!

A former railroader who once lifted tons of coal into an E. C. firebox, made with us in Nov. $183.00, and was his own boss all that week. A former salesman joined us early last month and before the end of the month had one day in which he made $138.50. Another man made $223.00 in a single week. There were many other successful incomes, but the majority were what we would call far better than the average in today's trades, professions and businesses. True, we have many $50.00 a week men and some who start on a basis of about $150.00 for their first month. We have men making $60.00, $62.50, $65.00, $72.50, and $80.00 a week, but remember that most of them were men who did not do that well in the so-called boom days of years ago!

The opportunity that will be allotted to the right man does not demand their time at this address, because we need men out where you live. But here is where we interview you and train you if you are capable and of the right character the right age and evidently a man who can be placed in a position of trust and who has enough initiative to get out and find the kind of men who are successful in this business.

We can assure you that we shall be just as particular on selecting men as men are in choosing a job—and maybe a little more so. The kind of work we would employ you to do is year round. We have made the same work successfully. You don't encounter any theories in this business. They are here because they have earned the right to be here. They make money because they have something inside those suits of clothes of theirs besides so many pounds of flesh. But you do not invest or deposit money on collateral here, or buy anything. We don't do business on your money. You do business on our capital, and we have enough offices and a sufficient number of employes world-wide to form a very large city if they were all together. We have seven large factories as well as assembling plants, and we have the capital and CASH to do all we undertake.

Former occupations took months of study and work to really get into the swing of them. But you start in here inside the first few days, with the opportunity of making money, and plenty of men newly employed here have proved that they can succeed from the first day onward! You do improve as time passes and you apply yourself more diligently—but the big point is that you get into earnings quickly—and that is of moment to most men these days, or in any other times.

If a genuine opportunity exists and its existence can be proved beyond question, then the man who is best on making a good connection, where he can devote all of his time and energies to making money, and to increasing his earnings, will take the time necessary to come out for an interview. But the man who does his judging in advance, and believes that his hunches are more reliable than the facts, is not likely to be the man we shall succeed here. We don't need fortune tellers or clairvoyants. We want workers! Consult your heart and your suine, and if they tell you that they are ready for victory, you will be here any time between 9:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m., in Room 430 at 1525 E. 53d-st., Thursday, Nov. 9.

If You Live on North Side, are over 25 years of age, neat and intelligent, I have a position for you. Permanent, good pay, with opportunity to advance. I will take application Thurs. at 9:00 a. m. sharp. No other time. Mr. Braden, Room 708, 35 E. Wacker-dr.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

Men who desire a fair return for their effort and the challenge and independence of being in your own business, investigate this business.

Last week we advertised a 500% INCREASE in business since the first of this year. THIS WEEK shows ANOTHER INCREASE OVER the SAME WEEK of last month of 82%.

OUR BUSINESS HAS THESE FACTS:

1. Our merchandise is new, patented and salable under present day conditions.

2. No INVESTMENT and a business of your own, supplied with our money.

3. Evidence of recent earnings of $50 to $250 a week. Men just starting should earn from $38 to $72 a week immediately.

4. This is an international organization and offers a permanent connection to sincere men.

A few openings are available this week and the progress we are making now justifies your immediate investigation.

By this time next week one of your friends may have the franchise to your locality, so don't put this off. INVESTIGATE this PLAN. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING but your time and it may lead to just what you have been looking for.

Interviews Thursday a. m. 9 to 12, no other time. Room 1006 Mather Tower, 75 E. Wacker-drive.

How to Become a BEAUTY EXPERT

Almost any school can train you to become an "ordinary" beauty operator; but if you want to become a genuine EXPERT and earn more money than the average "ordinary" operator, you should investigate the DeLEE "university type" of training. Personal instruction under Madame Louise, internationally famous expert will enable you to qualify for a good paying position in the SHORTEST TIME. The FREE DeLEE employment service will help you obtain such a position when you are graduated.

You haven't learned ALL of the important facts about beauty culture training until you have visited DeLEE. Do not make the mistake of enrolling elsewhere and finding out too late that you are not getting the best possible training. VISIT DeLEE FIRST. Have a talk with the DeLEE Dean, Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens or write for the interesting book, "Your Career in Beauty Culture."

What Marinello Training Means

We regard our graduates as personal representatives of the Marinello System. Therefore every girl is trained to the highest degree of efficiency before receiving her certificate. Each girl is graduated with the equivalent of at least a year's practical experience and ready to earn big money at once. That's good economy, good sense.
